Metropolitan Sanitary District To Pay for $2 Million Sewer

BY TED LACEY

A $2 million interceptor sewer proposed by the Old Town Sanitary District trustees to serve Prospect Heights and neighboring communities received final approval by Metrpolitan Sanitary District officials last week.

Construction on the line may begin this summer, according to Metropolitan District Engineer F. E. Dalton.

WHEN COMPLETE, the interceptor will be able to serve not only the potential limit of 1,800 houses in the Old Town district, but also portions of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and some unincorporated areas.

The interceptor, which will carry sewage from smaller feeder lines running in built up areas, will cost the Metropolitan district an estimated $1,930,000, and is the second of two proposals that have been considered.

This plan would hook Old Town in to the Metropolitan system, and was part of a referendum voted down March 23.

The second plan -- the one approved -- will run the intercept from the same location on Wolf westward, through the Old Town District, all the way to Arlington Heights at Waterman St.

It could save the taxpayers in Old Town up to $200,000, according to Old Town District President Richard Schuld.

"This is really fabulous," Schuld said. "The people in our district will be getting their tax money back threefold.

"We've paid about $500,000 to $600,000 in taxes to Metro over the last 11 years, regardless of the fact that we don't have any sewers. But now they are giving us a $2 million sewer."

DALTON recommended that the Metropolitan board approve the interceptor for five reasons:

--It would service a large area with more than one municipality involved.

--Construction of the interceptor now would eliminate duplication of sanitary sewer lines. The best way to service the unincorporated area to the west of the Old Town Sanitary District would be through the same line as the Old Town District, cutting the need from two lines to one.

-- When tributary Arlington Heights sanitary sewers are connected to the planned interceptor, five pumping stations now in operation would be eliminated, since the entire system would be "gravity-flow." The elimination of the pumping stations would reduce the amount of necessary maintenance.

--The interceptor would prevent future overloading of the Hintz Rd. sewer line to the north, by giving north Arlington Heights a second outlet.

THE INTERCEPTOR will be designed for the maximum amount of sewage that might come from the areas involved once they are built up.

The interceptor was the brainchild of the E. N. Fletcher Engineering Co., which was hired by the Old Town trustees to work out a plan for sewer lines to serve the entire district. This plan was defeated by the voters March 23.

WITH NARY a nickle in the meters, spectators' parked bikes crowded the lot behind the Arlington Heights Village Hall during the bike rodeo last month. More than 300 entrants of grade school and junior high age competed for the prizes donated by the village's merchants and by the sponsors, the Arlington Heights Jaycees. Photos by Joe Edwards.

The competitors and the kinds of events they entered included:

-- Jeff Hickel, 113 N. Evanston, trying to ride as slowly as he can while maintaining his balance on two wheels.

Hitchhiker Arrested in 2 Crashes

He is James Spence, 26, of 1305 Cottonwood Ln., Mount Prospect.

Arlington Heights police have charged him with leaving the scene of an accident, driving too fast for conditions, running a red light, and driving while intoxicated.

Stacy A. Harer of 1408 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights told the police his car was hit on Arlington Heights Rd., south of Algonquin Rd. when another driver passed his car on the right side of the road. The cars collided, Harer lost control of his car and hit a pole, he told police.

Within five minutes, the police received a report of another hit-and-run accident on Arlington Heights Rd. and Golf, involving a car driven by Kim Lacker, 17, of 1316 E. Eastman, Arlington Heights.

Harer told police he borrowed another auto half an hour later and was driving on south Arlington Heights Rd. when a hitchhiker--Spence--stopped him.

Harer told the police he recognized Spence and said he had to make a stop.

He then telephoned the police, who made the arrest at Arlington Heights Rd. and White Oak.

Jury Rules Girl's Death Involuntary Manslaughter

A coroner's jury was ruled "involuntary manslaughter" to be the cause of the death of 15-year-old Barbara Theroux, 320 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights.

The inquest, presided over by Cook County Deputy Coroner George W. Parkern was held Friday.

The jury also recommended that police "continue to make a diligent search for the driver responsible" and that when the driver is found he be held for the Grand Jury on involuntary manslaughter charges.

Miss Theroux, a freshman at Arlington High School died May 5 at Northwest Community Hospital from injuries sustained when she was hit, apparently by two autos while crossing Arlington Heights Rd. near Sigwalt.

John Lindgren, 34, of Bethlehem, Pa., told Arlington Heights police Miss Theroux was thrown into the path of his auto when he was driving south on Arlington Heights Rd.

Police are continuing to look for the driver of the first, northbound auto that apparently struck the girl originally.

Charges against Lindgren for driving too fast for conditions were "stricken with leave to reinstate" in Arlington Heights branch of Circuit Court.

The legal term means that charges could be made again later if police investigation reveals further details in the case.

Brothers Drown In Flooded Pit

Two brothers, 9 and 8, drowned yesterday in a water-filled sand pit about a half-mile from their home in Palatine.

The bodies of Joseph McDermed and his younger brother, Ricky, only children of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph G. McDermed of 1305 S. Quentin Rd., Palatine, were recovered late last night by members of the Palatine Volunteer Fire Department.

ACCORDING TO County Sheriff's police, the boys' father reported them missing about 5:30 p.m. Shortly afterward their clothing was found on the bank of the flooded pit on Old S. Plum Grove Rd.

Barney Langer, chief of the volunteer firemen, said his men, using grappling hooks from a boat, recovered the bodies which were taken to the Northwest Community Hospital. They were later removed to the County Morgue.

Full Toll Interchange Still Considered for Arlington Heights Rd.

BY RICHARD CRABB

Even as a partial tollroad interchange at Arlington Heights Rd. was being approved Friday, the possibility of its becoming a full scale facility--with entrances and exits in both directions--was raised at the Illinois State Toll Highway Commission meeting.

At the same session, the commission's staff also unveiled tentative plans to move maintenance buildings from their present site at Illinois 53 to Arlington Heights Rd.

APPROVAL OF the partial interchange--eastbound access, westbound exit--came after a year's work by an Arlington Heights citizens' committee.

Interested citizens conducted a survey last summer to find how many residents would use the interchange, which would provide more convenient link to Chicago, and what increase in toll revenues there might be.

The results of the study revealed that revenues definitely would be increased, and the number of people using the road also would increase.

THE COMMISSION took the final action Friday after considering the survey for months, and comparing it with its own data.

The first indication that the partial interchange might be expanded came Friday when Gov. Samuel Shapiro suggested that the commission purchase enough land at Arlington Heights Rd. to accommodate a full interchange.

Although the governor could not predict when the full interchange would be needed, he said the land was available now, and it would be a good time to buy it.

What the location might become was suggested by Francis S. Lorenz, state director of public works and buildings, when he told the commission that the maintenance buildings at the tollroad and Illinois 53 may have to be moved to Arlington Heights Rd.

THE BUILDINGS would have to be moved, he said, since the intersection at Illinois 53 and the tollroad would be part of a massive expansion program. Presently being considered is extending Interstate 90, the Eisenhower Expressway, westward past O'Hare International Airport, and then northward to intersect with the Northwest Tollroad at Illinois 53.

The Arlington Heights Rd. partial interchange is slated for completion by 1969, and the commission projected its expected revenue increase to pay for the cost of the construction by 1981.

COMMISSIONERS said, however, that Arlington Heights Mayor John G. Woods' opinion might be correct: the interchange might pay for itself before the projected date.

The commission left open the question whether to construct the partial interchange wihout taking possible expansion to a four-way interchange into consideration, or whether to plan from the start for a full-sized facility. This is to be decided before the $1.2 million construction begins this fall.

One of the commissioners said that if it is necessary to rip out the partial interchange a few years after it is built, the commission may have to write off up to a million dollars.

GOV. SHAPIRO called attention to the fact that while he had been governor only 10 days, the question of building a tollroad interchange at Arlington Heights Rd. was not a new subject to him.

He recalled that he represented the State of Illinois at the dedication of the Arlington Heights Municipal Building several years ago.

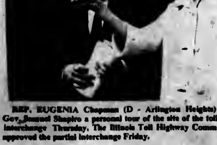
"At that time," Shapiro said, "a group of community leaders met with me to enlist my aid in securing a So. Arlington Heights Rd. tollway interchange.

In other action, a resolution was passed clearing the way for feasibility studies on an extension of the present east-west tollway that ends just west of Aurora.

Studies will be made to determine the feasibility of extending the tollroad from Aurora to Rochelle so that it would be available to the 20,000 students of Illinois Northern University as well as the new industry being located in Kane and DeKalb Counties.

Another study will be made to determine the possibility of extending the tollroad from Aurora across Illinois to Clinton, Ia.

A study will be conducted by the University of Illinois to determine what have been the social and economic affects on the Chicago area in which the tollroad functions. Northwest Cook County will be included in the study.



REP. EUGENIA Chapman (D - Arlington Heights) gave Gov. Samuel Shapiro a personal tour of the site of the tollroad-interchange Thursday. The Illinois Toll Highway Commission approved the partial interchange Friday.

One-Way Traffic Proposal Details

One-wey traffic in the Arlington Heights' downtown business district was proposed in e preliminary traffic pattern study prepared by the village's consulting engineers.

De Leuw end Cether, municipal plenners, also recommended to the village that traffic control lights be placed at some intersections in the central business area, to make walking about easier and safer.

"IMPROVEMENTS IN the trensportetion system operation would be relatively uncompliceted and modest in cost," the engineers' report stated.

"The pedestrian is the most important consideration in devising downtown treffic provisions," it said.

The downtown business district in the plan would be divided into two circular one-way traffic systems.

One circle would surround the portion of the business area north of the railroad tracks; and the other, south of them.

Two north - south streets, Arlington Heights Rd. and Dunton would continue to be two-wey. In the north section, Eastman would run one-wey east, Miner one-wey west.

The Northwest Highwey would carry traffic in both directions.

In the soulh section, Campbell would be one-way east and Sigwalt one-wey west. Vail and Evergreen also would run one-wey, Veil going north and Evergreen south ell the wey from Eastman to Sigwalt. Davis would be one-wey southeastward from Vail to Arlington Heights Rd.

THE CLOCKWISE movement of traffic that will be encouraged by that system is unique, eccording to the engineers.

George Hagenauer of De Leuw and Cather, said that the treffic pettern wes necessary because of the existance of the railroad tracks.

The preliminary report of the engineers stated that the conversion to one-wey traffic would not contribute to speeding.

Reduced speeds could be encouraged by frequent stop signs, and by the timing of traffic lights.

THE ENGINEERS elso prepered en alternete plen that would keep two-way traffic in the business district.

They said, however, such e system would require the elimination of 220 curb parking places when the present angle on-street parking is converted to parallel parking in order, to let more eutos through.

This chart shows the one-way traffic pattern in the downtown business district favored by De Leuw and Cather, municipal planning engineers, for Arlington Heights. Two separate circles of traffic are centered, one north, the other south of the railroad tracks. Two-way and one-way streets join the two sections of the central business district.

Minnesota Program To Teach Survival

BY BETSY BROOKER

Some students from High School District 214 will be participating in a mock-survival exercise in the forests of Minnesota this summer.

A 26-day 'Outward Bound' course involves activities such as canoeing, mountain climbing, hiking, and rope climbing.

According to Forest View High School Counselor Richard Stanowski, only 15 out of 12,000 students have signed up.

The cost of the program – $400 – might have been an obstacle for some students, but most of those who have signed up have received financial aid.

A brochure about the program describes it as a "community where young people are presented with challenging situations which have to be overcome. In the overcoming, the person finds that his potential is much greater than he thought possible, which in turn helps to increase his self-confidence."

"We have been looking for something like this," said Stanowski.

"It is e physical, spiritual and intellectual challenge – something that will test your own personal resources."

"Whan the country wes first settled, kids reechad manhood early because they had to fight for their existence. What do the kids have today to help them grow into men – fast cars and cigarettes?"

"I don't know why more students haven't applied. I expected et least 40. I guess some kids don't want to test themselves because they are afraid they will fail."

There is still time to sign up for the program. Those going must be between the ages of 16 and 23. Students in district 214 may attend July 9 - Aug. 5.

Open Today

The new $1-million-plus Arlington Heights Memorial Library opened its doors to the public this morning at 9:30.

On hand to greet the first patrons to enter the new building were Mrs. Florenee Hendriksen, president of the library board, and Mrs. Mary Lee Ewalt, head librarian.

Survey

More than 15,000 cars and 700 pedestrians crossed the intersection of Owl St. and Kirchoff Rd. during e single 24-hour period, according to Rolling Meadows Police Chief Cy Campbell.

The chief cited the figures to the city council Tuesday. He said they came from e survey conducted by his department.

Library Forming 'Friendly' Group

The new group, formed to promote use of the $1.4 million library building that will open next Monday, is accepting charter memberships until the library dedication, June 30.

Library trustees voted last Tuesday to establish the group and to charter the organization formally at the dedication.

Mrs. Harry J. Jenkins of 915 N. Belmont, a member of the group's steering committee, told the trustees that this summer the Friends will offer e "sampling" of programs they will sponsor during the next year.

The programs include:

– A talk by euthor and rare hook collector Frenklin Meine about Mark Twain's first story, written at the age of 16.

– A slide show for junior high schoolers, given by en Arlington Heights Boy Scout troop that visited an Indian reservation last summer.

The new group is being organized by e committee that includes Mrs. R. J. Schlott and Robert Steley, co-chairmen; and Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. T.W.H. Miller, Mrs. Alice Harms, Victor Beisler, Richard Dunlop, Donne Doughty, and Frank Higgins.

Persons wishing more information should inquire at the librery or cell Mrs. Herms, temporery membership chairman, et CL 5-6129.

A Short Lesson In Art Appreciation

Selecting a painting can be a most rewarding experience. You need no artistic background, advice or persuasion. What appeals to you is what you buy. Don't try to find a similar painting to one you saw in some gallery or a friends home. Original oils are like fingerprints, there is only one of a kind. Here at Hickory Hall are the works of 100's of European and American professionals. A still life, a street scene, character study ... one of these will be that mood that will enhance the interior of your home and will contain that atmosphere that only fulfills you.

The opportunity to own an original oil painting is here at Hickory Hall Galleries. We offer the works of such well known professionals as Van Gent, Neogardy, Dispo, Nierop, Rubbini, Du Pree and others. Prices incidentally are realistic, starting as low as $10. For the price of a reprint you can own an original oil. The painting of today can be the masterpiece of tomorrow.

Come to Hickory Hall and browse at your leisure through our old English Galleries. You will find a carefully selected collection of fine paintings.

30 days full refund or exchange.

Dialogue

... with George Hamilton

"I see that a lot of old ideas about how to alleviate traffic congestion in town, caused by commuter and freight trains, are being revived again."

"You mean, the proposal to elevate or depress the tracks through Arlington Heights?"

"That's right. And the plan of Mount Prospect's, to have the station moved out of the central business district. The ideas aren't new and obviously the railroad won't buy them."

"Why not? Don't they want to improve traffic conditions in town?"

"Well yes, they do. And so does everyone else. But the trouble is, everyone is talking about solutions to the problem, but no one wants to pay for them."

"Why is the idea for elevating or depressing the tracks in Arlington Heights brought up from time to time then?"

"Because it would be the ideal solution. No more traffic jams during rush hours. Just think, an emergency vehicle could get across town during rush hours, just like in modern communities."

"Yes but, why do they keep on presenting solutions that no one can or will pay for?"

"Maybe so that no one can be accused of not trying to solve the problem. That's the way it is, you know. We can do anything as long as we find someone to pay for it."

"What about the plan to move the station?"

"Well, they did it in Park Ridge, I know. There the railroad and the city each paid half of the cost of moving the station -- I think the total amount was $48,000 -- and now they don't have the twice-a-day traffic tieups."

"And they can't do that in Mount Prospect?"

"The Mount Prospect proposal is to move the station a lot further than they did in Park Ridge, and the railroad says it would have to cut service in the village if it built a second station and kept the present one in use."

"So apparently nothing is going to be done about the problem."

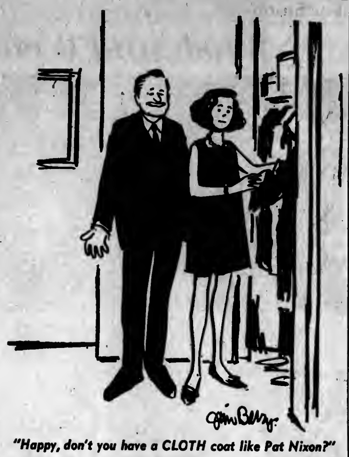
"Time? To do what?"

"To wait until everyone takes a plane or a car or bus to work. An airline executive predicts that it's only a matter of time before railroads discontinue all passenger service, and that many people will turn to local service airlines to get to work."

"Then we'll have no problems."

"Not exactly. On the way to the airport, you might be delayed by a freight train. If we can get the tracks depressed, however . . ."



"Happy, don't you have a CLOTH coat like Pat Nixon?"

Record Primary Vote Possible

A record primary vote is possible next week.

There are almost 300,000 more registered voters eligible to take part in the June 1968 primary than there were at the time of the last presidential primary in April of 1964.

The total number of registered voters in Illinois is a record 5,454,371. There are 1,894,367 registered voters in the City of Chicago and 865,000 in suburban Cook County.

Outside of Cook County there are five counties with more than 100,000 registered voters. Largest outside of Cook County is DuPage County with 193,000 registered voters. Next is Lake County with 140,000; St. Clair County (East St. Louis) with 130,000; Madison County immediately north of East St. Louis with 115,000 and Will County with 106,000.

MICHAEL LAVETTE, acting clerk of the Cook County Election Department, reported that 45,000 suburban voters have registered for the Illinois June 11 primary election. "We are registering people who haven't voted in 40 years," said Lavette. About 23,000 suburban voters were registered before the primary four years ago.

SEN. CHARLES PERCY reported this week that the war in Vietnam continues to be the No. 1 issue and concern of the people of Illinois even though the mail has dropped considerably since the peace talks began in Paris.

In the last few days Percy has been in touch with 75 editors of Illinois newspapers. Nearly 40 per cent of the writers said Vietnam was the question of greatest concern.

Other issues frequently mentioned were establishment of law and order, the urban crisis, soundness of the dollar but there was not one which designated a tax increase in the list of important issues.

SEN. EVERETT DIRKSEN of Illinois is in the category of "saver of taxpayers' money" in a study just released by the National Tax Reform Committee of Washington, D.C. The tax reform committee rated Dirksen with the top six of the 28 senators seeking re-election with respect to "saving taxpayers money."

SEN. PAUL SIMON (D-Troy), Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, said this week he "would if elected lieutenant governor devote at least two days a week traveling about the state to bring more direct help to people and communities who face problems in dealing with state government. I hope to become an unofficial complaint officer for the State of Illinois."

ALTORFER-OGILVIE -- The battle of endorsements between the GOP contenders for the nomination for governor in next week's primary. Richard B. Ogilvie was endorsed by the Rockford Morning Star and the Springfield Journal. Altorfer was endorsed by the Kankakee Journal, the Ottawa Republican-Times and the Jacksonville Journal.

BRIAN DUFF, seeking the Republican nomination in the primary for Secretary of State, has advanced some interesting proposals with respect to car license plates. The secretary of state issues car licenses in Illinois.

Duff estimates that there could be a first year saving of $2,000,000 to the state by switching to a system of 5-year plates. Renewal of license each year would be accomplished by use of a car window decal.

Duff has also proposed that the manufacturing of the car license plates be done with state prison labor. He estimates that there would be an annual saving of $1,000,000. Duff finds that 44 of the 50 states are making license plates in prisons.

DOCTOR SAYS

W. G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

'Quickening' Is Clue To Date of Confinement

A question of prime concern to most pregnant women is: When will the baby be born? A valuable clue, often overlooked, is an accurate record of the day of quickening -- the first sign of movement or kicking by the fetus. This occurs during the 18th to 20th week of pregnancy. Recent studies have shown that, in 85 per cent of pregnancies, delivery occurs five months from that date, give or take three or four days.

Although 15 per cent do not fall into this pattern, this is still as accurate as any other method of calculating the date of confinement. One must not, however, be fooled by false quickening caused by intestinal rumblings. Many a woman who says that her pregnancy ran into the 10th wrong when the five-month-from-quickening rule was applied, or when her baby weighed less than 7½ pounds.

Q -- I have chronic bronchitis. When I lie down, I get severe coughing spells. What do you advise?

A -- Chronic bronchitis and other chronic chest diseases are being studied intensively by chest specialists with encouraging results. Of prime importance is the avoidance of cigarettes. The inhalation of an aerosol containing a 2 to 5 per cent saline solution is believed by many observers to loosen the secretions in the bronchial tubes fully as well as do some more complicated methods. If thick, yellow sputum is being raised, ampicillian, a prescription drug, given by mouth may be helpful.

For patients in the hospital, the new intermittent positive pressure breathing apparatus has given excellent results when supervised by a trained inhalation therapist.

Q -- What drug is best for treating bronchitis?

A -- A new drug that your doctor may want to prescribe, 2G|DM, has a combined action. It loosens secretions and helps to check your cough. It is not habit forming and has few side effects.

Q -- My husband, 86, has what the doctor calls a heart cough. Is there any cure for it?

A -- A heart cough, also called cardiac asthma, has no relation to the asthma caused by an allergy. It is one of the manifestations of a disease of the heart valves in which compensation is failing to prevent back pressure and waterlogging in the lungs. A person with this condition should be in the hospital and should be given oxygen by inhalation.

Q -- Why is it that seven to 10 days before I start to menstruate my breasts feel heavy and sore? Would the fact that one ovary was removed make this condition worse one month than it is the next? Also, at about this time everything I eat causes acid indigestion. Why is this?

A -- The changes in ovarian secretions that occur in regular monthly cycles cause retention of water in the tissues. This normal physiologic reaction causes the fullness in your breasts. The severity of the sensation varies in different women and may vary from month to month in the same woman. The removal of an ovary would not cause the fluctuations in intensity of this symptom as the same variations are seen in women who still have two functioning ovaries. Some women get relief from this discomfort and other manifestations of pre-menstrual tension by taking water pills, relaxants and other drugs for a few days.

Q -- Are dry wines beneficial to a person who is past 50? Would drinking three or four glasses of wine a day cause hypertension?

A -- Whether a wine is "dry" or sweet is not as important as whether it is a table wine (about 10 per cent alcohol) or a fortified wine (about 20 per cent alcohol). Some persons who are past 50 are benefited by taking a small amount of alcohol in the evening to help them relax. This would tend to prevent, rather than cause, high blood pressure.

Day by Day

Food for Thought

By Catherine O'Donnell

The Rev. Frank Schooley, a teacher at St. Viator High School for the last two years, often preaches provocative sermons when he celebrates mass at St. James Church.

What he said yesterday was typical of the thought-provoking messages he has given the congregation from the pulpit.

Father Schooley will be moving on this summer to a parish in the "Negro ghetto" of Chicago.

HE MAY return, he said, to beg for food, clothing and "perhaps even temporary shelter" if another riot breaks out.

"I commend you for your charity on that occasion," he said, referring to this year's trouble in the inner-city as he went on to the substance of the sermon.

St. James parish, the priest feels, reflects several of the major tensions to be found in American Catholicism today.

Day by Day feels that his words could encompass the same problems in other creeds.

One problem is size and the tension between the larger group and the smaller group. You are a parish of nearly 2,000 families and many of you have found it necessary to break down into smaller groups or to join one or more organizations before you felt you were really part of the parish.

"But what if the trend toward smaller worshipping communities continues, the trend toward masses in the homes---if these trends become stronger, where will you be with the half-million dollar building you are now constructing?

"And what if the rumor that appeared recently in Newsweek turns out to be true--the rumor that within 10 years Sunday mass will no longer be obligatory? Will you need the new building then?

"SECOND, there is the question of the future of Catholic education. How long are your grade school and junior high school going to remain in existence?

"You are losing several nuns this year, some of them perhaps because there is more important work to do elsewhere. Given the vocation crisis that is affecting all orders, you will probably never see a dozen nuns here again. And since they have been the backbone of your schools, what does Catholic education without them mean?

"Even if a theoretical answer could be found, can the school's continued existence be justified financially? On one hand, tuition keeps going up, and on the other, your taxes for the public schools also increase almost every year.

"Further, there is the far-reaching question of 'should the emphasis in Catholic education be shifted from the child to the adult?' How is your parish going to deal with this issue?

"Third, there is the tension between an inner-directedness and an outer-directedness. Who is the parish for--you parishioners, or people outside your parish?

"Traditionally in American Catholicism, the answer has been for the members of the parish. And two generations ago or maybe even one, when needs such as food, jobs, housing and education had to be met, this made a certain amount of sense.

"But these fundamental needs are no longer much of a problem for most of you, so the question keeps raising itself: for whom does your parish exist? And you cannot solve with the cliche, charity begins at home, because that is a pagan principle at heart, not a Christian one.

"FINALLY, there is what one writer has called 'the spirtuality crisis,' the tension between religion and life on the personal level. Or, phrased another way, what is the meaning of religion?

"I have a feeling that your children's generation is going to answer that differently from you. And I suspect that they are going to be more demanding of the institutional church than you have been.

"When they find it lacking, they will either press for changes from within, go underground, or simply leave and go where men are dealing with the more important issues of life? What you who believe in the Church do today and the years ahead will influence their response--either positively or negatively.

"Perhaps it is unfair for me to raise these questions and then pull out, but I did think it was worthwhile to point out the challenges that face you who live here.

Father Schooley is taking with him a rare gift.

He has the ability to turn every man into a deeply serious thinker. He will be missed.

Ridge PTA Bake Sale

Ridge School PTA will hold its annual Bake Sale and exhibit night Thursday, June 6. Bake Sale hours are from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Kindergarten, first and second graders will participate in exhibit night from 7:30 p.m. to 8:15 p.m.; third, fourth and fifth graders, 8:30 to 9:15 p.m.

Pre-school children who have registered to attend Ridge kindergarten next fall are invited to see the two kindergarten rooms and meet the teachers.

Parents will have an opportunity to examine studies and projects completed by students throughout the school.

Junior Chef certificates will be awarded to each boy and girl who participates in the bake sale, with a prize going to the classroom with the most junior chefs. Items made by students will be on a junior chef table.

Adult chefs will offer for sale baked goods, homemade preserves, jellies, pickles, relishes, canned fruits, vegetables and salad dressings.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Ray M. Thorsen, Arlington Heights, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Jeanne, to Leroy Rakoski of Joliet.

Miss Thorsen, a graduate of Arlington High School, received her Bachelor's degree from Bradley University and is presently teaching home economics at Thomas Junior High School in Arlington Heights. While at Bradley, she was a member of Delta Zeta. She was elected Campus Carnival Queen and Sweetheart of Kappa Delta Rho.

Rakoski is a graduate of Joliet High School and received his Master of Science degree recently from Bradley University. He is presently employed at Napervilie Community High School.

The couple will be married at St. James Church in Arlington Heights June 22.

Mother Didn't Know

My mother didn't know how to bring up children. Don't misunderstand me, she was a wonderful woman. She taught us to tell the truth, to be honest in our dealings with others, to always do our share of the work load, and to give the largest slice of cake to the otherfellow.

You remember all those kind of training is that by which to live in this modern world?

Before you throw up your hands in alarm, consider the matter of time. I was taught to believe that it is courteous to be prompt. This simple rule in itself gets me in the most embarrassing situations.

HAVE YOU every arrived at a cocktail party before the caterers? Or have you ever caught your hostess just stepping out of a last minute shower? Did you ever arrive at a luncheon and set all by yourself for what seemed an eternity, while the hostess (just as uncomfortable as you) tries to throw her house, kitchen and self together all the while carrying on a somewhat long distance conversation with you minus the aid of a telephone?

It would have been better if my mother had also taught me "it is discourteous to be prompt for social engagements."

I know that when an invitation reads 6, it really means "no earlier than 6:30, please" but my training rebels against my intellect and the battle is on. It would be so much easier if I could only convince everyone to state what time he means right on the invitation. My cause doesn't seem to be gathering many followers.

JUST ONCE, I'd like not to be the first person to arrive at a party. But it is difficult to reform. I try to be late, honest I do. I even play games with myself with that goal in mind.

The first method is to weit until the last minute to get ready. The only results of this maneuver are that I hold the world's record for rapid dressing--from shower to Chevy in four minutes flat.

Another method is to do my very best to get lost en route. This works most efficiently if you are traveling in an unfamiliar area. Pretending to be lost is not quite fair.

Doing a few errands along the way is another possible solution to my dilemma. I have tried dropping off the cleaning, doing a little last minute shopping, and stopping to browse at the library. As a last resort I drive around the block a few times before parking. That's always good for a few minutes delay. All to no avail.

THE OTHER evening I thought I almost had the whole thing licked. It was about time to leave the house but I sat down to read a mystery instead. I finished the story at 8:15. My meeting was at 8. Oh, joy. I was late.

You have no idea how I glowed inside. Always before when I drove slowly I made one green light after another. But this was indeed my lucky day, and I whistled gaily as I managed to stop for every red light along the way. Then, I made a wrong turn and was momentarily lost. I was late, late, late. I was ecstatic. By 8:45 I was on the right track and soon after I rang the bell at my hotess' home.

"I'm sorry I'm so late," I lied, feeling guilty at breaking two of mother's rules in one shot.

"No problem," chirped my hostess. "You are the first, and it's a good thing. I just stepped out of a shower."

Students Available For Jobs

Area employers have been asked to plan to fill their expected summer job openings covering vacation replacements, new jobs, and special seasonal jobs that can be filled by high school and college students.

Everett F. Callaway, manager of the Des Plaines office of the Illinois State Employment Service said that high school and college students and prospective graduates are registering in large numbers at the employment office.

Many of these young men and women have already had some work experience or training that will help increase their usefulness on the job, in office service or factory employment. They are able to fill office and warehouse openings.

Callaway cautioned employers not to let themselves get caught in mid-season without an adequate labor supply. Summer programs can be planned by calling 824-7191.

Teen Princess Luncheon At Randhurst Wednesday

The third International Teen Princess Pageant is being held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago, June 1-8. From among the national finalists, the "International Teen Princess" will be chosen on the basis of character, charm, poise, personality, appearance and intellect.

On Wednesday, June 5, Montgomery Ward at Randhurst will host a luncheon for Teen Princess Philippines and Teen Princess South Africa. Following the luncheon, the girls will be guests of Maine South High School, Park Ridge.

They will return to Randhurst at 4:30 p.m. for a teen fashion show presented by Montgomery Ward's Wendy Ward Department. Their day will end with dinner in an American home which will be given by Ward's High School Pacesetter Board.

Mrs. Schroeder Is New Head of Women's League

An Arlington Heights woman, Mrs. George Schroeder, of 1923 N. Chestnut, has been elected vice-president of the Cook County League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Schroder has been chairman of a committee to study the need for intergovernmental cooperation.

As the result of the study, local leagues soon will be urging their local taxing bodies to become members of the Cook County Council of Governments.

Cook County league members will support voluntary inter-governmental cooperation, in which local elected officials provide leadership, as an alternative to forming a metropolitan governments.

Jack Pahl of Elk Grove Village, president of the Cook County Council of Governments, who was a speaker at the county convention, warned the women his show represents "one of the last chances local governments have to get together to solve local problems."

Failure of success of the new council, he added, depends upon the leadership and support provided it by local governmental officials throughout the county.

Modern Music Group Welcomes Members

Formal initiation of new members into the Modern Music Masters society of Arlington High School was held Tuesday.

Also, Kim Sheviak, Mary Tuomi, Adrienne Voise, Lorie Wendorf, Deborah Whiting, Judy Willcox, Kristine Wolter, Deborah Yates, Patricia Zalud, Elizabeth Zilen.

County Education Subcommittee Changes Name, Clarifies Goals

BY BETSY BROOKER

At its second session last week, the education subcommittee of the Cook County Council of Governments decided to change its name and clarify its goals.

Meeting in the office of the superintendent of Cook County Schools, Robert P. Hanrahan, the Committee on Caracr Opportunities for Youth (COCOY) decided that its former name, Committee on Employment of Non-College Bound Youth, is inappropriate.

Rodarick McLennan, chairman of COCOY and District 214 assistant superintendent said,

"We felt our first title made us a vocational placement agency. We would rather assist the education of 100 per cent of the Cook County children, instead of just non-college bound students."

AFTER ITS organization in April as a subcommittee of tha council's 20-man executive committee – headed by District 59 superintendent and former Elk Grove High School principal Donald Thomas, COCOY has takan on a new perspective reflected in its new name.

COCOY now fulfills the ideals on which the council was formad, according to McLennan.

"The ultimate aim of the council is for all 600 units of local government in the county to co-operate in fulfilling some of tha same social needs."

DR. RODERICK MCLENNAN, District 214 assistant superintendent and chairman of the Cook County Council of Governments education subcommittee.

MEMBERS OF COCOY wish to extend this principle of co-operation into the area of education, he said.

"Our belief is that education isn't a provincial matter, nor is it entirely the concern of the professional educator," said McLennan.

"The schools are not provincial because most of the students have lived in other areas.

"Education is the concern of non-school institutions because the subject matter taught to the students relates to all of lifa."

COCOY aims to encourage non-education instititions to provida practical carcar experience for students, that can be validated as credit by the school.

MC LENNAN HAS appointed a Northwest Advisory Committee to organize a pilot plan using one industrial or business organization to be implemented in September, 1969.

Membership in the advisory committee includes directors in business and industry; career and personnel counselors, and others.

The plan will possibly involve re-structure of the school schedule so thet experiance outside of the school can be gained in the day and avening; involvament of education professionals and non-professionals; and alteration of curriculum so that it is supplementary to the practical experience gained outside of the school.

SOME STEPS heve already been taken in District 214 curriculum alteration. When John Hersey High School opens in the fall, it will offer courses more vocationally oriented particularly in the areas of electronics, business education, wood and metal shops, and home economics.

Harper Art Dept. Gets Recognition

An etching and self portrait by John A. Knudsen were selected to eppear at the Chicago and Vicinity Art Show, and an etching by William R. Foust was selected for exhibition at the National Print and Drawing Show of Northern Illinois.

According to Foust, the Harper art program is developing very well, after its first year. "We are offering more than 20 courses in the art department, ranging from art appreciation, drawing, design and oil painting, to interior design, ceramics, sculpture and print making."

There is now an exhibit of 20 works by Harpar art students in the entryway of tha Harpar Library. Tha department is also making arrangements to have an axhibit of students' works travel to all of the high schools in District 214.

Harper will be offering several art courses this summer, including drawing and oil painting. A summar schedule of classes may be obtained from the college.

Get-Acquainted Party for Miss Teen Contestants

A get-aequainted Dr. Pepper party for all contestants who entered the 1968 Miss Teenage Chicagoland contest, sponsored by Jewel Food Stores, will be held shortly after the deadline entry date of June 15.

The girl who is selected as the teenager who most exemplifies Chicagoland will be sent, along with an official chaperone, to Fort Worth, Texas, all expenses paid, to compete in the national competition. A girl to reign as Miss Teenage America will be chosen on Nov. 30.

The broadcast will appear nationally on the CBS network. "Wa think the girls will enjoy seeing tha film entitled "M.T.A.," said Wm. H. Newby, contest director.

The 45-minuta color strip depicts the series of activities and event slated for Chicago's entrant in the national finals. Girls from all 50 states congregate in Fort Worth and spend a full week of testing, interviews, talent, talk and rehearsing for the big event.

CHICAGOLAND'S contest has officially opened. Entry blanks for all girls between the ages of 13 and 17 are available at all Jewel Food Stores in Chicagoland. They must be postmarked no latar than midnight June 18, 1968 in order to compete for the local title.

Approximately a week after the "Get Acquainted" party the girls will be asked to take a scholastic axam to determine their knowledge of current and past events.

The girls will be given a personal interview and 100 will be asked to perform their talent for the judges. Three sectional semi-final sessions will be held with 12 girls selected as finalists.

The Chicago finals will be held on Saturday, Sept. 14.

An Mmmph, An Annhh, A Grrr, and A Take That!

Bronco Hitters Run Wild in Mt. Prospect

Runs were the order of the day in the Bronco division of the Mount Prospect Majors this weekend.

The Dodgers beat the Yankees Sunday, 15-2.

THE WINNERS combined the hitting talents of their battery, Jim Miller and Richard Lessner, to take the win. Miller, the winning pitcher, gave up just four hits in a distance performance, and also went four-for-four at the plate, including a triple. His catcher, Lessner, slammed three hits in as many at-bats, and drove ia five runs.

Tom Hayes and Randy Clark also had key hits for the Dodgers.

THE WHITE SOX A's brought in more runs in their game with the Lions, but had a tougher time winning than did the Dodgers. The Sox won, 18-17, on the strength of three hits each from Jeff Conway and Don Chindlund.

The game took a total of three hours and 10 minutes to complete. The Sox overcame a 12-2 deficit in the second inning to take the one-run lead in the sixth.

In the Bronco division "A" minors, the Tigers slammed the Dodgers, 8-3, with winning pitcher Mark Russo tossing a three-hitter and striking out 10. Greg Kay drove in four runs for the Tigers with a double and triple, and left-fielder Pat Rooney helped Russo by making a running one-handed catch of a line drive with the bases loaded in the fifth inning.

The Pony division "B" Braves wrapped up the Yankees 9-0 behind Glen Amundsen's three-hit, 12-strikeout performance. Tom Trandel had three hits and four runs batted in for the winners.

Boosters to Fete Knights

The Prospect High School Booster's Club will hold its annual spring sports award banquet Tuesday, June 4, at 6:45 p.m.

The banquet will be in the Prospect cafeteria and will hoaor the athletes aad coaches who apriticipated in baseball, golf, tennis and track this season.

The after-dinner speaker will be Robert Wright, track coach at the University of Illinois. Wright is the father of one of Prospect High School's faculty, Jim Wright, English teacher and varsity tennis coach.

3 Ex-Knights Get Illini Awards

Johnson's Wins

Pete Semple of the Barmen rapped a grand slam homer.

Busch Earns Knox Numerals

Bastable, Theiss Probable Starters

Foster Aims to Set Legion Lineup

BY LINDA GAMMILL

With a three-game exhibition series with Danville coming up this weekend and only three players set in their positions, Harvey Foster, the new Arlington Heights American Legion baseball coach, will have a chance to do some juggiing with his starting lineup.

Tryouts for the squad began last Thursday, but were curtailed for the rest of the week by rain. As a result, Foster has hardly had a chance to look at his prospects.

STEVE SHAWHAN, workhorse for Prospect High School's mouad staff this spring, will pitch one of the games in Danville, but hill duties for the other two games are "up for grabs," Foster said Sunday.

Other than Shawhan, 15-3 with a 2.02 earned run average in Mid-Suburban League play, Foster has only two other positions determined. Joel Theiss, who played every inning of every game for Prospect at short will probably be Foster's shortstop, and Wheeliag's regular catcher, Jack Bastable, will start behind the plate, Foster said. Theiss hit .340 in MSL play and .266 overall, while Bastable had a .271 league average and .274 overall.

Eighteen players attended the tryouts Thursday, aad Foster said that he expects to take at least 15 of them to Danville. As for the rest of the season, he said that he will carry as many players on the team as want to stay with the squad.

"I don't plan on cutting anybody" he said.

THE FIRST Legion league encounter for the Arlington Heights team will be on June 10. The six-team league will be made up of two teams from Park Ridge and one each from Des Plaines, Palatine, Arlington Heights, and Logan Square in Chicago. The Chicago team is made up mainly of players from St. Viator High School, Foster said.

The league had originally planned its schedule for eight teams, but two dropped out recently for financial reasons. Foster doesn't know as yet who will be his opponent in the league opener June 10. Palatine was supposed to be first, but with the smaller league, Foster isn't sure.

The Arlington coach felt that with regulars from the Arlington, Prospect and Wheeling High School teams, his Legioa team will be "on a par with Palatine and Logan Square, if not better."

HE ADDED THAT "all of the coaches think it will be a real tight race, and any one of the six teams could win."

High school reguiars out for the Legion team are: Theiss, Shawhan, Bastable, Jim Gumz of Prospect; Cary Salm and Jim Millay of Wheeling, and Jim Kolari, Keith Culberson and Craig Cochran of Arlington.

Foster said he expects that most of the players will be seniors from high school teams, because other area programs will draw underclassmen by allowing them to play more regularly.

Catcher Jack Bastable, seenrlng here fnr Wheeling against Elk Grnve, and shortstop Joel Thelss of Prospect are the only two players the Arlington Heights American Legion team's new coach, Harvey Foster, will identify as evea probable starters. The Legion opens next weekend with a three-game series against Danville.

Arlington Heights Boys Baseball

South White Int.

The Barons and Solons stayed on top of the South White Intermediate League after two rounds of play.

The Solons annihilated the Terriers 19-6, the Ramblers stopped the Huskies 10-3, and the Huskies tromped the Bearcats 8-6 in recent action, Jeff Bergstrom helping the Husky win with a home run.

American

The Yankees handed the Red Sox their first loss as the two teams moved into a tie in the American League.

Joe Peipler pitched a 13-strikeout one-hitter at the Red Sox for a 3-1 win, after Tom Vassios topped the Senators 4-2 for the Yankees with Scott Rowader driving in the winning run.

The Senator bounced back to take a 3-2 decision from the White Sox, who also lost to the Athletics, 2-1.

National League

Jeff Louis pitched the Pirates past the Cubs, 1-0, with help from a key defensive play by Mark Peterson, while the Dodgers smacked the Cardinals 6-2 and the Braves dumped the Giants, 7-5.

North Blue Jr.

Action for the week of May 25-31 la the North Blue Juaior League found the Apaches moving from an 0-1 record to take two wins and tie once for the best record of the week.

THE APACHES' Greg Tobiasz pitched two complete games and contributed a double and a triple to the offense for the week. His catcher, Dave Hartshorne, smacked a double and a home run in helping the Apaches defeat the Stags, 19-8.

The other two games for the Apaches saw them defeating the Titans, 11-3, on a two-hitter by Bill Balinski, and tying the Rebels, 4-4. John Milas tripled against the Rebels and Paul Mallon chipped in a double against the Apaches.

Meanwhile, the Titans found themselves victims of the Badgers, 3-1, on a two-run, last-inning home run by M. Carroll.

THE TITANS HAD a second two-hitter thrown at them during the week, by the Boxers, as Bob Rossdutcher and Ricky Sanders combined their mound talents for an 11-5 win over the Titans.

Rossdutcher, the winning pitcher, homered while Kevin Pletch and Ben Huske contributed three hits each and John Gillen got two safeties.

Other league action saw the Rebels knocking off the Blues, 7-2, behind three-hit pitching by Pat Higgins. Higgins also doubled with the bases loaded to help insure his win.

In their only game of the week, the Sox tied with the second place Badgers, 3-3, in a game that had to be called in the fifth because of rain. The Sox pushed over three runs in the first, and the Badgers got one in the third, and just barely beat the rain with two in the bottom of the fifth.

South White Jr.

The front - running Jets topped both the Atoms and Junior league action last week.

The Jets, now 3-0, whomped the Atoms 9-3, then came back to edge the Wrens, 6-5.

The Atoms, tied with the Wrens for second place with 2-2 records, got some consolation by blasting the Bulldogs 15-12, thanks to a 14-run second inning. The Atoms' Andy Farrissey walloped a grand slam home run in the big rally.

The Bulldogs came out on the long end of a 5-4 decision against the Wrens in other action.

North Blue Int.

Firing smoky fast balls past two opponents, Dragon pitchers Tom Wegner and Ron Swanson kept their team in first place in North Blue Intermediate League action last week.

Wegner shut out the Steelers, 5-0, with a two-hitter, walking none and striking out 11. John Walsh had three hits for the Dragons, one of them a home run.

Swanson topped the Mounties 6-2 on a three-hitter, and also turned in an unassisted double play, snaring a line drive and beating a Mountie runner back to third.

In other league play, the Rifles whose 3-1 record puts them a game behind the Dragons, shot past the Bullets, 12-4, behind Pete Scalera's two-hit pitching and a home run by Mark Longrie. They were also downed the Colts, 2-0, with Scalera this time the victim of a two-hitter, by Brad Schmidt.

The busy Bullets dumped the Stellers, 8-6, despite a home run by the Steelers' Jan Simonson, but lost to the Mohawks, 7-6.

The Mounties topped the Colonels, 4-2.

Rory Cassidy, co-captain of the 1967 Illinois State cross-country champions from Arlington High School, has been accepted for the fall 1968 term at Villanova University, Villanova, Pa. Cassidy has also been active in track and in band organization at Arlington as president of the Concert and Marching Bands in the 1967-68 school year, and secretary-treasurer in 1966-67. Cassidy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cassidy, 114 E. Euclid, Arlington Heights.

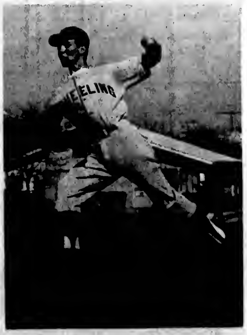
Wheeling right-hander Marty Crain had the second-lowest earned run average among Mid-Suburban League pitchers appearing in 14 or more innings during the 1968 league season. Crain's ERA of 0.95 placed him second to Conant lefty John Moffat, who paced the MSL's regular pitchers with an 0.75 mark. Crain struck out 27 and walked only six in 22 innings for the Wildcats.



Jim Muelhausen ran away with the Mid-Suburban League's 1968 strikeout title, fanning 84 MSL hitters in 45 innings, while his nearest competitor, Elk Grove's Bob Artemenko, had 68 strikeouts in 50 innings. Muelhausen won three games and lost three, in addition to saving three. He also led the league in appearances with 10 and walks allowed with 24.

BUSINESS STUDY

Thirty-one young executives and scholars from the United States and abroad have begun a year of joint study in advanced management at Stanford's Graduate School of Business.

Attending the university as Stanford-Sloan Fellows, the group will meet with top executives and high government officials during field trips in California, New York and Washington, D.C. as part of it's curriculum.

SHRIMP 'FARMING'

As Gulf Coast shrimp canners celebrate the world shrimp canning Centennial this year, they are developing a commercial method of shrimp "farming," using the vast marshlands of Louisiana for mass production breeding grounds and year-'round harvest.

This year also finds the U.S. industry on its way to a record $40 million, 100-million steel can pack.

An excellent source of protein and iodine, shrimp ranks fourth in U. S. canned fish volume (behind tuna, salmon and sardines). All-steel cans have been used exclusively for the full century of shrimp canning.

Horoscope

FOR TUESDAY

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) -- The wiser course may well be to think on a primitive level today. Too much sophistication could confuse the issues.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) -- Accuracy and competency bring success to the Cancer who can employ these qualities where they will count most.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) -- The wise Leo will go about his business as best he can and leave the worrying to someone else. Complications may appear at evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) -- Don't try for all the good things of life in one fell swoop. You may find yourself without them tomorrow if you do.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) -- Postpone whatever cannot be turned either to professional or personal gain at this time. A day for being practical.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) -- The employment scene is no place for insisting upon having things your own way. Work for the good of the whole.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) -- Disassociate yourself from those projects which are causing too much tension. You need to free yourself from worries.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) -- Not the day for changing the daily routine to any marked degree. The closer you stay to home, the better.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) -- A transition time for Aquarius which may cause some emotional distress and nervous tension. Work with what you have at this point.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 21) -- Present your case to higher-ups with the most originality possible. Take care, however, not to stretch the truth.

ARIES (Mar. 22 - Apr. 20) -- If you would avoid tomorrow's criticism, take care not to act unwisely today. Use your good judgment even in minor matters.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21) -- Social engagements may come your way today. If so, rearrange your schedule to accommodate them. An important day to your future.

Subdivisions Face More Double Taxes – But for Last Time

BY CHARLES MOURATIDES

Homeowners in two more Arlington Heights subdivisions, Tallyrand and Dunover, are being doubly taxed for library services.

So are Arlington Vista property owners, The Day revealed last month.

But this is the last time Arlington Heights residents are being asked to pay for the Prospect Heights Library District, to which they do not belong.

Arlington Heights has its own municipal library and the two subdivisions were annexed to the village about three years ago.

State Rep. David J. Regner (R-Mount Prospect) said that a law which became effective in January will take the Prospect Heights Library District tax off the 1968 bills of Arlington Heights residents.

THE LEGISLATOR last year introduced a bill that separates unincorporated areas from library districts as soon as they are annexed to a municipality.

This law, Regner said, did not affect the tax bills recently mailed out for 1967 taxes.

The tax for the municipal library is not listed separately on the tax bill but is included in the village tax.

Arlington Vista contains about 250 homes. Tallyrand and Dunover together hold another 250 lots, but not all of these yet have homes on them.

"We see no reason to pay for the Prospect Heights library," said Mrs. W. E. Kibler of Dunrovan.

She said a friend of hers who had tried to check out a book from the Prospect Heights library was told she could not.

MRS. KIBLER said her neighbors are particularly unhappy because taxes in the subdivision are "considerably higher" than they expected.

Some residents already have paid their tax under protest because they consider the Prospect Heights library tax unfair.

Regner said he thought the residents would end up paying the library tax because the new law was not in effect for the year they are protesting.

Before the new law became effective, an area could disannex from library or fire prevention districts only through a referendum. No such vote had been held in the three subdivisions.

A SIMILAR tax was levied before 1967 for the rural fire prevention district in unincorporated areas that were annexed to Arlington Heights.

Then a bill sponsored by State Rep. Eugene Schlickman (R-Arlington Heights) was passed and signed by the governor. Now unincorporated areas are separated automatically from a fire prevention district when they annex to a municipality.

Blaze Strikes Home; $12,000 Loss Estimated

Fire of an undetermined origin caused an estimated $12,000 damage to the home of William Karavatos, 1240 N. Yale, Arlington Heights, yesterday afternoon.

The fire started in a recreation room that had been converted to family use from a former garage.

No one was home when the fire was reported.

Lt. John Mills of the Arlington Heights Fire Department said an off duty fireman, Richard Frost, first reported the fire when he saw smoke from his home nearby.

After that, Lt. Mills said, several neighbors called the fire department to report the blaze.

The fire was report at 1:20 p.m. and was "struck" at 2:10 p.m.

Electronic Gear Taken From Church

An amplifier and transformers from the public address system at the First Presbyterian Church in Arlington Heights were stolen from the church.

Clarence Davis, custodian for the church at Dunton and Eastman, told Arlington Heights Police Monday morning that the equipment was missing.

Police said the wires were cut and unplugged from the equipment. A window in the kitchen was apparently used to enter the building, police said.

The amplifier was valued at $202 and the transformers were valued at $60.

Rezoning OKd For Proposed Medical Clinic

Rezoning of about 5 acres of land for a new medical clinic in Arlington Heights was approved by the village trustees last night.

The clinc, which ultimately will have a staff of as many as 30 doctors, will be located on Arlington Heights Rd., about halfway between Golf and Algonquin Rds.

Application for the rezoning of the land from residential and manufacturing districts to a business district was made by Al-Ar Limited, a general partnership.

Dr. Otto Bouc Jr., a Mount Prospect orthopedic surgeon and part owner of the development, said that the medical center initially will open with about seven to nine physicians of various specialties.

Dr. Bouc said that the medical building also would contain offices and a laboratory. It would be constructed in two stages and would have approximately 25,000 square feet of space.

EUGENE Schlickman, the petitioners' attorney, said this piece of property was chosen for a clinic because it is central to several hospitals in the northwest suburbs.

"After much investigation, they acquired the land about a year ago," Schlickman said.

Another 22 acres of land, zoned partly as a manufacturing and partly as a residential district, are adjacent to the rezoned parcel of land.

Dr. Bouc said he intends to develop the 22 acres for research industry and offices.

Man Who Threatened Woman Sought

Arlington Heights Police have initiated a state-wide search for a man who allegedly pulled a gun on an Arlington Heights woman and tried to force himself into her home yesterday.

Mrs. Donald Farmer of 1129 S. Walnut told police a man came to her home at about 10:30 a.m. She said she recognized the man as the same person who made a delivery to her home last week from a company in Forest Park.

She told police the man asked her to fill out a card referring to the service of the company and the satisfaction of its customers.

She said he told her he would get $1 if she filled out the card. Mrs. Farmer said she started to fill out the card and the man tried to force himself into her home.

She said she pushed him out of the house and began to scream. She said the man drew a gun and told her "I should kill you for what you screamed."

MRS. FARMER told police he then pushed the door of the house open and ran to his car and drove away. Police said the doorknob struck the wall and made a hole in it when the man pushed it in.

Mrs. Farmer copied the license number of the car and gave a description of the man to police.

The man is described as a Negro; about 30 to 35 years old; 5-foot, 8 inches tall, and about 155 pounds.

Police sent a teletype description of the man and the car he was driving to all local police departments.

A garage that had been converted to a recreation room caught fire yesterday afternoon at the home of William Karavatos, 1240 N. Yale, Arlington Heights, and caused an estimated $12,000 damage to the home and its contents.

'Sniper' Scare Just Exercise

Elk Grove residents were thrown into panic Sunday afternoon when they heard a voice from the forest saying, "Everybody clear the streets. The sniper has been spotted."

The frightened residents bombarded the police station with calls for help.

"We notified a squad car in the area and discovered an Army Reserve group training for riot control in the woods at Arlington Heights Rd. and Elk Grove Blvd.," said Officer John Landers.

It's Wedding Season

Baker Candlestick Maker Busy During June

BY MAXINE TYMA

The baker and the candlestick maker have become important figures for residents making June wedding plans.

Bakery shops report the biggest demand for wedding cakes comes this month. The caterers are booked and candles are becoming popular for decorations and gifts.

Clerks at the Denneger Pastry Shop, 18 N. Dryden, in Arlington Market, said the requests for wedding cakes begin the last week in May and are steady through June. A pound cake is offered by the shop for the traditional wedding cake and orders can be made for serving from 25 to 275 persons.

Bakery shops cater to individual preferences for decorations of wedding cakes and will bake a "groom's cake" on request. The groom's cake usually is a devil's food cake for the top tier of a wedding cake.

At the Arlington Cake Box, 15 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights, a butter cake is offered to customers.

"June and August are busy months," said Mrs. Alice Rothbauer of the Cake Box.

"August has become popular for weddings through the years. We have a few requests for devil's food cakes but not too many. But we do give the people what they prefer," she said.

AT BUGIEL'S Bakery, 3102 Market Plaza in Rolling Meadows, the frosting on the wedding cake is the special recipe of Frank Bugiel.

Mrs. Agnes Bugiel echoes the policy of other bakery owners, "give the customer what he wants" in the way of cake decorations, shapes and dough.

"Most persons still want the traditional bride and groom statues on top of the cake," Mrs. Bugiel said.

"But quite a few now are decorating with fresh flowers instead of an ornament. We bake the cake and deliver it to a florist who decorates it according to the preference of the bride," she said.

Their cake is a combination of pound cake and white cake and can be baked in sizes to serve as many as 425 guests.

She said champagne glasses can be used to separate tiers of the cake and some brides prefer wedding bell decorations or a traditional family decoration that may have been used by her parents.

Mrs. June French of the Candle Nook in Randhurst Center, Mount Prospect, said the business stocks more material in June to supply the growing demand for candles.

"We do sell more candles at this time, especially in white," she said.

"A lot of people seem to prefer the 10- and 12-inch tapers and we do have special wedding candles available that are quite popular. Persons who are giving showers come in for candles, so we always have plenty on hand," she said.

SHE SAID candles in the form of wedding bells are available and a bride's wedding candle, marked to burn for 20 years, also is popular.

The catering business also experiences a boom during June. Jerry Catenazzo of Prospect Catering, 6 E. Northwest Hwy., Mount Prospect, said he is handling two weddings each Saturday in June.

"We are booked already for next year. Sometimes at the wedding we are serving, we are booked right there for another bridal party. Saturday is the biggest day, but sometimes we have reservations for Friday weddings," he said.

"Our business is tremendous during June," he said.

Cases Up 30 Per Cent

During the long holiday weekend, 356 emergency patients were treated at Northwest Community Hospital in Arlington Heights.

Auto accidents accounted for many of the injuries, but accidents in the home and at play also were responsible for the patient volume.

The medical staff treated cycling cuts and lumps, home workshop amputations, animal bites, cuts, bruises, sprains, foreign bodies in the eyes, ears and nose, ingestions, asthma, coronaries and appendicitis.

"Each patient was treated as expediently as possible," said Jack Ryon, public relations director of the hospital.

"Some were sewn up, some x-rayed, drugs prescribed, most received tetanus shots and all were advised on follow-up treatment. A few were admitted to the hospital," he said.

Five physicians, 15 nurses, aides and secretaries staffed the center for the holiday period. One physician, two nurses, an orderly and a clerk-receptionist were on duty at all times.

Course, Materials Fees Dropped in District 59

Parents of children who attend District 59 schools no longer will have to pay course fees, materials fees and towel fees after September, 1969.

Board members voted unanimously Monday to eliminate the fees--a move which will take about $18,000 a year in revenue from the district.

However, District 59 parents will continue to pay textbook rental fees.

Optional fees for such things as yearbook purchases, charges for athletic contests, rental of musical instruments and milk for children still will be charged.

Why the change?

"Within recent years, a body of legal opinion has been developing which takes the position that most fees are a violation of the Illinois constitutional provision of free public education," said Supt. Donald Thomas.

HE SAID that District 59 had legal opinions from Frank Hines, its attorney, and from Roy Hutson, legal advisor to Illinois Superintendent of Public Instruction Ray Page, that the only legal fee school districts may charge is a fee for textbook rental.

Thomas said that two test cases have been started in the courts: one by Thornton Fractional Township High School District 215, and another by Prospect Heights Elementary District 23.

"It appears to me," said Thomas, "that the courts will rule that fees other than textbook rental fees are illegal."

District 59 has been charging parents of junior high school youngsters a $2.50 fee for towel service, and small fees for course materials in industrial arts and home economics.

Thomas said that this was, in effect, forcing parents to pay for curriculum requirements and giving them no choice about it.

District 59 schools in Mount Prospect are John Jay, Robert frost, Forest View Elementary, Dempster Junior High School and Holmes Junior High.

In Des Plaines, the district has Brentwood, High Ridge Knolls, Einstein and Devonshire.

In Arlington Heights, it has Juliette Low.

In Elk Grove Village, its schools are Ridge, Rupley, Grove, Hopkins, Clearmont, Byrd, Salt Creek and Grant Wood.

After-School Educational Program Urged in Dist. 59

BY JAN BONE

By September, all of the 19 schools in District 59 may be taking part in a community-wide program of after-school education.

Formal approval may come soon from the Mott Foundation, of Flint, Mich., for money to pay part of the director's salary to run the proposed activities. Details of what the program might be will not be decided by the board until the funds are approved by the foundation.

Supt. Donald Thomas told District 59 board members Monday that sources outside the district probably would pick up the rest of costs for the director's salary.

MRS. LEAH Cummins of Elk Grove Village, who worked out the proposal that the district submitted to the Mott Foundation, said the idea would have several objectives:

-- To involve all children and adults in the District 59 community in after-school experiences that are emotionally and socially satisfying;

-- To strengthen the individual child and adult by self-improvement;

-- To improve the quality of living in the community;

-- To use the school-civic centers paid for by tax dollars to the fullest degree;

-- To provide social inter-action among historically non-co-operating groups of people in the community;

-- To provide better understanding and a trusted partnership between teachers and the people in the community;

Schools which would be involved in the project, if it gets started, would be Juliette Low in Arlington Heights; Jay, Frost, Forest View Elementary, Dempster and Holmes in Mount Prospect; Devonshire, Einstein, High Ridge Knolls and Brentwood in Des Plaines, Ridge, Rupley, Grant Wood, Salt Creek, Tom Lively, Grove, Byrd, Hopkins and Clearmont in Elk Grove Village.

Certified Teacher Candidates

Persons desiring to be certified to teach in suburban Cook County next fall may attend one of 23 area colleges this summer, Robert P. Hanrahan, Cook County Superintendent of Schools, said this week.

Hanrahan urges interested candidates to visit his office, room 407, Chicago Civic Center or call 321-7606 for a list of Chicago area colleges offering courses in professional education.

Firemen's Stress Topic Of Seminar at Hospital

Firemen from throughout northern Illinois will come to Forest Hospital in Des Plaines Wednesday for a one-day seminar on "Human Stress in Crisis."

During the seminar, psychiatrists and firemen will examine the emotional crises encountered by firemen in their day-to-day work. They will concentrate on the handling of situations that arise in the firemen's ambulance duty.

Speakers are to be Samuel Dunkell, M.D., director of Psychiatry at the Postgraduate Center for Mental Health in New York, and Lt. Col. Joseph McCarthy, supervisor of the Chicago Fire Department Ambulance Service.

Poodle Sought for Biting Boy

Do you know a Prospect Heights family that owns a white miniature poodle? One mother has to find it by noon tomorrow.

Mrs. W. Ronald Pontious, 113 Indigo Dr., Prospect Heights, has asked Day readers to help her locate the dog which bit 4-year-old Ronny, her son, Sunday morning.

"The dog wore a collar and tag," Mrs. Pontious said, "and he had been clipped. He was bare on the bottom part of his body.

"My neighbor chased the dog for more than two hours through our Coachlight Manor subdivision and finally lost it.

"Ronny has had a tetanus shot, but our doctor says if we cannot locate the dog, he may need to have a series of anti-rabies injections." The shots will have to begin tomorrow.

Anyone who can help Mrs. Pontious identify the dog has been asked to call her at 296-8644.

At the Ivanhoe

Interview with Arlene Francis

BY MARILYN HELFERS
Woman's Editor

Arlene Francis radiated her warmth, wit and down to earth qualities to all of the guests at the luncheon table at the Ivanhoe Restaurant where she is appearing in "Kind Sir" until June 16.

An unsolicited note from a fan having lunch at the Ivanhoe testified to the fact that Miss Francis is much more attractive in person than on T.V.

The note said: "Dear Miss Francis, You should sue all camera men. They don't do you justice even a little bit."

MISS FRANCIS bubbled over with vivacity and said she didn't know if she was more delighted with the successful review of the comedy "Kind Sir," or with the fact that McCarthy won Oregon.

She admitted that she, especially as a mother, does not approve "one little bit" of the war in Vietnam. Her 21-year-old son, an "A" student at Harvard and editor of the Harvard Lampoon, will be graduating June 12.

In between performances at the Ivanhoe Theater Miss Francis will be flying back to New York to tape her daily radio shows. How does this 5 ft. 5½ inch, 125 lb., size 10 woman keep up with such an active schedule?

"Rest doesn't agree with me at all," she said. "I have no trouble sleeping. I fall asleep immediately. I'm up at 7:30 a.m. and read the newspapers from cover to cover. I have to know what's going on so that I can interview people with varied occupations for my radio show. Actually, I've gotten most of my education since I left school.

ARLENE FRANCIS

Miss Francis and producer-actor Martin Gabel have been married for 22 years. Do they have a secret for the success of their happy theater marriage?

"ALL MARRIAGE is difficult," said Miss Francis. "For any successful marriage you need these three ingredients: readjustment, compromise and love."

The diamond heart Miss Francis wears on a chain around her neck was a gift from her husband on their first anniversary. "I've never taken it off. We'll celebrate our 22d anniversary this month and the only time I've taken the heart off was when the chain broke.

"I didn't have it on once on "What's My Line?" and the switchboard went wild wanting to know if we'd broken up. So I wear it all the time.

"When I'm playing a character part I wear it on a longer chain so it isn't visible. I've no idea how many diamonds are in it. The heart has diamonds on both sides and I've never counted them," she added.

EARLY VIEWERS of "What's My Line? may remember Miss Francis as a brunette. She explained her reason for becoming a blond: "I lightened my hair to adjust to the TV tube.

"Before the tube was perfected a white line would appear around the hair line of performers with dark hair. It would also appear around the edges of a black dress worn on camera. Many women who wouldn't have considered lightening their hair did so to appear more natural on TV."

Miss Francis admits to no special beauty secrets other than soap and water, the use of some creams and being careful about her hair and makeup.

"My first audience was my maternal grandfather. He listened to me recite "Boots." My father the late (Aram Kazanjian) thoroughly disapproved of the theater. He did finally consent to letting me appear on radio--that 'was decent."

"A college friend told me about a part they were auditioning for, so I tried out and made it. My first radio show was "King Arthur's Roundtable." I continued in radio and became so busy I forgot about the theater.

"After working on many radio programs I did some TV and spent most of my mature life, 17½ years, doing "What's My Line?" (In Sept. "What's My Line?" will return to T.V. as a daytime show with Miss Francis as the only carry over from the original panel.)

THE ELEGANT evening clothes worn by Miss Francis in the romantic comedy "Kind Sir", which is done in the round at the Ivanhoe, are designed by Scassi, whom she has known since he first started to design. The fur coat she wears is river otter on the outside lined with Norwegian fox and is part of her personal wardrobe.

Miss Francis does a successful job of portraying Jane Kimhall, an actress who wants to get married but who hasn't fallen in love with the right man. Mary Cooper, "a dear friend" of Miss Francis, Who has appeared in many plays with her, plays her concerned married sister quite capably. Lawrence Weber plays the male lead (He also portrayed Peter Ames on "The Secret Storm", T.V. serial.)

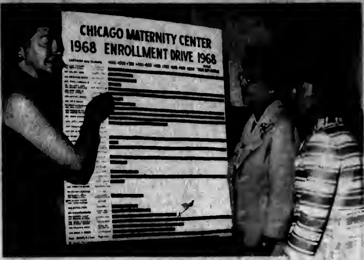
The play will continue at the Ivanhoe Theater, now in its 2d year, at 3000 N. Clark, Chicago until June 16 with 2:30 matinees on Wednesday; Tues. through Fri. at 8:30 p.m; Sat. at 6 and 9:30 p.m. and Sunday at 7 p.m.



High Scorers in Fund Drive

"Checks and Charms" were the order of the day when Mrs. Hugh G. Allen, co-chairman of the Chicago Maternity Center's 1968 Women's Enrollment Drive, hosted a luncheon for her team chairmen. Chairmen whose teams raised $1,000 or more for the traveling maternity hospital received matching funds from a group of Chicago businessmen in addition to gold charms. Mrs. William E. Cook of Palatine (left) and Mrs. Melvin C. Anderson (center) of Arlington Heights, co-chairmen, check the score with Mrs. Allen.

Engaged

PATRICIA BELTRAN

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Beltran announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann to Michael Robert Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert N. Taylor of Arlington Heights. The Beltrans, formerly of Long Island, N. Y., now reside in Arlington Heights.

Miss Beltran is a graduate of Arlington High School and will be entering her senior year at Mount Mary College, Milwaukee, Wisc., where she is majoring in sociology.

Her fiance is a graduate of Notre Dame High School in Niles and a 1966 graduate of Loras College in Dubuque, Ia. He is currently teaching at Our Lady of the Wayside Junior High School.

The wedding will take place June 14, 1969.

Antique Antics: What to Collect

BY MARY BRUCE

So now you're hooked on antiques. What do you collect? Where do you look for it? Is it worth investing your hard earned money on antiques?

As far as what to collect is concerned, most people find that certain things seem to have a way of picking them out. By that I mean; someone will give you a toothpick holder, a salt cellar, a button, or a fan and during your wandering you may find a mate to one of these or a matching item in a different color and suddenly your're a collector.

YOU MAY stick to salt cellars all your life and love collecting just them, but it's a safe bet that your taste will change, and you'll be collecting other types of glass.

Don't be surprised if you find you are becoming more discriminating as time goes on, which is what should happen. Everyone should grow with their collection with increased knowledge their tastes are refined.

Naturally, there are fewer and fewer good things left to be found. There have been collectors since time began, and fewer and fewer collectable items of superior quality are being produced, especially for the average person's pocketbook.

But with the shifting fads, sometimes someone will tire of a fine chair or whatnot and it will hit the market, or there will be an estate sale or old family heirlooms may be donated to the local rummage sales.

Here's where it comes in handy to be prepared by reading and studing authentic antiques in magazines and books in your local library. When you see an authentic piece there is a pretty good chance you may recognize it for what it is and no one else will.

DON'T be mislead into thinking that there are no antiques left, because it's been proven that there are still little gems hiding away in someone's barn or old chicken coop, just waiting for the likes of you when you're lucky enough to recognize it.

Remember also, most dealers specialize usually in what they like and collect themselves. They may be very knowledgeable about these things, but may know little or nothing about things outside of their own interests.

This is where you and I, if we're lucky, may come across a rare plate, sandwich glass tumbler, chair, or what have you, that he will be honest enough to say, he just does not know anything about.

The current rage is the new antiques, objects of lasting value from 1890-1925. Now is the time to start collecting the good things from this period before they become rare and impossible to find.

Frankly, as little as two years ago dealers were turning thumbs down on "Victorian." Now try to find a good Victorian chair in usable condition within the average collector's price range. But notice how popular they are in the current home decorating magazines.

THE PRESENT trend seems to be the nouveau art and art glass of the 20's. Whether it will last remains to be seen, but where else can collectors go to meet the demand.

There is still a lot unrecognizable examples of this art in shops candle sticks, brush and comb sets. Some of the loveliest work of this period, are the pins and brooches, shoe buckles, also bracelets and rings.

The detail and craftmanship on some of the teapots and cream and sugar sets is unbelieveably lovely.

HOW DO YOU start looking and where do you go? First, I'd suggest going to some of the local shows sponsored by the local women's clubs. The latest ones have been outstanding in their displays and collections.

Go to these, see what is being shown, and ask questions. What is currently the vogue with collectors is usually the most prominently displayed. Pick up the pieces, feel them, look at the labels, hold glass to the light.

If it's furniture, inspect the workmanship, the patina of the wood, and to see if there are cracks, breaks, and replacements. Inspect it well, they will respect you for your thoroughness.

This is the only way to learn but BEWARE, handle with care and appreciation, because if you break or chip it-it's yours. You've bought it.

LAST, BUT most important are antiques worth investing your money in? Reliable sources maintain that antiques increase in value about 10 per cent each year.

What better way to build something for the future. If your husband is still in doubt let him let price an oil painting or Belter chair produced during the last 100 years. After that, you may have lots of company during your next antiquing trips.

(Another article about antiques will appear next week in The Day.)

Wayside Breakfast Thurs.

Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Woman's Club will hold its annual communion breakfast Thursday, June 6 in the junior high auditorium following the 9:15 a.m. mass. The Rev. Harold T. O'Hara, spiritual director, will install officers for the coming year.

New officers elected at the May meeting are Mrs. Kendrick Renz, president; Mrs. William Kivlahan, 2d vice president; Mrs. Richard Strain, treasurer. Outgoing officers are Mrs. Joseph Thompson, president; Mrs. John Knauf, 2d vice president; Mrs. Arthur Olsen, treasurer. Mrs. John Eichman, 2d vice president and Mrs. James Stump, secretary are beginning a second year in office.

Tickets may be purchased from all officers and committee chairmen.

3 From Area In 'Tom Jones'

Three area residents are included in the cast of "Tom Jones" being presented June 4 - 22 at Mill Run Playhouse, Niles.

PWP Topic

A panel discussion on "Remarriage of Single Parents" will be featured at the next meeting of Parents Without Partners, Chapter 168. The meeting will take place Friday, June 7 at 8:15 p.m. in the Knights of Columbus Hall, 15 N. Hickory, Arlington Heights.

On the panel will be two couples with a total of six children: Bob and Joyce Novak, married two years; and Bill and Dottie Bissell, married one year. All are former members of Chapter 168. Jan Hauser will moderate.

The discussion will include courtship, dating, the acceptance of the children, financial arrangements and the joys of family unity once again. Written questions from the audience will be answered. Coffee and cake will be served, following the discussion.

Membership in PWP is open to all qualified single parents. For information, write PWP, Inc. P.O. Box 472, Palatine, or call 358-2465.

Dialogue

... with George Hamilton

"Now that the primary election campaign is heating up under the glare of TV lights, I'm having second thoughts about giving out the Dialogue Obfuscation Award to selected candidates."

"The what?"

"Oh, I forgot. You're new here. The Dialogue Obfuscation Award is given to people who manage to do an expert job of confusing the issue."

"And you don't think any of the candidates have accomplished that?"

"Quite the opposite. They're all doing it. And what good is an award if everyone has one?"

"I don't know. But what makes you think the candidates are confusing the issue?"

"Well, take the TV debate Saturday between Senators Robert F. Kennedy and Eugene J. McCarthy.

"Kennedy said that if he is elected, he will continue with the peace negotiation in Paris."

"What's wrong with that?"

"If you don't think about it, it doesn't sound bad at all. But when you realize that the next President will take office nearly eight months from now, it means Kennedy expects the peace talks to drag on for at least that long."

"Maybe he didn't mean it that way."

"Perhaps not, but he deserves an obfuscation award for it. And McCarthy shouldn't be left out. He said the best way to solve the problems of the ghettos is to move the Negroes to the suburbs."

"How does he plan to to that?"

"He didn't say. But it certainly does help to obscure the path to a practical solution of the problem. And then former Ambassador George F. Kennan, who isn't a candidate, I think, did his part in the obfuscation race.

"Kennan said we should have a new foreign policy of 'withdrawal, abstention and dignified silence,' but we shouldn't return to isolationism, although 'others can now do without us.'"

"I don't get it."

"Good. Then he gets an award, also. And then we have presidential candidate Hubert Humphrey. The other day he proposed a 'Youth's Bill of Rights.'

"This would include a larger participation in the various institutions, including universitities they belong to; assuring the right to a college education and providing larger opportunities to serve the community."

"That ought to get the support of the younger generation."

"Until they realize Humphrey may have proposed compulsory attendance in the classrooms, the outlawing of dropouts and a broadening of compulsory service, like maybe the draft?"

Day by Day

Monday Morning

By Catherine O'Donnell

It was a far from dull Monday morning. yesterday. Over on S. Walnut a woman allowed a strange man who showed proper credentials for a frozen food company into her home and he threatened her with a gun. She screamed loudly enough to scare him away and attract the attention of her neighbors who alerted the police who came very quickly.

The man disappeared into the bright sunshine. And over on the north side. the neighbors in the area of N. Chestnut and Clarendon are waiting for the first house to slide into the mammoth hole that is appearing on Clarendon right where the sewers were laid last fall.

On Saturday morning a hole appeared that was one-foot in diameter -- estimate by an observer --

On Sunday morning, the hole was three feet wide and on Monday the village put barricades around a six-foot-wide hole.

DISGUISE

For the family and friends of Lynn Jessen the recent weeks have been spent trying. That is they are all trying to help Lynn decide which color hair becomes her the most.

Lynn is playing Anne in the Best Off Broadway production of the "King and I."

For the role, director Richard Tyler thought he would like her hair to be different than its usual brunette so that it would contrast with the black hair of the majority of the cast member.

Lynn started out with strawberry blonde, switched to golden red, went on to a "red, red, red" and settled on a medium auburn. The fall has been bought to match that color so Lynn will glow on the Friday, June 14 opening night.

THE PAISLEY CONVERTIBLE

Gertrude Gettings, who does the publicity for the Old Orchard Country Club Theatre is quick to point out that the forthcoming production of "The Paisley Convertible" is not aimed at the psychedelic set.

The convertible in the play is not one of those automobiles painted with flowers. It is a couch that can be converted to a bed.

The new play will open on Wednesday, June 12. Director is Norman Rice who lives in Rolling Meadows. Norm is also playing a role in "Convertible."

One of the female leads is played by Faith Quabius who, when she is not acting, is the wife of Rick of Riccardo's Restaurant on Rush Street...

Meanwhile, Dennis Kennedy is brightening the evenings with his performance in "Luv" which will close this weekend. Dennis, who is Harry Berlin in the play, nearly didn't make one night's performance. He had a bad case of the flu. No one dared ask the audience if there was a doctor in the house but he did get through the evening.

"The show always goes on at Old Orchard," Gert pointed out.

THE GRADUATES

It takes a certain amount of non-planning to run out of gas in a parking lot. To be a brand new graduate of high school and run out of gas in the parking lot of O'Hare Airport could only happen to young Day photographer Bob Richardson, who seems to be present wherever the action is.

Bob took his friend, Pete Karlovitz along with him when he was sent to photograph the Scout Jamboree. That task completed, they drove into the airport parking lot for another picture. That's when they discovered the car was out of gas.

"There's supposed to be five minute service," Bob cheerfully explained, "but it took two-and-a-half hours for us to get moving again. But it certainly was interesting."

They waited for the service truck from the Valet Park in the booth and while they waited -- a man came and said he had left the keys of his car in the trunk of his Cadillac and didn't have a spare one -- another man had left his lights on the Thursday before when he left town and the battery was dead -- a police car had a flat tire -- (Bob enjoyed telling that because the policeman didn't change the tire but sent for the service truck) -- another car needed a new transmission.

Fine Distinction On Social Behavior

When does civil disobedience become civil lawlessness? There are five criteria for judging, according to Dr. Philip Rhinelander, professor of philosophy and humanities at Stanford.

1. The issue should be one of serious moral question; there should be no question of personal gain or personal grievance.

2. All legal means to remedy the complaint should be exhausted before civil disobedience is tried.

3. The moral issue should be positive; the aim should be to awaken the public to the need for legal reform.

4. A person engaged in civil disobedience should be willing to take the penalty if he fails. "This is the best evidence that you are sincere. There must be a distinction between an effort at reform and an effort at revolution."

5. Resistance must be nonviolent. "Civil disobedience rests on the notion of reform that is not motivated y hostility toward the other side...it must be regarded as an act of persuasion, not intimidation."

These criteria make the difference between a Dr. Spock, who willingly offered himself as a test case of the legality of the Vietnam war, and those who seem to think that a little bit of right on their side justifies any kind of behavior.

Using these criteria, few of the campus outbreaks in recent weeks would qualify as legitimate civil disobedience. One things of the Columbia University rioters, who demanded amnesty for their hoodlumism, or the students at Ohio University who threw rocks at the president's house because summer vacation was postponed a week.

DOCTOR SAYS

Child Should Outgrow Bad Dreams, Night Terrors

W. G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

A mother writes that her daughter 3, has been crying out in her sleep almost every night. Night terrors in children are most often seen between the ages of 3 and 8. These children are often nervous and high-strung or sickly. The most important steps a parent can take are to make the child's waking environment as calm as possible and, with the help of a pediatrician, get her in good physical condition. When she cries out at night the mother should go to her, get her to tell what was frightening her, then reassure her that it was all a bad dream and that everything is all right. With this treatment the child should outgrow these spells in time.

Q--My 18-month-old son was born with a divided spine. What causes this? Would a second child be likely to have the same defect?

A--When the right and left halves of the vertebral column fail to fuse at some point the child is born with spina bifida or a divided spine. The severity of the condition varies widely depending on several factors. The defect is fairly common but the chances that a second child would have this condition are remote.

Q--My 18-month-old son gets bloodshot eyes from time to time. What causes this?

A--The most common cause is infection. If the inflammation accompanies a head cold it will clear up as the cold goes away. If he has no cold, allergy is a possibility. Soap in his eyes is another. You should consult your pediatrician to determine the exact cause so that the proper treatment can be prescribed.

Q--Two of my six children like to eat dirt. Is this harmful? Do they lack some vitamin or element of nutrition?

A--Maybe they have heard the old wives' tale that every child must eat a peck of dirt and they want to get it over with. This is not a good idea, however, because who can tell what germs or poison may be present in a random sample of dirt? A lack of iron is a more likely cause than a lack of vitamin. Iron dextran complex (Imferon) or iron sorbitol citric acid (Jectofer) have cured many children who have a bizarre taste for dirt due to an iron deficiency. Both drugs require a doctor's prescription.

Q--My son is taking Maolate for muscle pain. Does it have any bad side effects? Is liver extract a form of iron?

A--Chlorphenesin carbamate (Maolate) may cause drowsiness, dizziness, nausea, insomnia and headache. It is more expensive than aspirin but is not believed to be any more effective in relieving pain.

The Game of The Day

Giants Whack Pirates

Bubbling with excitement as he takes over at third base in the fifth inning, and maybe dreaming a little of helping the Pirates to win over the Giants, Dickie Duel awaits John Caruso's next pitch. Duel saw some traffic come his way as two Giant runners got to third and beyond, but the little third sacker, who barely came up to the belts of some of the Giant players, wasn't able to help in the field as he handled no chances. (Photos by Bob Richardson)

John Caruso hurled six innings for the Pirates against three pitchers used by the Giants, but still lost the decision. Facing some pretty big opponents, Caruso breezed eight of them and allowed only one walk.

BY LINDA GAMMILL

In the bubblegum wad, peanuts - in - the - pockets, baseballs-lost-in-the-grass world of Boys' Baseball, the Giants of the National division of the Arlington Heights Major League snatched an 8-6 win from the clutches of the Pirates Monday evening.

A four-run rally in the last inning did the trick for the Giants, who had to come from behind through the whole game. The Giants bounced Pirate hurler John Caruso around for 14hits, five for extra bases.

BUT CARUSO pitched better than the box score would indicate, striking out eight batsmen while walking just one.

The Pirates started out in command as they put their first six men on base. After Paul Hacker singled and was forced at second by Mark Petersen, Pat Scherrer bounced one to second base for an error, leaving two men on. Ron Sesterhenn singled the runners along, and Caruso doubled the first two runners in.

A walk and two stolen bases could have paved the way for more scoring adventures by the Pirates, but Jeff Louis struck out to end the inning.

The Giants didn't get rolling until the third, but when they hit, they hit hard. Back-to-back triples by big first baseman Guy Eisenhuth and shortstop "Tiny" Tim Higgins put the Giants on the scoreboard once, and Bob Adams followed with a single that scored Higgins.

WITH THE SCORE tied, the Pirates immediately scored two more runs in their half of the fourth. Robby Skiera forced Louis at second, but went on to score on Hacker's double. Hacker came in on the same play as his hit rolled by center fielder Phil Aschoff for one error, and a hurried throw from center was errant for a second miscue.

Not to be outdone, the Giants pushed over two more runs in the fifth, giving themselves another momentary tie. Jim Wilson banged a double, and Eisenhauth followed with a single, Wilson coming home. A bunt single by Wilkinson drove Eisenhuth in, knotting the score again, 4-4.

Once more the Pirates rallied to the occasion with their final two tallies. The first man up in the fifth inning, Steve Lear, blooped a single to center and moved to scoring position on a safety by Caruso. Ted Bialek then came to the plate for the first time and clobbered a long, two-run triple.

CARUSO RETIRED the first two Giant batters in the sixth, but Terry Keehan singled over second baseman Petersen's head, and two more singles, one by Wilson and one by Eisenhuth, gave the Giant first baseman two more RBI's and tied the score once more, this time at 6-6.

The Pirates went down in order in the bottom of the sixth with Wilson throwing just seven relief pitches in the inning to preserve the 8-6 win for Wilkinson.

He may have had his eyes closed, but "Tiny" Tim Higgins belted two triples Monday and drove in two runs to help the Giants of the Arlington Heights Little League shackle the Pirates, 8-6. Higgins figured decisively in the four-run last-inning explosion that put the Giants on top to stay.

Mark Petersen, Pirate second baseman, finds out what it's like to be on the other end of a force play as he slides into second. Petersen was safe on an error by Giant second-sacker Terry Keehan.

'Game of Day' Series Opens This Week

With area boys' baseball programs getting up steam, this week The Day begins a new series, The Game of The Day.

The series will spotlight a game chosen from the Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Rolling Meadows, Waycinden, Wheeling, or other area programs.

There'll be complete coverage: stories, box scores, and pictures. And as many teams as possible will be included, from instructional to "major" leagues.

BY RALPH NOVAK

Three opposition errors, a home run by Bill Erdmann, and Bob Artemenko's pitching carried the Des Plaines American Legion Post 36 to a 4-1 win over Logan Square of Chicago Monday at Forest View High School's field.

ARTEMENKO, ACE of Mid-Suburban League champion Elk Grove, pitched a three-hitter and struck out 10 as the 36ers, mostly Forest View players, made up for a 4-2 loss to Crystal Lake in their 1968 opener Sunday.

For Logan Square, a collection of St. Viator and Arlington athletes nicknamed the Lions, it was the first game of the legion season and a rough way to start.

Logan Square out-hit Des Plaines, three to two. But three errors by third baseman John Wendell and Erdmann's homer, a two-run shot down the left field line, saddled Lion starter Mike O'Donnell with a four-run deficit in the third inning.

Other than Erdmann's homer, Coach Herb Hildebrandt's 36ers had only Bill Teichert's two-out single in the second after Randy Weaver reached base on an error.

BUT WENDELL threw wildly to first after fielding George Bauer's grounder starting the Des Plaines third and fired another shot that second baseman Mike Abinanti couldn't handle as he covered first on Kent Koentopp's bunt.

Although the runners stayed on first and third as John Caltagirone flew out to short left, Wendell threw high to first on Tom Bartlett's smash and Lion first baseman Brian Rooney could only knock the ball down, Bauer scoring.

Teichert, who walked starting the fourth, was the 36ers' only baserunner against Abainanti and Steve Snyder, who finished up on the mound for Logan Square.

ARTEMENKO DIDN'T need any more help, however. He retired 14 hitters in a row after Bill Madden started the game with a single, then escaped a jam by striking out Wendell after Abinanti and Jim Hynes singled with two out in the fifth.

The Lions finally broke through in the sixth, Bob Batchelor starting the inning by walking and stealing second. Artemenko scooped up O'Donnell's bunt and threw him out at first, but Erdmann, who took the throw, pegged the ball past Bartlett at third and Batchelor scored.

After that the rangy Artemenko retired five in a row with an assist from Caltagirone, who went deep into the hole at short to throw out Steve Smith in the seventh.

AGAINST CRYSTAL Lake, Teichert went the distance in a nine-inning game, allowing 11 hits. Des Plaines knocked out seven hits drew four walks, and reached base twice on errors, but left 10 runner on.

The 36ers didn't score until the ninth, when Gary Kelly and Bauer walked with one out, Kelly scored on Teichert's single, and Bauer came home on Koentopp's fielder's choice after a single by Tony Lanzaratta loaded the bases.

Des Plaines' next game is at Morton Grove Sunday at 2 p.m., while Logan Square takes on Skokie at St. Viator at 6 p.m. this evening.

'Outdoor Lab' At Audubon Camp

If you're 18 years old or over, and the great outdoors is your "bag," then the "outdoor laboratory" in natural history called the Audubon Camp in the lake country of northern Wisconsin is for you.

Operated by the National Audubon Society, the study workshop will open its fourteenth season at the 330-acre sanctuary on the south shore of Devil's Lake, 117 miles northeast of Minneapolis.

Four sessions of the two-week course are scheduled, the first starting June 30, the last ending Aug. 24.

THE CAMP'S particular popularity derives from the teachers, youth organizations leaders and professionals seeking to know more about the natural world around us.

Many school systems allow in-service credit or other recognition for completion of the course, and adults predominate although no technical background is required and the 18-year minimum age limit allows sincere younger students a fine chance to expand their knowledge.

Field trips on foot or by canoe allow any one attending the two-week course to explore the rocks, soils, plants, birds and animals of the area's forests, bogs, lakes, and prairies, and learn about the inter-relationships between living things and their environment.

SCHOLARSHIPS to send teachers to the natural history workshop are offered by some local branches of the Audubon Society and garden clubs, natural history groups, and other organizations affiliated with the national movement, including conservation workers.

Teachers who attended previous sessions attest that the experience in the outdoor laboratory has added new dimensions to their own courses, as well as provided new enthusiasm to be passed on to their pupils.

Details on the courses are available by writing to Camp Dept., National Audubon Society, 613 Riversville Rd., Greenwich, Conn. 06830.

Contestants To Be Guests

International Teen Princess contestants "Teen Princess South Africa" and "Teen Princess Philippines" will be guests of Eileen Doelman of Park Ridge, one of the Chicago Teen Princess finalists. They also will be guests of teen guides Resa Marsh, 1608 Dogwood, Mount Prospect, and Jenny Kwist of Des Plaines.

The pageant is sponsored by the Walgreen Drug Stores and Montgomery Ward and Co. in co-operation with the Hilton Hotel Corp. Station WCFL is the radio host and the Chicago Kiwanis, the civic host.

In 'Tom Jones'

Pippa Scott is Jenny Jones in the Mill Run Playhouse production of "Tom Jones" beginning tonight and playing through June 23. James Darran, Gigi Perreau and Reginald Gardiner also star in the rollicking comedy based on the Fielding novel.

Secretaries Annual Banquet Is Tomorrow

Park-Plaines Chapter of The National Secretaries Association (International) will hold its annual banquet at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow at The Maitre D' Restaurant, 111 E. Higgins Rd., Elk Grove Village. Highlights of the evening will be installation of officers and presentation of the annual scholarship award.

Mrs. Marian E. Johnson, recording secretary of NSA's Illinois Division, will install the following officers for the 1968-69 season: Audrey Raasch, president; Stacey Kanellis, recording secretary, and Joanne Larson, CPS, treasurer, all of Mount Prospect; Oliver Schumacher, vice president, of Des Plaines, and Ruth Pielin of Wheeling as corresponding secretary.

The presentation of the scholarship award will be made by Mrs. Louise Kitto, chairman, to some deserving high school senior girl who has applied for this scholarship and been interviewed by a three-member panel of judges.

Banquet co-chairmen are Adeline Cicmmons and Roberta Conley. For reservations, call Miss Conley 827-6646 during business hours.

All secretaries are invited, particularly those from northwest Chicago, Park Ridge, Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Palatine, Barrington and the surrounding area.

Woman's Bd. To Sponsor Ravinia Concert

A concert by Ramsey Lewis and his trio at Ravinia Park will be sponsored by the Woman's Board of St. Leonard's House on July 19. Cocktails and a box supper will be served under a canopy at 6:30 p.m., followed by the concert at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets will be sold in three categories: reserved seat and box supper; gate admission and box supper; and gate admission only. Deadline for all reservations is July 15.

Chairman for reservations and tickets is Mrs. Herbert Grassiy, 249 Slade St., Palatine. General chairman is Mrs. Robert R. Schmidt, 5 Old Hunt Rd., Northbrook.

Proceeds from the event will benefit St. Leonard's House, a social agency of the Chicago Diocese of the Episcopal Church working for the rehabilitation of ex-convicts and drug addicts.

The "House of Kleen" will open a facility within the next two weeks on the Des Plaines-Mount Prospect border. The cleaning operation, located on the east side of Elmhurst Rd. between Algonquin Rd. and Dempster St., will offer a variety of personal and car care services. Included are a 17-minute coin laundry, a 14-minute coin dry cleaning, and two-hour shirt laundry, professional dry cleaning service and an automatic car wash. "House of Kleen" will be open 16 hours a day (7 a.m. to 11 p.m.) seven days a week. Ample parking will be provided.

Reception For Mrs. Ogilvie

The public is invited to attend a reception for Mrs. Richard Ogilvie, wife of one of the Republican candidates for governor, between 2 and 4 p.m. June 5 in the newly opened Republican headquarters, 1 N. Slade St. (old bank building) in Palatine.

Mrs. Gale Bachmann is in charge of the reception.

Jerry Bishop Here Thursday

If you know the "secret word" Thursday, radio station WCFL personality Jerry G. Bishop will give you four bottles of Coca-Cola's new, resealable half-quarts at one of two Jewel food stores in Arlington Heights.

Bishop will broadcast a "secret word" during his program, 5 a.m. to 9 a.m. Thursday. Then he will make an appearance at 10:30 a.m. at the Jewel supermarket at Rt. 58 and Arlington Heights Rd. and the store at 122 N. Vail St. an hour later.

Horoscope

FOR WEDNESDAY

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) — A day of romance for the Gemini who wishes it so. Don't give your heart away to the first comer, however.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) — Today's events should reflect in miniature what is to come. Trends of the past may well disappear from view in a hurry.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) — You can really make your mark in the home community at this time if you play your cards right. Make no effort to take over.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) — Useful activities should mark the day a success for you. Don't be surprised if what you expected least from turns out most rewarding.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) — An apology from you could turn the tide insofar as a fading friendship is concerned. Consider your future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) — Domestic duties and employment responsibilities must share first place on the agenda today. Don't slight any of them.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) — A few moments should be enough to make this day worth remembering. Keep a friendship alive through diplomacy.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — Where a word or two is sufficient, don't belabor others with a speech. Get your points across succinctly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) — When your own conceptions of things crystallize in your mind you will be able to explain them to others — not before.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 21) — It is impossible for you to help another if you don't understand his problem thoroughly. Take the time to see things clearly.

ARIES (Mar. 22 - Apr. 20) — Undertake each duty as if it were the only one you had. Only in such a way will you be able to do well by all of them.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21) — Stick to matters that concern you personally or professionally. Otherwise, keep out of things. A good day for your own business.

Commuters Shocked By Kennedy Shooting

'It's a Terrible Thing ... Where Are We Going?'

Sen. Robert Kennedy's friends and foes in the northwest suburbs today, shared a sense of shock at the shooting of the New York Democrat last night in Los Angeles.

Most interviewed by a reporter also expressed fear that assassinations and attempted assassinations indicate something deeply is wrong in the nation.

"It's a terrible thing to take a man's life for his political views," said Doug Rathery of 1900 Knightsbridge Dr., Mount Prospect. "But it seems to be a thing that's done these days."

"I was very shocked," said Leo Hunter of 940 Chestnut, Arlington Heights. "I'm on the other side of the political fence and I wonder if we aren't inviting this sort of thing with some of the Supreme Court decisions we've had lately. A policeman can't fix this kind of a problem."

M. VAN Beckhout, 403 W. Shabbonee, Mount Prospect, who shared Hunter's opposition to Kennedy as a candidate, also said he deplored the shooting.

"I wasn't for the man," he said, "but this is no way to do things. There's no reason for it. There's no reason to kill anybody like that or to try to kill anybody like that."

"I just think it's terrible that our candidates aren't safe any more," said Mrs. Oliver Grey of 817 N. Yale, Arlington Heights.

"I think they're really brave men for running and very bad for our country that this has happened."

"WHERE THIS country is goint is what I'm worried about," said Ed Moore of 602 S. Yale, Arlington Heights. "Marches, campus uprisings, riots, shootings -- where are we going?"

Dolores Herion of 2 N. Emerson, Mount Prospect, expressed concern that the shooting of Kennedy would damage the United States' image throughout the world.

"I don't know what's happening to our people," she said. "We're supposed to be setting an example for other nations. This won't help us do that. I'm just sick and disgusted."

SOME RESIDENTS drew parallels between the shooting of Robert Kennedy and the assassination of his brother, President John F. Kennedy, 4½ years ago.

"I guess my reaction is just like that of a lot of people," William Keil of 2410 Brandenberry Ct., Arlington Heights, said. "You just can't know what will happen next. It happens now just like it did in 1963. It's the craziest thing."

"It brings back a lot of memories of the first Kennedy," said Joseph Fumo of 1203 Sunset, Mount Prospect.

"NOBODY IS safe any more. The candidates aren't safe and I don't think the next president of the United States is going to feel very safe, either."

Paul Bell of the Arlington Heights News Agency, 200 W. Campbell, said he believes the shooting has helped bring Democrats and Republicans closer together.

"I'm not a Democrat," he said, "but I think this has helped erase some of the differences between the two parties. I feel now that Kennedy is one with me and I'm one with him. I could say at one time that I didn't like him, but now I do like him."

Barb Nelson of 1231 N. Mitchell, Arlington Heights, a worker for Sen. Eugene McCarthy, the Minnesota Democrat who was Kennedy's chief rival in the primaries, also said she was shocked.

"I've been really involved, working for Sen. McCarthy, so I think I've come to know what can happen. What will happen now depends on the outcome of the operation--on whether there will be brain damage."

THE THOUGHTS of some residents turned to the Kennedy family, which had lost two sons before the shooting last night: the assassination of John Kennedy in 1963 and the death of Joseph Kennedy in a 1944 plane crash.

"I think of his mother and all she's had to suffer," said Mrs. Barbara Parkhad of 703 Ironwood Dr., Mount Prospect. "Three of her sons have served their country -- two of these men have been killed and now another has been shot. How much can a family take?"

SOME RESIDENTS, like Bill Stout of 341 S. Newberry, Arlington Heights, said they were shocked but not totally surprised, at the news of the assassination attempt.

"This sort of thing isn't new in this country," Stout said. "We've had presidents and others assassinated before. So I don't think the country is going completely to pot like a lot of people seem to believe. There's a lot of hysteria associated with a thing like this."

FEW PERSONS suggested ways to cut down on violence in the United States, but Deran Hussissian of 2020 S. Forest, Palatine, said that a stricter gun registration law could help.

"I'm a hunter, myself," Hussissian said, "but I still think a strict gun law would help cut down on things like this. It could be an important factor."

Thoughts of answers were lost in the initial shock of the shooting. Ron Revers, 3 W. Lonnquist, Mount Prospect summed it up:

"It's just tragic, that's all. It's a shame we have to live in a world where this sort of thing can happen."

$2.8 Million Park Referendum Set

BY MAXINE TYMA

A $2.8 million bond referendum for the development of new parks and improvements to existing parks will be held July 27 by the Arlington Heights Park District.

Last night a "Citizen's Committee For the Park Referendum -- 1968" was formed and Dr. Edward J. Jacobs was named chairman.

Park district officials endorsed the majority of recommendations of the Citizen's Park Advisory Council and accepted the council's recommendations of the sites to be included in the referendum.

Dr. Jacobs was chairman of the subcommittee on recreational priorities for the council, which selected the sites for development.

Six new parks, the improvement of five existing parks, the construction of three outdoor swimming pools and the construction of an indoor swimming pool at Arlington High School will be included in the development project.

A new item, not recommended by the council, but endorsed by it, is the proposed addition of a teen center to the swimming pool building at the high school.

A ROOM has been proposed for use as a teen center in the partial basement of the building. Charles B. Cronin, president of the board of park commissioners, said that teenagers would be allowed to use the facility and improve it according to their needs and ambitions.

"They need a place that they can call their own and one that they can work for," he said.

Cronin proposed the idea of the teen center at a meeting with council representatives prior to the referendum committee meeting.

More than 20 residents attended the meeting to form the referendum committee.

"While no definite budget was recommended by the council, we feel we should keep this at the $2.8 million level," Cronin told the group.

A chart illustrating the tax increase, if the referendum is successful, indicates that a home assessed at $8,000 would have a yearly tax increase of $8.80; a home assessed at $10,000 would have a tax increase of $11, and a home with an assessed valuation of $12,000 would have a tax increase of $13.20.

Cronin then asked for questions on the development program.

"How are you going to pay for operating the new facilities?" a resident asked.

CRONIN SAID the park officials had included some funds in the present budget, anticipating a successful referendum, and said he is "not too concerned" with the financing of the recreation programs.

Another resident asked, "What, if anything, has been done to resolve the access problem between Greenbrier and Hasbrook?"

In the last unsuccessful referendum in August, 1967, the fact that residents of the Hasbrook area would have to cross Palatine Rd. to get to the Greenbrier Park was a major issue. At that time, residents urged the park district to work for the installation of an overpass for the safe crossing of the children.

Cronin said that stop lights now are in operation at Palatine and Kennicott and that the park district would hire a crossing guard for the intersection.

"Is that an assurance?" the resident asked.

"Yes, I think we can assure that," replied Cronin.

Assuming the chairmanship of the committee, Dr. Jacobs appointed chairmen to four major committees to "sell" the referendum to the public.

"This is going to be a hard-working committee. I would prefer that you say 'no' to an appointment rather than not to do the job the way you would like to do it," Jacobs said.

DICK FERREE and Keith Merckx were appointed co-chairmen of the "Personel Contact" committee to arrange for neighborhood coffees, a door-to-door campaign, a telephone campaign and a speaker's bureau.

Roger Burke was named chairman of an "Organization Contact" committee. His co-chairmen are The Rev. Edward [illegible] for churches, James Ewart for schools and Ron Riba and Paul Meford for homeowners associations.

The entire referendum committee plans to meet June 18 to present preliminary progress reports.

Dr. Edward J. Jacobs, (right) was named chairman of the "Citizen's Committee for the Park Referendum -- 1968" last night. He confers with Roger Burke, who was appointed a committee chairman by Dr. Jacobs. Both were chairmen of subcommittees for the Citizen's Park Advisory Council whose recommendations formed the basis for the $2.8 million referendum planned by the Arlington Heights Park District.

Chicago Man Charged in Assault on Woman

By Charles Mouratides

LeRoy Watts, alias Louis Donaldson, reportedly an agent for Freeze-Bank of Forest Park, was charged with aggravated battery by Mrs. Patricia Farmer of 1129 S. Walnut.

On the strength of the complaint, Village President John G. Woods yesterday revoked the local business license of Freeze-Bank, a firm selling frozen meats and vegetables.

Watts, who reportedly was driving a stolen automobile at the time of his arrest, also was charged with car theft by Phillip Pedl of Forest Park.

According to police records, Mrs. Farmer Monday morning opened the door of her house to a man who presented himself as an agent of Freeze-Bank and who wanted her to sign a service card.

THE FARMERS had an account with Freeze-Bank. Mrs. Farmer said she recognized the man at the door as the employe who had delivered the foodstuffs for the firm on May 24.

She told police she left him outside the house while signing the card, but, when she re-opened the door, he attempted to force his way into the house.

She said she pushed him out and screamed for help. The man, according to police, drew a gun and said "I ought to kill you ..."

He then ran to his car and drove away.

Mrs. Farmer copied the license number of the car.

Mrs. Farmer reported the incident to the police, giving a description of the man.

Arlington Heights Police contacted James Mc Mahon, vice president of Freeze-Bank, and Vincent Tortorica, manager, who asked their employes to report early Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Farmer failed to identify her assailant from among the employes who reported early, but the man who according to the firm's records had made the May 24 delivery was absent.

The man then was identified as Louis Donaldson. The license number copied by Mrs. Farmer was registered to an auto stolen May 31. It reportedly belongs to Pedl.

Chicago Police traced Watts to 75th Street and Cottage Grove in Chicago where they spotted the automobile and arrested him.

THEY DELIVERED Watts to Forest Park police, who, in turn, notified Detectives Lt. Maurice English and Sgt. Harold Hildebrandt of Arlington Heights.

Watts last night was identified by Mrs. Farmer as her assailant, according to police.

Commenting on the revocation of license, Woods said, "We are moving in an effort to protect our community."

Watts last night was held on a $5,000 bond for the aggravated battery charge and on a $3,500 bond for the auto theft charge.

No court date has been set for Mrs. Farmer's complaint. Court date for the auto theft charge was set for June 7 at 10 a.m. in Forest Park.

Search for Man Who Disappeared Friday

BY BETSY BROOKER

"He just vanished," said his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edward Karnatz, 833 Ellis St., Palatine.

"When I woke up and saw him, I thought he was going downstairs. I got up and checked and couldn't find him in the house. We looked outside and couldn't see him."

Finally, at 5 a.m., we called the police."

The Palatine police department and the Cook County Sheriff's Office have been on the case for four days and have found no traces of the man, Henry Karnatz.

Sheriff's police, aided by dogs, searched the area at Quentin and Ellis Friday morning. Swamps are located two blocks west of the house and wooded fields are two blocks to the east.

"We've had almost 40 persons here, friends and relatives, all weekend searching," said Mrs. Karnatz.

"I think his mind may have just snapped," said Mrs. Karnatz.

Karnatz had been living with his son for only three weeks. He had lived alone in Fox Lake.

"HE WAS happy to move in with us. We visited his old home over Memorial weekend and he wanted to come back with us again," said Mrs. Karnatz.

Over the weekend, the police called Karnatz's friends at his old address and all of his relatives, but no one had heard from him.

Search parties have been sent to cover the area between Palatine Rd. and Euclid.

Part of the area was covered today by 23 Boy Scouts from Troop 182 of the Palatine Presbyterian Church. The boys, under the direction of troop leaders Ernest Pallme and Richard Larrick, tromped through a square mile of waist-high grass, bushes and creeks. They found nothing.

According to Sgt. Kenneth Jones of the Missing Person's Division of the Sheriff's Office, the police can't do much more. The entire area has been searched.

"The case will be pending until we have a new lead. We will contact all of his friends and relatives again," said Jones.

Boy Scouts of Palatine Troop 182 searched an area near Ellis St. and Quentin Rd. to find a 77-year-old man, Henry Krantz, who has been missing since Friday

Pools, Parks, Playgrounds Included in Referendum

Pools, parks, and playgrounds are planned for the north and south areas of Arlington Heights in the development program for the $2.8 million referendum of the Arlington Heights Park District.

The selection of the sites included for development with the referendum funds was accepted by the board of park commissioners on the recommendation of a subcommittee of the Citizen's Advisory Council.

Dr. Edward J. Jacobs was chairman of the recreational priorities subcommittee that made the site recommendations. Last night he was named chairman of a citizen's committee to promote the referendum.

THE SIX new parks proposed for development are:

-- A community park at Palatine Rd. and Kennicott to serve the Greenbriar and Hasbrook area. The 22.4-acre site would have an outdoor swimming and wading pool, bathhouse and fieldhouse, softball diamond, play equipment area, storage area and maintenance garage, landscaped area for passive recreation and multiple-use paved area.

-- A community park at Pickwick Dr. and Fernandez to serve the Surrey Ridge and Realcoa subdivision area. The 27.3-acre site is adjacent to the Juliette Low school. The school building will be used for the recreation program. Facilities will include an outdoor swimming and wading pool and bathhouse, athletic field, multiple-use paved area, play equipment area and a landscaped area.

-- A community park in the Ivy Hill subdivision at Brighton Pl. and Suffield Dr. Facilities on the 15-acre site will include an outdoor swimming and wading pool, bathhouse and fieldhouse, baseball and softball diamonds, tennis courts, multi-use paved area, play equipment area and a landscaped area for passive recreation.

-- A neighborhood park adjacent to the Edgar Allen Poe School in the Berkley Square subdivision. The school building will be used for the recreation program. Facilities on the total 8-acre site include an athletic field, multiple-use paved area, play equipment area and a landscape area for passive recreation.

-- A neighborhood park at Palatine and Schoenbeck Rds. adjacent to the Elementary School District 23 "campus" complex of schools. Of the total 40 acres of school property, 25 acres can be used for recreation purposes. Proposed facilities include an athletic field, multiple-use paved area, play equipment area and shelter.

-- A neighborhood park on 10 acres in the Pinehurst subdivision at Belmont, White Oak and Douglas. Facilities would include a shelter building, athletic field, multiple-use paved area, play equipment area and a landscaped area for passive recreation.

IMPROVEMENTS on five existing park sites include:

-- The lighting of one ball diamond and improved parking and bleacher seating at Recreation Park at Miner and Douglas.

-- Site development at the Virginia Terrace Park.

In co-operation with High School District 214, the park district plans to construct an indoor swimming pool and outdoor wading pool at Arlington High School. A teen center inside the building also is planned.

More new voters have registered in Wheeling Township than in any other township in the county, according to George McCullom, county election supervisor.

The figures, released late yesterday, indicate that 4,700 new voters have registered in Wheeling Township for the June 11 primary election. The new total gives the township more than 41,000 registered voters.

The upward trend in registrations was reflected throughout the county, according to McCullom, and about 985,000 voters are now registered. McCullom compared this with figures from the 1964 primaries, in which only about 745,000 voters were registered.

Cook County Clerk Edward Barrett said that he has never seen such an interest in an election and noted that "people who haven't voted in 40 years are coming out and registering."

The figures released by the county do not include those casting ballots by mail. Servicemen and invalids are permitted by law to ask for absentee ballots. These applications must be received at the County Building by June 6.

Official's are predicting that about 40 per cent of the county's registered voters will turn out at the polls on June 11.

Meadows Man Found Dead in Car

Chicago police are continuing their investigation into the death of a Rolling Meadows man who was found slumped over the wheel of his auto parked on a north side Chicago street.

The man, Wright Adams, 56, lived at 3602 South Jay Ln. in the suburb. According to Chicago's Shakespeare Av. homicide detectives, he was employed by a Chicago company.

Adams' body was found by a resident who noticed the auto parked several feet from the curb. The resident investigated and saw the form of a man slumped over the wheel of the car.

Detectives conducted a routine investigation and later said that, though they found no evidence of foul play, they are conducting a full investigation into the cause of Adams' death.

Late last night, police said that they have learned that Adams had a history of heart trouble and that it is possible that he suffered a fatal heart attack.

Detectives are awaiting the results of an autopsy to determine if a heart attack caused Adams' death.

Tree Deaths Due to Off-Season Planting

More than 400 trees died here last year and were replaced without additional charge to the village by the man who planted them in 1966.

Carl Klehm, owner of Charles Klehm Nurseries, had been awarded a contract of about $37,000 to plant the trees and guaranteed their free replacement.

This year, about 400 trees have died again, according to Village Manager L. A. Hanson.

"Although Klehm has guaranteed the trees," said Bressler, "I am alarmed because we have already lost two years of growth."

Some new residents, according to the trustee, see the dead trees near their homes and, not knowing of Klehm's contract with the village, replace them at their own expense.

Bressler said the $37,000 is a part of $258,000 the village will have spent by April, 1969, to clean up the tree debris caused by the 1966 tornado and replant dead trees.

Despite repeated attempts by The Day yesterday to contact Klehm, he was not available for comment.

Man Dies Of Crash Injuries

A 70-year old Wheeling man died in Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines as a result of injuries suffered in a traffic accident in Northfield on May 23.

Everett McManaway, of 1034 S. Wolf Rd., struck an auto driven by John Hellgren of McHenry. Hellgren's auto was stopped on Milwaukee Av. for a traffic signal when it was struck by McManaway's car.

Hillgren was not injured in the crash, but McManaway suffered severe head injuries. McManaway is survived by two children: a son, Sidney, and a daughter, Mrs. Ruth Levin. Both live in Wheeling.

Meadows Swim Pool Opens June 16

The Rolling Meadows swimming pool is scheduled to open June 16 with an 80-day schedule through Labor Day.

Season passes will be sold on the following basis: family passes, $20; non-residents family passes, $30; resident child, $8, non-resident child, $12; resident adult, $10; non-resident adult, $15.

The daily general admission fee will be 50 cents for children and $1 for adults. Applications for season passes must be made in person at the Park District Office, 3200 Central Rd.

Special office hours for pool pass sales are: Saturday, June 8, from 9 a.m. to noon; Monday through Friday, June 10 to 14, from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m; Monday, June 10, Wednesday, June 12, and Friday, June 14, from 7 to 9 p.m.; and Saturday, June 15, from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m.

Registration for all swimming programs as well may be made at the Park District. Further information may be obtained by calling 392-4380.

Tires Taken

Dialogue

... with George Hamilton

"Why the puzzled look, A. Constant Reader?"

"I'm baffled by the diametrically opposed findings by experts in the work field."

"We have that all the time in our house. Just when I'm ready for a prolonged siesta in the backyard is the exact moment the wife decides I should get out the lawnmower."

"Not that sort of difference. The mental dither that plagues me is that H. B. Rogers recently told the Royal Society of Health Conference in England that the average Britisher works 46 hours a week.

"Simultaneously, Harold W. Nance of the Serge Birn firm, top management consultants to government, banks, and industry here and abroad, said the latest Birn survey laid it on the line that the average steno or clerk in paperwork factories actually worked only 20 of their average 37.5 work week. One of them must be wrong."

"You're confusing the surveys. The British one doesn't say the islanders are working a full 46 hours, either. See, it says here that 46 hours is their average work week."

"You're right. I didn't see this either: 'The standard official work week is 41 hours for a man, 34 for a woman.' So they're bartering leisure for income."

"That's it. You think they slow down on their work so they can earn more by working overtime?"

"Could be. But that brings up the question of what they do with their leisure time. They seem to work harder to get this leisure than they do enjoying it."

"Now I'm puzzled. You mean they are just a lazy assemblage of loafers?"

"Well, the British survey shows that swimming is the most popular sport, as well as a cheap one, but only one person in 10 went into the water during the year. And only 5 per cent of the lower income groups did any swimming, against 25 per cent of the better paid workers."

"Wouldn't you agree it's hardly cricket to criticize our Anglo-Saxon siblings about their way of life? Maybe they walk the moors or climb high tors or go punting?"

"It's true that lots of them do their overtime right on our soil, uttering the Mersey sound over late TV programs, reciting ancient music - hall japes, modeling Carnaby Street vests or skirts, or just discovering America for the benefit of readers back home."

"Looking at your puzzle from another angle, don't you think our own situation bears a sharper analysis? What about this claim that paperwork shufflers work only 20 out of those 37.5 hours each week?"

"Believe me, the researcher said he had bona fide records on one employe who habitually read, by the hour, paperbacks concealed in his ledger as he posted entries, and an assorted list of work evasions such as facial make-up, girdle adjusting, personal phone calls, and so on."

"You'll agree that doing the boss out of 17.5 hours weekly is more than a fringe benefit, —it's almost half the whole piece of cloth. What remedy do you propose, Anon?"

"A radical one: cut the work week in half. To get their regular work done, workers will then have to keep their shoulder to the wheel, nose to the grindstone, and perform similar calisthenics quite diligently if they want to complete their tasks."

"Do you realize what you're saying?"

"Well, I suppose most of them will never get the work done in just 28 hours."

"And then?"

"Office workers here will probably start acting just like their British cousins."

"You've pinpointed the flaw. They will then demand overtime so they can earn more money so they can enjoy more leisure. Final disaster: they'll never read any kind of book at all on their own time and we'll wind up as a nation of illiterates."

"I think it's terrible about Dr. Spock's trial—there isn't ONE baby on the jury!"

Harper Jr. College to Offer 4-Semester Journalism Course

BY BETSY BROOKER

Illinois' first four semester journalism program will be offered beginning in September at Harper Junior College.

The program will train students for careers in newspapers, radio and television newsrooms, public relations, advertising and publishing. An associate degree in journalism will be offered.

"Employment opportunities seem excellent in this field. Major metropolitan newspapers talk of the shortage of well-trained young newspapermen. Suburban dailies and weeklies continue their phenomenal growth as the suburban, sometimes rural, population turns towards its 'local' press. And, to match that, opportunities are created almost daily in broadcast journalism," said Harper journalism coordinator Henry Roepken.

Graduates from the Harper program probably will not qualify at first for the top positions in the field, but for starting positions such as assistant photo editors, editorial assistants and copy boys, he said.

"I would like to see the program enabling the students to get a good job. Not everyone can be a four-year college graduate.

"We are all influenced by the media," he continued, "we can't escape it. Why not let these people into the field too?"

The Harper students will be trained in a four-semester program that includes eight courses in journalism: fundamentals of journalism, news reporting and writing, feature writing, journalism production, reporting of community affairs, copy reading and editing, radio and TV news and an on-the-job training course.

IN ADDITION, students will be requested to take supplementary courses, such as English and history, to complete a minimum of 15 hours of credit.

The journalism department will continue to print the bi-monthly newspaper, The Harbinger, and the yearbook, the Halycon.

A unique activity that Roepkin started is a monthly news radio broadcast on radio station WCLR. Roepkin moderates the student-oriented newscast for five minutes on the first Sunday of each month.

Roepkin hopes to expand the radio show next year to a bi-monthly broadcast. The journalism program next year also will feature a TV closed circuit system. Students will use three TV cameras to create a TV program.

Scholarship Winners Announced

Winners from Arlington Heights are: from St. Viator, Kenneth M. Dele, 1020 N. Walnut, Joseph J. Delaney Memorial Merit Scholarship, Northwestern University, engineering; Arlington High School, David A. Drachman, 825 N. Patton, United States Gypsum Co. Merit Scholarship, University of Illinois, psychology; Prospect High School, Robert J. Link, 2106 E. St. James Ct., Schering Corp. Merit Scholarship, University of Miami, psychology.

From Mount Prospect: Forest View, Kris D. Knudsen, National Merit $1,000 Scholarship, Allied Stores Foundation, Northwestern University, prelaw; Prospect High School, Owen E. Mac Bride, 303 S. Emerson, National Merit Scholarship, University of Michigan, major undecided; Jill L. Olsen, 709 Lama Ct., eighth Maiden Lane Foundation, University of Colorado, liberal arts.

Bees—No Birds

By Catherine O'Donnell

It looked like an outdoor meeting of the Audubon Society over on See-Gwun avenue in Mount Prospect early last Sunday morning.

All eyes were focused on the Oscar Mayer home. One neighbor even used a pair of binoculars.

The strange happening was not exactly in the home, but on the lowest branch of a purple plum tree about four feet from the picture window.

The tree had been invaded by thousands of bees and no one knew what to do about thousands of bees on a Sunday morning, except to look. For the entire day, it was difficult to distinguish the human buzzing from the bee buzzing.

Oscar took over on Monday morning and called an expert from the Honeybee Farms. The expert said to let the bees alone -- they would swarm off when they were ready. No one had any other thought. And it happened just that way: they left just as they arrived -- suddenly.

On Monday, the new neighborhood bee experts were still buzzing about the bees.

ACROSS THE STREET

The Dick Becker family of See-Gwun could hardly concentrate on the bees across the street they were so enchanted with the new arrival in their house: the cutest miniature poodle of all time, whose name is Venus.

Venus is guaranteed to keep 12-year-old Joy and her big brother, Richard, a high school freshman, occupied all summer. That is, if they can get her away from their parents.

YOU ARE INVITED

A luncheon was to be held this afternoon in the home of Marge Carter of W. George in Arlington Heights, to kick off a recruitment drive for one of the most unselfish organizations in the area: the Women's League for United Cerebral Palsy.

The League was started about 14 months ago by President Phyllis Freedman of Jane Ave. in Arlington Heights. She had worked with victims of cerebral palsy in Philadelphia and she wanted to continue her volunteer work here.

Right now, there are 13 devoted members who need volunteers to drive the children to camp in Watts Park in Glencoe or to school, or to help with essential therapy.

The original 13 are from Arlington Heights, Elk Grove, Northbrook and Palatine. Not all are parents of cerebral palsied children, but all are devoted to a task inspired by love and compassion.

Classes were started last year for high school students who are trained as monitors to help with the special therapy that the children need. Right now, the small league is trying to reach as many people as possible.

They want more boy and girl high school students with time on their hands and parents of cerebral palsied children who would like to join as volunteers or to enroll their children in the proposed pre-school sessions.

Vice-president is Ruth Petrilio of Beau Drive in Des Plaines, 437-5377; secretary is Judy Hardman of S. Donald in Arlington Heights, CL 5-7776; and treasurer is Betty Lee of E. Frederick in Arlington Heights, 392-3406. Phyllis' number is 255-4050.

"This is definitely not a drive for funds," Marge said, "just volunteers and prospective members."

179 NICE CARDS

Charlie Hargett who lives at 249 Glendale Lane, Hoffman Estates, is home from St. Alexius Hospital and beginning to feel well enough to go into Arlington Heights to do some of the family grocery shopping.

Charlie shops at the High Low in the Arlington Market, where he was the assistant manager until he went to the hospital.

He wants to send along a sincere "thank you" to the senders of the 179 cards he received from friends, acquaintances and customers. "It was really something," he said "to see how the people who come into the store identified themselves on the cards.

"I received one signed by a woman who said she was the customer from the hometown of my wife. Another came from a couple who said they always shopped on Friday night. I recognized every one of them. There certainly are some wonderful people around."

High Schools Find Way Out of Red

The District 214 building budget for 1968-69 may be pulled out of tha rad by omission of a special education axpenditure of $130,000.

The original budget provided for a special education axpenditure to cover costs of building a Northwest Suburban Special Education (NSSEO) facility for trainable mentally handicapped children.

Howavar, said Francis Coleman, district business manager, it looks like the district will not be required to pay much of the cost of the NSSEO building until the next fiscal year.

"If special education costs do arise, we will be able to use part of the contingency fund of $100,000," said Coleman.

Exclusion of the $130,000 special education axpenditure from the budget will erase the $126,000 deficit and add a $4,000 cash balance.

Discussion of the budget was held Monday night at a Board of Education committee meeting. Action cannot be taken until the board meets regularly.

Fines Add Up To $53,947

Fines for the month of April totaled $53,947 in the 3d District of Cook County Circuit Court, covering the northwest suburbs.

Traffic violations accounted for most of the fines.

Totals were: Des Plaines, $7,739.50; Arlington Heights, $22,742.50; Buffalo Grove $724; Palatina $10,274; Rolling Maadows $4,335; and Wheeling $5,419.

what is Coffee Mill Flavor?

Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar Coffees.

You see, once the coffee bean is ground, the flavor begins to fade.

That's why, when we at A&P buy the finest coffees we can find,
we bring them to you still in the bean.

of A&P's Coffee Mill Flavor.

Are A&P Coffees a good reason for shopping A&P?

MR. AND MRS. MIRREL ROBERT KEPHART JR.

Carol McNeely Bride Of Mirrel Kephart Jr.

At a 7 o'clock candlelight wedding, Carol Jean McNeeley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. McNeeley of Lombard, formerly of Arlington Heights, became the bride of Mirrel Robert Kephart Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Mirrel Kephart Sr. of Arlington Heights, April 13 at the Congregational United Church of Christ, Arlington Heights. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. R. Koch.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE by her father, the bride wore an Empire white linen gown. The long sleeves and sides of her gown had insets of daisy embroidery. The same embroidery bordered the A-line skirt and removable cathedral train.

A linen pillbox held a short illusion veil embroidered with pearls and crystal beads. The bride carried a prayer book adorned with a cascade of gardenias.

THE BRIDE'S twin sister Karen of Lombard was her maid of honor. Bridesmaid was Carol Kephart, sister of the groom. Both wore floor-length peach gowns with beaded trim. Their short illusion veils were accented with a pearl trimmed comb.

Lee Endsley of Decatur, Ill., fraternity brother of the groom, was best man and Michael Kephart, brother of the groom, was groomsman. Ushers were Terry Tegan, Russell Sumka, Don Meyer and Rich McCleary.

Mother of the bride wore a beige lace floor-length gown with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Mrs. Kephart chose a green gown with beaded yoke and carried cymbidium orchids on her matching handbag.

The newlyweds spent a one week honeymoon in Kentucky before returning to Iowa City where they are both attending the University of Iowa.

The bride, a sophomore, is a member of the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. The groom is a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and will graduate from the University in June.

Long and shorts, especially in knits, will make the beach scene this summer. Patterns will be plentiful with style leaders pulling from Hawaiian prints and awning stripes.

Fashion in Men's Swimwear

1968 swimwear for men . . . mini? midi? maxi? Surfers, swimmers and poolside sitters will find great fashion in swimwear this summer says the American Institute of Man's and Boys' Wear.

Swim suits for 1968 vary as much as the tides. Young swimmers, really go for those abbreviated knits and those close-cropped, short-legged stretch trunks.

Surfers, may prefer long, below-the-knee "jams" in either plain or striped knits or in wild woven fabrics that are printed with floral, Hawaiian or "mad" motifs. Those long-legged "jams" will be worn as after-swim warmers too.

THE COORDINATED look in swim trunks and beach coats makes a big comeback this summer. Keyed in both color and fabric, there are matching after-swim jackets, usually short-sleeved, that repeat either the print or "competition stripes" that decorate the trunks.

Among the interesting coordinates are some with knitted pullover shirts. The crewneck shirts are ringed at the collar and bottom with stripes to match the form-fitted stretch trunks.

The terry cloth poncho that converts to a big beach towel is another handy after-swim warmer. Teenmen and some post-teenagers, too, will hold to their imaginatively-printed "baggies" — wax pockets a must — laced of course.

Buffalo Grove Rummage Sale

At 9 a.m. Friday, June 7 doors of the school hall of St. Mary's in Buffalo Grove will open for the 4th annual rummage sale and will remain open until 8 p.m. Hours on Saturday, June 8 are from 9 a.m. until noon.

Items for sale include a Nasco roaster and stand, kitchen table with six chairs, a baby's layette, other furniture and appliances, clothing and toys.

Everyone in the area is invited to come in and look around, says Mrs. Robert Dressler, chairman.

Garage Sale

A garage sale, sponsored by Eli Skinner Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be held from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. June 8 at 516 S. Beverly Lane, Arlington Heights.

Money raised from the sale will support the schools solely supported by the NSDAR and other philanthropic activities of the Eli Skinner Chapter.

St. Peter Dorcas Aid Luncheon

St. Peter Dorcas Aid will sponsor a salad bar luncheon at noon Wednesday, June 20, 111 W. Olive St., Arlington Heights. Donation is $1.50 and tickets may be obtained from Aid members or by calling Mrs. Jeae Legg at 392-3479. No ticket sales at the door.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Alice Nothnagel will present a dramatic monologue portraying Katie, wife of Martin Luther, wearing the costume of that period.

Mrs. Edward LeBentschaig, Dorcas Aid president, cordially invites the public to this event.

Murphy-Brown

The engagement and approaching marriage of Marcella Michael Murphy to Joel M. Brown, son of Mrs. Mildred Brown and the late Melton Brown of Columbus, Mo., is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Murphy of Arlington Heights.

Flower-Power Everywhere

BY MARILYN HELFERS
Woman's Editor

Sheets are no longer just on the bed. They have become shower curtains, table cloths, curtains, lining cabinets and any other way your imagination dictates.

In brilliant tones, sophisticated all-over designs and king sizes, they attract women to the linen departments. Ironing is almost a thing of the past with sheets such as the flower-patterned Caper by Burlington, which is made of a half-and-half cotton and Fortrel combination, so that it washes to luxurious softness and requires no ironing at all.

KING-SIZED sheets are as big as 9 x 10, (108 x 120 inches before hemming) to use in unlimited ways.

A double sheet (81 x 108 inches) may be hung sideways over a plastic liner for an attractive shower curtain. A single twin-sized sheet may be used for matching cafe curtains.

The new no-iron sheets make great table coverings. A double sheet will cover a small, round, bedside table 27 inches high and 27 inches in diameter — and a king-sized one will provide a floor-length drape for a table three feet wide and three feet high.

DID YOU EVER think of using a sheet over instead of under the bedclothes? Make a dust ruffle by splitting two sheets lengthwise and gathering to the right size onto a piece of sheeting cut to fit under the mattress. Then use a contour sheet as a tuck-in bedcover.

A king-sized sheet on a twin-sized bed will make a fine throw — particularly if you line it with a sheet in coordinating solid color to give it body and add a few rows of fringe on the bottom.

MANY OF TODAY'S newer sheets have identical three-inch hems on both ends, so that the bottom hem may be used as is for curtains, and the top may be turned under as needed for pleating tape, facings or curtain rod casings. Sheetings may even be used in the new fabric-insert shutters or laminated onto a backing for a fitted window shade.

Sheeting may be used to line the interiors of the cabinets which hide foldaway beds. Sheets may be stapled or flued directly onto wood, for a covered headboard or valance.

Joyces Planning Gala For College Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Joyce, 942 N. Walnut Ave., Arlington Heights, are committee chairmen planning a gala birthday party Saturday, June 22 at the Lake Shore Club honoring the founding of Clarke College, Dubuque, Iowa. The party highlights a year of celebration for the college on its 125th anniversary.

Ralph Sterling's orchestra will provide music for dancing following a social hour and dinner featuring strolling violinists.

Clarke College is a Catholic liberal arts college for women and has a current enrollment of approximately 1,000 students from all parts of the United States and many foreign countries. About 40 Chicago area girls are included in the graduating class each year.

Biochemistry technician Judie Koczenmz checks the setting of all controls before using the new autoanalyzer at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge. The machine can do about 20 protein bound iodine tests, which help to determine mal-functioning of the thyroid gland, per hour. Miss Koczenmz attended a special training program to learn how to set up, use and repair the machine.

Gala-Provided Equipment In Use at Lutheran Gen.

Three new places of laboratory aquipment are spaeding diagnostic procedures at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge. The equipment was purchased with the $20,000 proceeds from the 1967 Gala benefit held last July at the O'Hare Inn.

"The automated equipment is being utilized in many routine diognostic tests," said Dr. Joel Stern, director of the hospital's biochemistry department. "It benefits most of our patients by enabling the laboratories to provide the docotrs with more accurate, more complete and more rapid results."

An autoanalyzer, in use in the biochemistry department, can do 20 protein bound iodine PBI tests in one hour. Prior to its installation, these PBI tests tooks a technicion eight hours to complete.

THE AUTOMATED equipment has a bonus value, says Dr. Stern, in freeing laboratory technicians from routine repetitive chores for more important work in the laboratory.

The biochemistry department will also receive a second piece of equipment bought with Gala proceeds. A phenylalanine analyzer with a fluorometer will enable the department to perform many different procedures, none of which are done in the hospital at present.

"ABOUT HALF of the tests using the analyzer will be performed on newborns," Dr. Stern estimates. "We will use it for the PKU tests for early detection of mental retardation in infants."

Nuclear medicine department hes received a new portable blood volume machine, the third piece of Gala-provided equipment.

The machine can determine the amount of blood a patient has in 15 minutes, and the test can be repeated within two hours if necessary.

Daley's Image Downstate

CROSSING DOWNSTATE Campaign Trails—The more we travel the Downstate trails—this being the 30th year we've been doing that—the more it appears that Mayor Daley should make a Downstate speaking tour and show the people here what a clean-cut, honest and nonconniving sort of character he really is.

In countless conversations on this entirely nonscientific survey in this campaign year of 1968, the Daley name inevitably comes up—and in an admiring sort of derogatory way. Downstate Illinois politics in both parties operates on a patronage - conscious, street - smart basis and its practitioners here, being professionals, praise Daley's professionalism.

OGILVIE

And, while many of the Republican Downstaters "don't give him no house," they admire him as one professional admires another professional in the same field. And, also, they suspect him as one professional will suspect another. It might be well to explain here that when they say they "don't give him no house," it is meant they don't accept him in their family—they consider him an enemy to be fought and, if possible, to be beaten.

AND THAT'S JUST the trouble. These suspicious Downstaters don't see how Daley can be beaten this election. Put it this way: If Atty. Gen. William G. Clark, Daley's candidate for the U.S. Senate, is beaten that means they reason Everett M. Dirksen wins and that's what the White House reportedly wants anyway.

And if Daley's candidate for governor of Illinois, now Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro, is beaten by Cook County Board President Richard B. Ogilvie, Daley still wins for his organization total control of the Cook County government.

DOWNSTATE REPUBLICANS are dead set on the notion that Ogilvie is all set for nomination for governor and for election in the fall "because Daley is for him, and why shouldn't he be?" Any belief that Daley can be sincerely for Shapiro when an Ogilvie victory would mean automatic delivery of the board presidency to a Democrat by the party's board majority is considered ridiculous Downstate.

Downstate Republicans and Democrats as well "don't give no house" to anyone who comes down here and tries to tell them that Daley, as the head of that monster up there in Cook County, would actually give that last ounce of blood toward victories for Clark and Shapiro.

SO REPUBLICANS in them hinterlands are counting on an Ogilvie victory and a Dirksen victory. Many of them are a bit redheaded at Ogilvie for this deal that they are convinced Daley and Ogilvie have together. But the more they ponder upon it, the more this makes Dirksen and Ogilvie the winners. Because they know that Daley doesn't make bum deals.

They want to be with a winner. So, one after another, the county organization precinct committeemen are voting endorsements of Ogilvie. And bright patronage sugar plum visions dance in their practical heads.

Sorensen's New Role

Theodore Sorensen is declining to play a speech writer's role in the Kennedy campaign and he has written nothing since he joined the team except the senator's announcement of candidacy and his formal statement on the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Sorensen is anxious to develop his personal role in political life and so he spends most of his time dealing directly with the delegates. Like the other old-timers in the Kennedy headquarters, Sorensen has had some problems with the Young Turks, who are Kennedy's closest aides in the campaign.

Republican Ploy

The Republicans are making heavy use of the chance that the 1968 election will be thrown into the House of Representatives to solicit subscriptions to the Boosters Club, an effort to raise $1,000,000 to pay the costs of campaigns against incumbent House Democrats. In meetings with fatcats around the country, Rep. Gerald Ford (R-Mich.) says that, although presidential elections have been decided by the House only twice in the nation's history, the odds are 50-50 that it will happen this year and, if the contributors give enough, the Republicans have a good chance to carry the House next fall. This theme has proved an excellent stimulant.

In addition to Mauldin, Dreiske and Bartlett, columnists like Rowland Evans and Robert Novak, William R. Frye, Edward P. Morgan, Joseph Alsop, Flora Lewis, Max Lerner, Roscoe Drummond, Jimmy Breslin, and correspondents Carleton Kent, Tom Littlewood and Morton Kondracke bring you up-to-the-minute commentary on news at home and abroad. Memorial Library Opened to the Public

Johnny D. Wyatt, 310 N. Pine, Arlington Heights, found himself the first "customer" of the new library as he checked out the first book Monday morning at 10, when the building was opened to the public for the first time. (Photos by Linda Gammill)

Mrs. Florence Hendriksen, president of the Arlington Heights Library Board, and Mrs. Mary Lee Ewalt, head librarian, make way for the first patron to enter the new building, 500 N. Dunton, Mrs. Ralph Lidge. The new library opened Monday morning at 10.

Among the first visitors to the new Arlington Heights Memorial Library, 500 N. Dunton, Carleen Nylen (left), 4½; Tom Weber, 4½; Heidi Griffith, 6; Debbie Weber, 6; and Robert Johnson, 5, all of Arlington Heights, found the "stairs" in the children's room to their liking. The stairs, covered with soft red carpeting, were the innovation of head librarian Mary Lee Ewalt who felt that the younger children might prefer the informality of reading on the steps to the confinement of tables and chairs. These youngsters seem to agree.

Assistant Principal Asked For MacArthur Jr. High

Changes in tha administrative organization of MacArthur Junior High School, Prospect Heights, were requested at last night's Prospect Heights School District 23 board meeting, but action was deferred for a week.

Principal Tom Rich, 2105 Mulberry, Arlington heights asked the board to hire an assistant principal to help him in his duties.

He also asked for the establishment of department heads to facilitate the school's administration.

The board meeting was held only to consider what matters should be included on tha aganda for tha next regular meeting, scheduled for next Monday. Thus the board will act on the requests at that time.

"WHEN I came here four years ago, we had a total enrollment in the district of 600 pupils. Now it is 1,900 and we see no apparent slack in this growth.

"Next year we will have 600 pupils in the junior high school alone.

"I would like to see, eventually, in the junior high a principal, an assistant principal, a part-time dean of boys, a part-time dean of girls and a counseling staff."

Pansino said that, in his opinion, the professionel survey of the district authorized recently will include similar suggestions.

Rich said of his need for an assistant, "As we get bigger, as anrollment increases, I can't be of service in the way I would like to be.

"I view an assistant principal as a detail man, a follow-up man and, in some cases, a trouble-shooter.

"He would handle daily routine matters, such as problems of text book distribution and problems of desks and chairs--getting the right numbers in classrooms.

"He could see that tha graduation lists got to the printer, take care of report cards and help with scheduling of classes."

The exact number of department heads that would ba neaded hasn't baen determined, but Rich said he would submit more detailed information when he makes his formal requests next Monday.

Alumni to Reunite

The Alumni Assn. of St. Ignatius High School will hold its 24th annual golf outing and dinner Tuesday, June 18, at the Woodridge Golf Club, Lisle, Ill.

Chairman Bob Delaney of Arlington Heights, a 1939 alumnus of the school, announced that nearly 6,100 alumni have been invited to attend.

Reservations are necessary by June 11 and are being taken at the school by the Rev. John E. Reilly, Alumni Moderator, at HA 1-5900.

Dist. 59 Budget Up 10 Per Cent

A $10.5 million budget for 1968-69 school year won unanimous approval Monday at District 59's board meeting. The figure is a 10 per cent increase over last year.

The district, which has approximately 10,000 children attending kindergarten-through eight-grade classes, expects to spent $6,308,400 mainly for teachers' salaries.

Bond and interest fund expenditures will total $917,000. Transportation will take $249,400 and the building fund plans to spend $640,400.

Site and construction expanditures should take $1,850,000.

Yankee catcher John Rhode waits for a throw that never came as Oriole shortstop Billy Kidd races home with his team's third run in a 9-8 loss Tuesday in the Mount Prospect boys baseball league Pony "B" division.

The Game of The Day

Pony 'B' Yankees Whack Orioles, 9-8

BY RALPH NOVAK

Two home runs among 10 hits by the Orioles weren't enough to stop the Yankees from trotting off Tuesday with a 9-8 win, their first this season in three games in the Pony B division of the Mount Prospect Boys Baseball League.

Brian "Big B" Soltys pitched all seven innings for the Yanks, striking out nine and persuading the Orioles, now 0-3, to leave six runners on base.

THE YANKEES knocked out only five hits off Bird hurler Dale Steingraber, but got help from five walks and five Oriole errors.

Wasted in the loss were the home runs, a leadoff drive to right by Bill Carley in the second and a two-run smash to center by Tom Fryman in the fifth.

After Stave Thelandar fouled out, Rick Sutton beat out an infield hit, and both White and Sutton moved up as Gary Berg bounced out. Oriole shortstop Billy Kidd then had trouble handling Pat Schneider's grounder, as both runners scored and Schneider took second. When Soltys rapped a single up the middle and Mark Chilver drove another hit to left, two more runs came home.

STEINGRABER GOT out of that jam with no further damage, but walks to John Rhode and White starting the second re-complicated the situation.

A fielder's choice, a strikeout, and a passed ball left runners at second and third for 'Berg,' who smacked a single to left to score White, and another error on a Schneider grounder brought in Thelander.

The Orioles fought back with Carley's homer in the second, and two third-inning runs on doubles by Bill Moran and Kidd and an error, and came within 6-5 in the top of the fifth on Fryman's four-bagger.

The Yankees came up with the back-breaker in their half of the fifth on a walk to Chilver and three Oriole errors, opening up a 9-5 lead.

After left fielder Tim Bailey made a diving catch of Steingraber's looper leading off, singles by Tom Waters and Carley, a walk to Kidd, an error, and a two-run single by Tom King closed the gap to 9-8 in the sixth, but things stayed right there as Soltys retired the side in order in the seventh.

Today's Game of the Day is the second in a series of stories that will focus on action in area boys' baseball leagues.

Oriole first baseman Bill Carley learned a valuable lesson in a Mount Prospect Pony "B" division game Tuesday: always make sure your foot is on the base. This throw from shortstop Bill Kidd was in plenty of time to beat Pat Schneider of the Yankees, but Carley didn't tag the base until it was too late and Schneider was safe. The day wasn't a total loss for Carley, however, since he hit a home run and a single in a 9-8 loss.

Harris Ties Decorators For Twilight Golf Lead

Harris Pharmacy moved into a tie with Horcher Decorators for the top berth of the Arlington Heights Twilight Golf League in action Friday night.

Bob Hofman and Paul Nowack fired 38s to tie for low gross honors for the evening, while Howard Kagay, Len Haines Sr. and Mickey McGuire shared low net honors.

The Team Standings: 1. Horcher Decorators, 37½; Harris Pharmacy, 37½; 3. Koops Mustard, 34; 3. New Emerald Cleaners, 34; 5. Crest Heating, 33; 6. Behrens Insurance, 28½; 6. Lauterburg and Oehler, 28½; 6. Arlington Heights Bank and Trust, 28½; 9. Baird and Warner, 27½; 10. Arlington Structural Steel, 27; 11. Heights Cleaners, 23½; 12. City Welding, 22½.

Johnson Takes 'A' Tennis Title

Deve Bone won the men's "B" division, Ken Silgen the men's veteran division, and Donna Cunningbam the women's division.

The club, which includes players from Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and other northwest suburbs, opens its North and West Suburban Tennis League schedule June 15, at home against Glenview.

Arlington Heights Boys Baseball Action

North Red Int.

The Hornets came up with six runs in the third inning to deal the Cadets an 8-5 loss and retain first place in the North Red Intermediate standings.

The Bruins dropped to second place by virtue of an 8-2 loss to the Grizzlies in a game that was called after four innings because of rain. John Bangal and Terry Green brought the Bruins back to their feet by combining efforts on the mound for a one-hit performance in a 4-0 victory over the Scouts.

Craig Kennedy fanned 15 batters, including eight of the first nine men he faced to lead the Cowboys to a 12-2 win over the Scouts. The big blow of the day was a grand slam home run off the bat of Bruce Haudt. The Scouts also dropped a 14-6 decision to the Angels last week.

Another fine mound performance was turned in by John Bermudez, who struck out 15 while allowing only five hits as the Cadets edged the Doves 2-1.

South Blue Int.

The Dons of the South Blue Intermediate League ran up three straight victories last week to tie for first place in the league with three other teams, the Gators, Stars, and Marlins.

THE DONS BEAT the Stars 4-2 Friday as Carlos Lajara tossed a two-hit performance at the co-leaders. The Dons scrambled for 11 hits including two doubles by catcher Scott Rudin, and another by Jim Garrison.

Rudin and Lajara switched positions in a 5-2 whipping of the Wolverines as Rudin came through with another two-hit job. Lajara tripled, as did Greg Berry, and Don Rodig banged out a two-bagger.

Rodig also figured in the Dons' third win of the week, pitching to a 6-3 decision over the Ravens.

The Marlins also found themselves successful in the week's campaign. Carl Pederson allowed just one hit against the Gators in defeating the league co-leaders, 2-1. Pederson struck out 13 Gator batsmen, and doubled to help his own cause. John Tysko took the loss, although he fashioned a three-hitter against the winners.

THE STARS WERE the only team able to trip up the high-flying Marlins, taking them by a third 2-1 score. Runs in the second and the fifth added up to the Stars' win. Terry Gray, pitching for the Stars, helped himself to the victory, belting a solo homer. Todd Schoell tripled in a game that saw only eight hits recorded.

The Gators picked on the only two teams in the league not tied for first place, scoring 19 runs in two games against none for their opponents, the Ravens and the Wolverines.

John Yeazel and Steve Harris teamed up, each taking home a two-hit, shutout victory, although each pitched in both of the games, and each contributed an extra-base hit to their victories. Harris also helped Yeazel with a three run double in his teammates' victory.

Harris was the pitcher of record as the Gators stomped on the Wolverines, 10-0, and Yeazel got the 9-0 win over the Ravens. The pitching duo has now given up only one run, five hits and eight walks while striking out 36 batters in three games this year.

North Red Jr.

Chris Smith held the Gulls to three hits as the Trojans downed the Gulls 8-1. The win moved the Trojans into a first-place tie with the Gulls.

The Trojans also collected a 6-3 win over the Millers after bowing to the Larks 14-3. Bob Bettis led the potent Lark attack by rapping two home runs and a triple.

Other North Red Junior action last week saw the Gulls dump the Rockets by a 6-3 margin behind the two-hit pitching of Mark Bostrom. The Gulls also dealt an 11-5 loss to the Panthers.

Steve Chester limited the Larks to five hits as the Panthers rolled past the Larks 15-6, while the Rockets bowed to the Millers 16-1.

American

The fourth-place Tigers of the American Major League found themselves the most successful group in last week's action. They beat the Yankees 3-1, and the Athletics 5-3.

Both wins were fashioned by Brian Gaare, who pitched two five-hit games and belted a home run against the Yankees.

Against the Athletics, Gaare received hitting support from Mike Bieze, who tripled, but the Tiger pitcher gave up a round-tripper to Jeff Cleveland.

The Tigers also lost a game to the Senators, 9-2. The Tigers' two runs came on just four hits.

The Yankees lost a second game for the week to the White Sox, 6-3. Runs in the early innings by the Sox overcame fourth- and sixth-inning scores by the Yanks.

Jim Lowe, a member of the Professional Golfers Association and a graduate of Indiana State University, has been named head pro at Indian Lakes, a 36-hole golf complex in Bloomingdale. Lowe will give private and group lessons, including a clinic for youngsters from 10 to 17. Indian Lakes is at Bloomingdale and Schick Rds., just south of Route 20.

Bowden Stars In Mt. Prospect Twilight Golf

In Monday matches of the Mount Prospect Twilight Golf league, Ed and Gil's Barber Shop clipped Mount Prospect Jewelers, 8-2, and Mount Prospect State Bank turned in an 8-2 victory over Van Driel's Drug Store.

Al's Old Town Inn stopped Winkelmann's Shell Service, 7½-2½, and Mount Prospect Electrical Construction short-circuited Morton Pontiac by the same score. Picket Paint whitewashed J & B Village Market, 7-3, and John Mufich Buick ran over George L. Busse & Co. 6-4.

Individual scoring was led by J. Bowden, with a low gross score of 35 and a low net of 30. Bowden turned in birdies on the sixth and ninth holes, as did Jack Martin on the 11th and 15th, and Earl Borsenberg on the first. Carl Lenz and P. Brouns carded birdies on the third hole, and Stan Peterson matched this on the 15th.

The league standings; 1. John Mufich Buick, 41-2/3; 2. Mount Prospect State Bank, 40; 3. Al's Old Town Inn, 37½; 4. Mount Prospect Electrical Const., 34½; 5. Picket Paint, 33½; 6. Ed and Gil's Barber Shop, 30-1/3; 7. Winkelmann's Shell Service, 30; 8. Morton Pontiac, Inc., 25½; 9. J & B Village Market, 25; 10. George L. Busse & Co., 22½; 11. Mount Prospect Jeweler, 22.

Your Horoscope

FOR THURSDAY

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) — Keep clear of those you know would offer you adverse criticism on the present project. Go your own way until all becomes clear.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) — You can add a quality of newness and, thus, interest to old chores if you go about them with a different attitude.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) — The wise Leo will withhold his opinion on matters that are really not within his province. Speak only where you are knowledgeable.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) — Your aid may not have been sought by another, but you can still make yourself useful by offering to share what you know.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) — Keep an accurate record of the day's work; it may come in handy later on, when your productivity may be questioned.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) — Adapt your behavior to events at hand. The Scorpio who is too set in his ways to swim with the tide will regret it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) — The more individualistic you are today the more definite will be your success. Higher-ups have their eyes on you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — Take your knowledge from many sources and you should be able to meet the present situation successfully.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) — Make your choice between things of equal value; otherwise, there really is no choice at all. Relay on another for information.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 21) — You may have to lead the way today whether you would wish it so or not. Call on your pioneer blood and all should go well.

ARIES (Mar. 22 - Apr. 20) — Don't allow another to take out his ill-feeling against you by spoiling your enjoyment of your present position.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21) — What you cannot bring yourself to say, you may be able to communicate in writing. In any case, let your thoughts be known.

What a kidding the owners of those two VW's must have taken. But they had something to sustain them. 32 m.p.g. An air-cooled rear engine that never boiled over or froze, and that carried them (and their stranded neighbors) up icy hills.

They fiercely defended the beetle shape against a thousand jokes. And finally, they had the sweet satisfaction of seeing one kidder after another turn up with a new VW. (In 1967 alone, around 465,000 Americans bought VW's - including station wagons and trucks.)

Those '49ers must be pleased: their VW's are still in style, and they can get parts replaced quickly and inexpensively. (We have literally thousands of parts on hand to fit any year VW.)

Now that you know a few of the reasons why the VW has been such a Phenomenal success, we suggest you come in and drive one yourself.

"Bobby Unser won the big one at Indy, but in our own "500" put your money on Buick and Opel ... in that order ... driven by YOU! We are going to win our "500" ... for YOU, for ourselves, our staff and the community! That's how we see it. YOU win in biggest savings! We win in sales! Our staff wins in bonuses from the factory! And the community wins by the quickened pace of business! Yes everybody wins but especially YOU because YOU save most money now!

Save 50% more on the "Big B" and "Mini-B"!

John Mufich's "500" sales drivers want to drive home one single point: YOU benefit most by dealing during this once-a-year sales contest, because we'll sell for half the normal profit to sell twice the cars now!

Officials Seek Ways to Stop Violence

Amid the shock and dismay over the shooting of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy (D.-N.Y.) in Los Angeles Tuesday, officials gave conflicting opinions on what could be done to prevent similar crimes in the future.

All officials agreed that crime could not be eliminated by outlawing the possession of firearms.

Tuesday night's assassination came less than two months after Rev. Martin Luther King was shot to death and three weeks before the Illinois Gun Registration law takes effect.

After Rep. Donald Rumsfeld (R.-13th) issued a formal statement asking Americans to pray for Kennedy's recovery, he continued working Wednesday night with other House members trying to pass an over-all, crime prevention bill. Today a bill is expected to pass which would restrict interstate commerce in firearms.

"OUR COUNTRY is going through a national nervous breakdown," Rep. David Regner (R-Mount Prospect) said, referring to the shooting. "But it can happen to any public official." He said that when his wife, Joan, recently went to Springfield to see what a day in the life of a legislator is like, she said, "You're sitting in a fishbowl." Regner said he does not have much confidence in legislating guns away from criminals. The problem, he said, is that "as long as the courts continue to free everyone on the basis of dotting an 'I', we are not going to have law and order."

Rep. Eugenie Chepman (D-Arlington Heights), who voted for the state gun registration bill last year, said that there now will be increasing pressure for federal legislation on firearms control. The proposed federal law, which would restrict mail-order sales of weapons, she called a "movement in the right direction."

"There must be courageous lawmakers willing to risk the ire of people who have misdirected feelings about guns," she said. The National Rifle Assn. has opposed the federal bill.

"GUN LOVERS (sportsmen and hunters) have nothing to fear, for there is nothing to keep them from purchasing guns," she said.

"I'm enthusiastically in favor of it," Rep. Eugene Sclickman (R.-Arlington Heights) said of the legislation. The restriction of mail order sales would not guarantee safety, "but such legislation will help establish the climate." Schlickman said he does not favor any change to the state gun registration law until it has time to prove its effectiveness.

Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect police chiefs gave conflicting views on the effectiveness of the gun-control laws both at state and federal levels.

Mount Prospect Chief Newell Esmond said, "No question about it. By putting a curb on the sale of guns, it will reduce some of the crime." He said he does not oppose the sale of weapons through authorized gun shops.

Arlington Heights Chief L. W. Calderwood said that, though legislation may restrict the availability of weapons to young people, it "will have no effect on the criminal element that gets its guns from other channels to perpetrate the crimes they want to commit."

COOK COUNTY State's Attorney John Stamos said that it is too early to comment on the effectiveness of the state law. "It's too early to tell," he said. Though he said he is not familiar with the details of the federal legislation, he said, "I'm sure the congressmen will exercise their judgment."

Mount Prospect Mayor Daniel Congreve said that "there is no practical way to put firearms out of the hands of undesirables," but that such legislation," only hurts good, honest people." As an example, Congreve said, machine guns are outlawed, but criminals nevertheless manage to get them. "The problem is that the people you don't want to have guns will break the law anyway."

Arlington Heights Mayor John Woods said that such legislation might cut down on the number of spontaneous crimes, but that premeditated crimes would not be affected.

Residents Believe Gun Curbs Could Cut U.S. Violence

Violence in America would be curbed by laws regulating the possession of firearms was the opinion of most of the suburban residents interviewed Wednesday.

Shoppers at Randhurst and Arlington Market, and commuters at Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect railroad stations gave their views on violence in the cities, assasinations of a Negro leader and a President, and the shooting of a presidential hopeful.

A state law bars felons, mental patients and juveniles from possessing firearms, and requires all hand gun owners to register with police. A House bill expected to come to a vote in Congress today would regulate interstate rifle and shotgun sales.

"The law definitely should pass," said Kark Kanltsch, Crystal Lake. "I don't think it should be against the guys who want to hunt, though. The law is a little free now. Anyone who wants to can buy a gun. You don't even need a mental test."

James Brown of Villa Park, said the law "will help control the amount of criminal killings in the country. I think the assasinations are dreadful. For a country of our caliber, it is about the worst possible thing that could happen."

"Who wants a man with a criminal record hanging around with a gun?" asked Mrs. Marilyno Tritthardt of Hoffman Estates but she believes that legislation won't do much good. "If someone wants a gun, they'll get it somehow." The violence in America she called "terrible. But everyone isn't crazy, just a few nuts."

"I'm all for the law," Mrs. Shirley Jones, Elmwood Park, said. "I think it will help stop the assasinations. You wonder that this world is coming to when people in public can be murdered. Our laws are too lenient."

"The situation is getting serious," said Mrs. Thomas Egan, 24 N. Forrest, Arlington Heights. "We have to have some control. We can't continue to have this kind of tragedy. I think we have to take all possible measures to insure the safety of our people in public office."

James Jendrucek, Wauconda, said that such laws, "won't do any good. Your criminals are going to get hold of guns one way or the other. I don't like these assasinations, but we haven't had as many as in foreign countries. I don't know how we can stop them."

The effect of such legislation, said Frank Bredimus, Glenview, "should be beneficial. I don't think there would be any immediate curtailment." A similar law in England has been "enforced effectively. I think the gun laws are an excellent idea."

"I THINK assasinations are dreadful," James Brown, Villa Park, said in reference to the shooting of Sen. Robert Kennedy (D-N.Y.)

"I DON'T think criminals should be allowed to own guns,": Mrs. Shirley Jones, Elmwood Park.

Jim Jendruczek, Wauconda, said, Gun laws, "won't do any good. Criminals are going to get a hold of guns one way or the other."

More Guns Sold Since Last April

Suburban gun merchants report that since the assassination of the Rev. Martin Luther King on April 4 and the rioting in Chicago that followed, their sales have increased. "We can't keep guns in stock. We could sell 10 times as many if the factories had an available supply," said Robert Beaupre of the Elk Grove Village Sport Shop.

William Flanigan of Cunningham Reilly, 45 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights, also noted "quite an increase" in gun sales during the week of Chicago rioting, but indicated that sales had tapered off recently.

Billie Eagle, who works in the sports department of Wille Lumber Co., 100 W. Northwest Hwy., said that there was an increase of sales during the riots but "nothing spectacular" had occurred since.

Planners Give Provisional OK to Simon Development

BY MAXINE TYMA

Developers I. Simon and Son reached their first goal last night in seeking approval for a planned development of apartment buildings at the southwest corner of Hintz and Buffalo Grove Rds.

The recommendation, which will be reviewed by the trustees on June 17, was contingent on the submission of an engineering report on the drainage of the 13-acre site.

Ned Simon, president of I. Simon and Son, told the commission that residents of the single family homes surrounding the area would have use of the recreation facilities in the apartment development.

THE PLANS are for the construction of a total of 192 units in three and two story buildings. The two two-story buildings would be rectangular in shape and the two three-story buildings would be L-shaped.

Simon said there would be 72 one-bedroom, 100 two-bedroom, and 20 three-bedroom units. He said the rental for the two bedroom apartments would be between $260 and $280, and the rental for the one bedroom apartments would be about $200.

The presentation was going smoothly until the commission members began to question Simon, and Frank Angelloti, the engineer for the developer, about drainage for the development.

Angelotti, of Applied Engineering in Arlington Heights, said that depressed parking lots were planned but not depressed tennis courts. He said the parking lots would be sufficient to handle storm water runoff that eventually is routed to McDonald Creek.

"We have to have a federal program here to start at the Mississippi River that will clear up the McDonald Creek situation," he told the plan commissioners.

Chairman of the commission, William Hannum, suggested that the village engineer, John Best, review the plans and make a recommendation.

"LET'S SEE what the engineer feels this amount of hard surface area will do to the overall drainage of McDonald Creek," Hannum said.

"But this 13 acres will be a drop in the bucket," said Angelotti.

"True," said Commission member Jack Ryan, "but the bucket is filled by a series of drops. Perhaps what we should do is allow anybody to dump in as much water as they went and make the village subscribe to that recreation area."

SCHEFFER recently submitted a report that recommended a 100-acre lake which could be used for recreation purposes and that would clear up a major portion of the problems of McDonald Creek flooding.

Simon told the commission that his firm had residential development in the McDonald Creek flood plain and that he was aware of the flooding situations.

Hannum asked that the engineer's report be submitted when the planned development is presented to the village board and that a copy be sent to the plan commission.

Legislator Wants Mayors' Pressure on Gov. Shapiro For Flood Control Money

BY LARRY WILLS

Rep. David Regner (R-Mount Prospect) has invited the mayors of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect and Des Plaines to meet with the governor to press for the release of funds for the improvement of Weller Creek.

Regner said Wednesday that he sent letters to all the mayors asking them to meet with Gov. Samuel Shapiro within a week or two to impress the governor with the importance of releasing funds for the flood control project. The funds have been frozen by the governor while the state budget is being studied.

"THE MAYORS are upset, and letters are starting to pile in," Regner said. "The status right now is not to release any funds for emergency projects." The Weller Creek project is one of several emergency programs that are slated to begin shortly in the state.

The improvement of the creek would involve the creekbed from the Chicago and North Western Rwy. tracks at Northwest Hy. in Des Plaines upstream to Mount Prospect Rd. The project, which has the top priority in the state, would cost about $1.4 million.

without releasing all the funds," Regner said.

REGNER said he does not yet have a definite date set for the meeting, but hopes to have one shortly. He has also invited officials from the state division of waterways for technical assistance.

Two of the three mayors invited indicated a willingness to go to Springfield for the meeting.

"I've already told Regner that I would be available at any time," Mount Prospect Mayor Daniel Congreve said. "All I need is an hour's notice."

"I'd be happy to go," Arlington Heights Mayor John G. Woods said. "We've been interested in the whole length of Weller Creek, and have been active for years trying to solve the problem. This is just one more step."

"They won't release one part of the $7 million set aside for the emergency programs

Regner's bill improving the creek, which was signed into law last summer, is the second stage of a four-part improvement program.

The other two stages are upstream of Mount Prospect Rd.

The third mayor invited, Herbert Behrel of Des Plaines, was on vacation and not available for comment.

Court Date Is Monday

LeRoy Wetts of Chicago will appear in Evanston branch of Circuit Court Monday to face charges of aggravated battery.

Watts was arrested yesterday for allegedly attempting to force his way into the home of Mrs. Patricia Fermer, 1129 S. Walnut, Arlington Heights.

He also faces a charge of auto theft, set for a hearing Friday in Forest Park.

State Permits Stop Signal

State Division of Highways officials have indicated that a traffic light will be installed at Central and Owen this summer, according to Mount Prospect Mayor Denial Congreve.

The light, which had been requested 1½ years ago, will help school children to cross Central, a four land road, without dodging moving autos.

Car Crashes Into Pole

Four teen-agers were taken to Northwest Community Hospital Wednesday after the car in which they were riding ran off the road and hit a utility pole on Schoenbeck Rd., near Palatine Rd. in Prospect Heights.

Admitted to the hospital was Coe Meyer, 18, of 717 Eastman, Mount Prospect.

Driver of the car, Kathleen Harrington, 17, of 1815 Darryl, Arlington Heights; Cheryl Wykel, 16, of 1603 Wood Ln., and Michael Allen, 18, of 400 W. Olive, both of Prospect Heights, were treated and released from the hospital.

Flags Lowered, Children Pray

"We join the nation in mourning the death of Robert Kennedy," said Mount Prospect village manager Robert Moore. "We extend our sympathy to his family."

Flags flew at half-staff on municipal buildings in Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, and Rolling Meadows.

FLAGS AT MOST area public and parochial schools also were lowered by orders from district superintendents.

"We haven't had a single call so far from any school district," said the secretary to Robert P. Henrehen, Cook County Superintendent of Schools. "Apparently, because of the President's proclamation, everyone decided on their own to keep the flags down."

"Each school has been encouraged individually to give appropriate consideration to this tragic occasion," said Dr. Eric Sahlberg, superintendent of Mount Prospect District 57 schools.

At St. Raymond's School in Mount Prospect, Mrs. Irving Zielinski said children offered prayers this morning in memory of Sen. Kennedy.

"We have not yet decided how we will respond, but we definitely do intend to do something with the children in memory of the senator, said Sister Lauraline, principal of St. James School in Arlington Heights.

DR. DONALD Thomas, District 59 superintendent, sent a staff memo this morning to principals of his 18 buildings. "On Thursday and Friday he wrote, teachers are asked to pay tribute to Robert Kennedy and discuss the meaning of his death with the children."

"Let us hope that in the future we can contain violence," Thomas continued, "that we can conquer ignorance, that responsibility will become a way of life. I hope that in our lifetime we can, in fact, become our brother's keeper."

FOR THOSE who remembered the magic of Robert Kennedy's personal warmth when he spoke at Randhurst in October, 1966, today brought special memories.

"Unquestionably Robert Kennedy had a magnetic quality of personality that reached out to people," said State Representative Eugenie Chapman. "Immediately they sensed that here was a keenly alive person who cared deeply and personally about them.

"The crowd at Randhurst that day was a youthful crowd. One sensed that there was in addition to the spoken exchange, an unspoken kind of community of feeling between him and youth.

"Douglas was there at Randhurst, Daley was there that day, all of us who were candidates were there—but it was Robert Kennedy they came to see, and Robert Kennedy that they responded to."

BOAC Plane Flies Low

Five persons reported to Arlington Heights police Wednesday that a BOAC airplane was flying over Arlington Heights at less than 1,000 feet.

Police contacted the control tower at O'Hare International Airport and were told that the tower also had received complaints about the low flying plane.

Wheeling Township's GOP Endorses Jail Bond Issues

BY RICHARD CRABB

Rep. Eugene F. Schlickman (R-Arlington Heights), Wheeling Township Republican committeeman, reported the township's solid backing for the county jail improvement program to be voted upon next Tuesday.

The referendum on bond issues for the county jail will be voted on in connection with the June primary Tuesday. If the bond issues are approved, $9 million will be available for the improvement of the facilities of the Cook County Jail. The funds would be spent to develop a new diagnostic and classification area, a dispensary, new recreational facilities, a new central dining room, individual toilets for each cell and facilities to implement the new work release program which becomes effective Jan. 1, 1969.

REP. SCHLICKMAN was one of the sponsors in the Illinois General Assembly of the new work release program. The new program is designed to give jail inmates an opportunity to move quickly into private employment when they are released.

Under the program, jail inmates who meet certain qualifications would have the opportunity, while still in jail, to leave each day to work for a private organization. The inmate would return to confinement in the jail each evening. The program aims to develop training and skills in a job that could be held after the man is released.

"NEXT TUESDAY, June 11, each citizen of Cook County will have an opportunity to react positively to the County Jail scandals and recommendations of the grand jury," Rep. Schlickman said yesterday. "By approving the bond issues, voters will be initiating a program of total reform of the Cook County Jail.

I'm pleased that the Wheeling Township Republican Organization, through its precinct captains, is actively supporting the jail bond issues."

Schlickman said that the county jail bond issues have the support of a large number of public organizations in Cook County. Included are both the Cook County Republican and Democratic parties, the John Howard Assn., Cook County League of Women Voters, Independent Voters of Illinois and the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry.

Booklet Describes Mini-Trips

Thirteen pages describe short trips and give sightseeing suggestions for the West, Midwest, South, Mideast, and Eastern portions of the country. McDonald's will distribute 3,250,000 reprints of the insert to customers at its 1,000 restaurants.

Bill Kimpel, who operates McDonald's restaurants in Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights, said McDonald's is sponsoring the mini-trip guide as a service to American families who want to know what there is to see and do within a reasonable driving distance.

New Superintendent Outlines Goals in Dist. 25 Meeting

Dr. Donald Strong, who will become superintendent of Arlington Haights Public Elamentary Schools of District 25 on July 1, had his first meeting with the teaching staff Tuesday.

"I believe that education today requires co-operation and teamwork from everyone involvad," tha new superintendent told the 400 teachers of the district.

"Education is now at the crossroads. Nationally, there is a refocusing on its services. The progress that lies ahead must he collactivaly developed," Strong said.

"A school system must be built on a solid foundation. To craata opportunity, to unleash the talent of every professional and avery boy and girl is something which can he accomplished only through unity of purpose and unity of method.

"WE ARE A sarvice organization – serving people. I look forward to working with you In converting challenges into opportunities. I came into education because I care for kids. I find it axciting to be In a business where I share in the most important task of educating a generation," Dr. Strong told the teachers.

Dr. Strong was introduced by Robert Bukowski, president of the District 25 board of education. Bukowski told tha teachers details of the six-month search for the new superintendent which followed the resignation of Supt. Ralph Clabaugh last October.

Raferring to Dr. Strong, Bukowski said, "Dr. Strong is well qualified to assume the superintendency. I am confident that be looks forward to sharing with you and with me the real husiness of educating our children."

Clabaugh Bids Staff Farewell

Supt. Ralph E. Clabaugh who will retire June 30 aftar 25 years as superintendent of the Arlington Heights public school system, met with the staff for the last time this week.

"There is something about the first time someone does something," Clabaugh told the teachers. "I remember my first general staff meeting 25 years ago. I was a bit more nervous than I am now.

"There is also something about the last time you do something and this will be the last general meeting I will share with you."

Supt. Clabaugh continued, "I will take with me many, many pleasant memories and few regrets. I will also taka a very precious tokan, a portrait presented to me at dinner last week. It will be placed in the conference room in the administration building. I sincerely hope that you will come and view it so that I mey express my appreciation to you personally."

College to Graduate Neal

William Neal, 632 S. Lincoln Av., Arlington Haights is slated to receiva an associate in arts degree during graduation ceremonies to be held by Cantral YMCA Community College, Chicago on June 12.

Vapor Lock Threatens Motorists

Warm weather and traffic jams can bring on an irritating vehicle malady called vapor lock.

A vapor lock is caused when the fuel in the fuel lines becomes hot and forms vapor pockets which prevent it from flowing into the carburetor.

If this happens, the quickest way to get the auto started, is to throw a bucket of cold water on the fuel pump, said Ed Moehling, owner of the Uptown Standard Service station, 112 S. Main, Mount Prospect.

Moehling also gave these tips to motorists caught in lengthy traffic jams:

If possibla, turn off the ignition, when the traffic stops. If this is not possibla, acellarata the angina. This enables the water pump to keep the water moving so the engine doesn't overheat.

Getting 'Package' Hospital

The Civil Defense Package disaster hospital supplied by the Illinois Dept. of Public Health will have 200 beds, ganarata its own alectrical power and will have its own medical, dental and emergency operating facilities, all of which can convert an ordinary huilding into an emergency hospital.

Fire Lt. Larry Pairitz, Civil Dafansa Diractor for the village, said Monday that the Charles Bruning Company, 1800 W. Cantral Rd. In Mount Prospect, has offered to store the 75,000 cubic feet of equipment.

Pairitz said that the disaster hospital will be affiliated with a regular hospital in the area, in which its medicines will be refrigerated and rotated.

The regular hospital also will supply an emergency staff in case of disastar, Pairitz said.

Tha state has providad Chicago and various suburbs ringing the city with packaged hospitals which could be transported to other areas if a major disaster should occur, Pairitz said.

Scout Day Sat.

On Saturday, June 8 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Boy Scout leaders and prospective scout leaders will be attending a "Show-and-Do" day at Lion's Woods, River Rd., north of Rand Rd.

This is one of the many scout training programs held throughout tha year. Naw ideas will be available to help further the ways of good Scout leading.

Dialogue

... with George Hamilton

"Well, this theater addict has been at it again. I went to the Mill Run Playhouse in Niles the other night to see the latest offering, 'Tom Jones.'"

"Oh, that's the play that someone said is 'wicked, bawdy and licentious.' I'll bet that was something to see."

"It was, because it wasn't anything like its reputation. This version is the same one that the St. James Theater Group in Arlington Heights presented about a year ago.

"In fact, it was approved by the Legion of Decency, and apparently the families and the nuns and the clergy who attended the St. James performance didn't find the play offensive."

"So it's not bawdy and all that. How can they expect to attract a crowd to see it?"

"There are other good reasons for going to see 'Tom Jones.' People like to see stars close up and with Mill Run's theater in the round type of construction, you get to be rather close to the actors and the action.

"There's Reginald Gardiner, who plays a country squire and Pippa Scott, who portrays a lusty widow. Their professional experience gives life to otherwise weak parts and they virtually steal the show."

"That's encouraging."

"Certainly. And then they have James Darren, star of the TV show, The Time Tunnel, who plays the part of Tom Jones.

"And there's Gigi Perreau, who has starred on TV and in the movies. She plays Tom Jones' romantic interest, Sophia Western.

"But the interesting part of the show is to be able to observe supporting actors from our own area. There's Jon A. Crabbe of Arlington Heights, who does an admirable job in the part of Blifil, Tom Jones' unlikeable (to say the least) half-brother.

"Blifil's father, Captain Blifil, is played in a short-lived part by Roger Baron of Mount Prospect. He returns as the constable in the last act. And another Mount Prospect resident, James P. Grady, accompanies and paces the play with piano and harpsichord music of his own composition."

"I guess all that would justify going to see the play then, even if it isn't all the things I've heard about it."

"Oh yes. And you can add to your sight by paying some attention to the audience. There's one woman who seems to be at all the shows and her contagious laughter keeps the audience laughing even in some of the dull spots.

"And opening night we got to see a couple of area VIP's in person. There was a radio personality who was busier than some of the actors as he walked around the aisles during the show.

"And the audience couldn't keep their eyes off a well-known morning newspaper columnist who found the show so relaxing that he slept through most of it."

Council To Meet

The Northwest Regional Conference of the Welfare Council of Metropolitan Chicago will be held on Thursday, June 13 at Sacred Heart of Mary High School, 2800 Central Rd., Rolling Meadows, from 8 to 10 p.m.

Where Are We Going?

Another great American has fallen -- again the victim of an assassin. As was John F. Kennedy in Dallas in 1963 and Martin Luther King in Memphis last April, Robert Kennedy's death is alarming evidence of a growing lunacy in our land.

Tolerance of misbehavior is at an incredible level. Crimes like shoplifting or thefts from hotels and motels are almost accepted by some as normal conduct.

Some of our young people publicly decry the lack of morality in their elders. They then reduce the cry to utter hypocrisy by wanton destruction through vandalism, petty thievery or in demonstrations of protest against established rules and practices.

And worst of all is the apparent pattern of violence stemming from the idea that a person who expresses an opinion or espouses a cause contrary to that held by others can be easily eliminated by an assassin's bullet.

LIBERTY in our country is much more than the freedom to do as one wishes regardless of the consequences. It is the guarantor of the responsible free man, not the libertine who would break all convention and defy all authority.

In a world of ever swifter change, the mechanisms of democracy may seem painfully show and outdated. Obviously, they must be modernized to permit quicker response to an enlarged public will.

The injustices which have helped to create discontent and encourage such violence as happened in Los Angeles Wednesday morning certainly must be speedily corrected. In the meantime impossible demands must be eliminated before hatred of man for man reaches a point beyond control.

Conflict related mostly to symbolic values rather than to attainable specific goals is in some cases being pressed in extreme and mindless ways, endangering the democratic system. Such extreme and violent pressures sooner or later are met by some kind of extremist counterforce. This may well have been the cause of the tragic shooting of Sen. Kennedy.

THOSE WHO mistakenly argue that violence works because it sometimes seems to produce short-time gains will then learn the larger lesson -- violence works only to beget violence and to wipe out the crucial values preserved by peaceful accommodation.

The assassination of President Kennedy, and Martin Luther King and Robert Kennedy were senseless attacks on courageous and honorable men. Tragically they appear to be a pattern taking shape in a country we think of as a salvation for humanity and the world.

Is it any wonder that Americans ask, "Where is this country going -- marches, campus uprisings, riots, shootings -- where are we going?"

It would behoove us all in mourning Robert Kennedy to ask God to help us, as a nation, find the way back to sanity, decency and order, respect for the rights of others and patriotism which have fallen into such decay that the climate for tragedies such as this exists.

Day by Day

A Time to Cry ...

By Catherine O'Donnell

It was difficult to write a column yesterday because everyone was talking about the terrible tragedy in Los Angeles. Those who were politically opposed to Robert Kennedy were as deeply shocked as his supporters. For one day the two major political parties were joined in common grief.

The majority of the conversations contained the question, "Where is the country going?" It was a question that is easily answered. The country is the people and the people are you and I. The question is, "What are we doing?"

The conversations brought to mind the day during the Illinois senatorial election when Bobby Kennedy came to Randhurst. The crowd was estimated at 200 and according to where you read the figure, up to 600.

It was a bitter cold day and the wind whipped around the legs of the spectators and through coats that were too thin for the day. Bobby Kennedy's deep red hair blew every which way in the wind. He wore a suit coat and did not seem to be affected by the weather.

He spoke briefly about Paul Douglas and then was whisked away in a caravan of hugh black limosines. Many people stopped Jim Stavros, who was then the Wheeling Township Democrat Chairman to congratulate him for bringing Bobby into the area.

Several signs were lying on the ground when everyone had left. "All Chicago," they read, "welcomes Bobby Kennedy." The picture on the sign was that of a handsome young man with a businesslike haircut.

Another resident recalled meeting the young brother of the Senator from Massachusetts in a faraway town. "We were introduced to Senator John Kennedy and to his young brother," he said, "and I recall thinking at the time that he was only a kid. I was surprised to learn later that he was married and had children of his own.

"That was in 1959. I and my friends that day were taken with John. We were introduced on a first name basis and there were crowds of politicians in the hallway of the hotel.

"When he left for the elevator to take him downstairs to a waiting car, he turned and shook hands with all of us and mentioned each of us by name. It was a fantastic thing and we were certainly impressed.

"I recall that Bobby had the appearance of wide-eyed wonder. Less than two years later, he was the nation's Attorney General. It is hard to realize that both of those men have been victims of an assassination."

ECONOMIZE DINERO

Muy importante--if the people from Norwesco keep sending out their delightful notices written in Spanish, it will be easy for the recipients to be muy bi-lingual. (The notice comes in Spanish and English.)

It concerns the saving of money and tells that a representative from the food stamp program will be at the Opportunity Center at 3411 Kirchoff Rd. in Rolling Meadows on Friday, June 7th from one until 5 p.m. to sign up eligible families.

The food stamps include many Golden Agers who are on pensions or whose income is less than a certain amount. It is necessary to (1) bring pay stubs for a month, (2) income tax forms from last year, if there is one, (3) medical bills or receipts if they have been high and (4) rent receipts.

The stamps enable the family to buy a third more food than "the cash you put out". They can be used in any store.

UNLISTED STREET

A funny thing happened on the way to a luncheon given by the Women's League of United Cerebral Palsy. The address was on W. George.

"It's on the other side of the tracks," volunteered an old timer. The other side of the tracks means that if you're north you go south. And vice versa.

Six inquiries produced puzzled stares and a series of lips sending out the word, "George" with a rising inflection. Day by Day never did find George.

Some people have unlisted telephone numbers--George must be on unlisted street. "Go to Sigwalt." "Go to Ridge." "Go to Wilke." Go to Start Over. Are you really out there, George?

A DOG'S LIFE

Jackie has barely missed a day of school at St. Viator since the semester began, when he was unofficially enrolled.

He is a nice English setter owned by Ed Wasilewski, physical education and health teacher. He is also the object of much affection by the students, which he returns with a great deal of tail wagging and wet smacks.

The dog, according to school rumor humor, howled so loud when he had to stay home that Mr. Wasilewski brought him to school. It was that or long explanations to the neighbors on W. Euclid in Arlington Heights.

Screech of Tires Music To Drag Racer Del Shortt

BY TED LACEY

The drivers of two souped-up sedans standing side by sida rav their unmuffled engines.

Their eyes are fixed on the signal lights that will set them off in an explosive burst of tire screeching, rubber burning, engine whining speed as they launch into an all-out assult on the finish line a quarter-mile of asphalt away.

One of the two drivers in this drag is Del Shortt of Rolling Meadows. He's driving the blazing red Pontiac Firebird.

The light turns green, the cars shoot thunderously down the strip like four-wheel projectlias and, within 13.89 seconds, Shortt has won his seventh trophy. It's over that quickly.

His speed, at the end of the quarter, was 105.55 m.p.h. according to the electronic timing devices. Not bad for a family car.

DESPITE ITS ability to win trophies at the drag strip, the car still serves to run to the store for groceries and to pick the kids up after school.

In fact, Shortt's wife drives it back and forth to work every day. "She drives it because it's the only car we have," Shortt said. "But she couldn't care less that it's fast.

"It's just a family car to her, even if it isn't too practical. The car only runs eight miles on a gallon of gas if you don't drive it hard."

Shortt began drag racing 10 years ago, with a 1958 Olds. He's had several other sedans between that car and his present machina, a 1967 Firebird with a modified 400 cubic inch ram-air engine and an assortmant of spacial equipment.

Shortt figuras ha's paid about $4,300 into this car so far.

"It's an axpensive hobby" he said, "not only initially, but in maintenance also.

"I've blown my engine by three times now. It costs me about $225 to fix it each time. When you blow your engine it's very depressing."

"THERE IS money to be won in dragging," Shortt said, "but it takes a lot of money to prepare your car to do it right.

"I've raced in eliminator classes for $50 prizes, but never won one. When you race for money, the compatition is a lot toughar. You're up against cars that are never driven on the street at all, but are set up only for the strip."

"I race for fun. I enjoy having a fast car. I get no thrill out of working on cars; that's what I do all day." He is a mechanic at Morton Pontiac in Arlington Heights.

Asked what his wife thinks of his racing, Shortt said "She's concerned about the danger. It is dangerous to a dagraa, but not that dangerous.

"She asks me to quit racing every time the engine blows up because we can't afford it."

"Tha two kids like it, though. The last time I raced I took my 7-year-old son with me. After I won, I let him pick out the trophy. He got a kick out of that. He took it to school for show and tell.

"SO FAR, I've run the car at least 300 times and have taken trophies at every strip around.

"When the car was new, I won 32 consacutiva races before being defeated. That was before I blew the first engine."

Is it worth all the time, trouble and axpense just for a 14-second ride?

"I'm trying to convince myself it is," Shortt said.

"The novelty is wearing off. But I think that, even if it blows up 10 more times, I'd still run.

"I may sell it, but then I'd start over again on another car."

Sweet 16 Birthday Buffet Menu

BY MARILYN HELFERS
Woman's Editor

What could be more exciting than a Sweet Sixteen party with all the frills and femine touches for a young lady going on 16?

This birthday buffet menu holds appeal for adults as well as young guests, and with a little alteration in the decorations, it would be appropriate for almost any party.

BENEATH ITS faacy party-dress of chopped parslay and radish roses, the frosted salmon loaf is an easy sandwich made from oaa large loaf of bread.

The tiered gelatin rose mold is tinted and flavored with tangy cranberry juice cocktail and sparkly lemon soda. On closer observation the top layer reveals a marshmallow rose, enclosed just below the surface.

An appropriate dash oi sophistication marks tha special birthday cake for the princass of the day. Her cranberry crown cake is topped by a simple pretty tiara of strawberries and the bright flavorful filling is of cranberry-orange relish and whipped cream topping.

If you know the technique givea below, it's easy to maka it cloudproof every time. Tiny rosabuds can be taped to straws or plastic sippers to carry on the Sweet Sixteen theme.

PERFECT ICED TEA

Bring one quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from the heat and while the water is still bubbling add 1|3 cup loose tea or 15 tea bags. Stir and let stand 5 minutes. Stir again and strain into a pitcher holding an additional quart of freshly drawn cold water.

Keep at room temperature until ready to serve. If the tea shouid "cloud", you can restore its amber clear color by adding a little boiiing water. Pour into ice-filled glasses and serve witb lamon and sugar.

FROSTED SANDWICH LOAF
(Makes 8 to 10 servings)

1 large loaf unsliced white bread

1 can (1 pound) salmon, drained and mashed

1 tablespoon chopped onion

1/3 cup mayonnaise

3 packages (8 ounces each) cream cheese

1½ cups chopped parsley milk

Trim crusts from white bread and cut bread into 4 langthwise slices. Combine salmon, onion, relish and mayonnaise. Mash 1 package of the cream cheese until soft, then stir ia ½ cup of the parsley. Spread salmon filling on 2 slices of the bread and the cream cheese filling on 1 slice of the bread.

Stack bread slicas, alternating the fillings, with the uncovered slice on top. Put the loaf on a platter. Mash remaining cream cheese with enough milk to give it a spreading consistency. Spread cream cheese on the sides and top of the loaf. Sprinkle cream cheese with remaining chopped parsley. Garnish with radish roses.

CRANBERRY ROSE MOLD
(Makes 1 3-quart mold)

3 packages (3 ounces each) lemon gelatin

2 cups boiling water

3 cups lemon soda

5-6 marshmallows, cut into quarters

rose or mint leaves, washed well and drained, optional

3 euvalopas uaflavorad gelatin

2 cups grapefruit juice

1 quart (4 cups) Ocean Spray cranberry juice cocktail

Small white rose buds

Dissolve lemon gelatin in boiling water, stir in lemon soda. Chill until slightly thickened. Pour about ½ incb of gelatin into mold and chill until firm. Put marshmallow quarters on gelatin in a circle to resemble a rose; spoon remaining lemon gelatin over marshmallow rose.

Chill until almost set. If desired for decoration, push rosa or mint leaves into gelatin at sides of mold. Chill until firm. Sprinkla unflavored galatin over grapefruit juice and let stand 5 minutes. Place over low heat and stir until gelatin is dissolved.

Stir gelatin into cranberry juica. Chill until slightly thickened. Pour over lemon gelatin in mold. Chill until firm. Unmold by dippiag mold into lukewarm water for a few seconds. Put on a platter and surround with rose buds.

CRANBERRY CROWN CAKE
(Makes 8 to 10 servings)

1 packaga (1 pound, 3 ounces) white cake mix

1 jar (14 ounces) cranberry-orange relish

3 packages (2 ounces each) whipped topping

Halved fresh strawberries

Prepare white cake mix according to package directions. Pour ½ of batter into greased and floured 8-inch layer cake pan and the other half into greased and floured 8-inch ring mold. Bake as directed on package. Unmold cake layer and ring and cool on rack. Spread layer with cranberry-orange relish.

Put ring cake on layer top-side down. Whip topping as directed on package. Use 2|3 of topping to frost sides and top of cake. Fold remaining cranberry-orange relish into remaining whipped topping. Use mixture to fill the center of tha cake. Put halvcd strawberries around top of cake to resemble a crown. Chill until ready to serve.

Sweet Sixteen and....a special birthday party, of course! A buffet menu that includes frosted Sandwich Loaf, Cranberry Rose Mold, Cranberry Crown Cake and Iced Tea.

Economical Buy

Round steak, because it has very little waste, is usually an economicai buy, although it is not as flavorful as other steaks because it lacks marbling. The full round contains three muscles which vary in tenderness.

Be sure to look for U. S. Department of Agriculture meat grading marking. This will tell you what grade the meat received when inspected by cxpart graders--Prime, Choice and Good--rolled on all surfaces along the length of the carcass and a cross both shoulders.

The Top round is the tenderest of the three muscles, can be broiled or pan-broiled in prime and choice grades; braise the lower grades. Also called Inside round.

Advice to Newlyweds From Bar Association

BY LOU ANN BLAIR

Marriage is one legal contract newlyweds usually enter without the aid of a lawyer. But the Illinois State Bar Association hopas that newlyweds will select a family lawyer early in their married life.

To advise the bride and groom, the Bar Association has prepared a pamphlet "Advice to Newlyweds - the Legal Aspects of Marriage," which can be secured from the Illinois State Bar Association, Illinois Bar Center, Springfield, Ill. 62701.

IN THIS pamphlet newlyweds are reminded whom to advise of their new status and how to go about it. For instance, a brida should apply to the Secretary of State for a revised or corrected driver's license which will show her new name and address.

Her social security card should have her married name substitutad for har maiden name.

Beneficiaries or ownership naad to be changad on securities and insurance policies. Wills need to be made.

A WORD OF caution is given to avoid "curbstone opinions" on legal matters from those not trained in the law of the state in which one lives. In Illinois, for instance, both husbaad and wife are personally liable for any debt incurred by either party even though one or both are minors.

A husband under 21 years of age and a wife under 18 are "emancipated" from their status as minors after their weddiag date. Parents will be interested to learn that this same emancipation frees them of the legal obligation to support a minor son or daughter.

It is not difficult to select a family lawyer if you do not know a lawyer personally. Ask your bank for recommendations or call the Northwest Suburban Bar Association referral service. The office is in Arliagton Heights.

AAUW Ends Year Tonight

Delta Zeta Alumnae End Year Sat.

The Ariington Heights Delta Zeta Alumane Group will wind up the year with a Couples Bar-B-Q at 7 p.m., Saturday, June 8 at the home of Mrs. D. Candler, 303 S. Kenilworth, Mount Prospect. Co-hostess is Mrs. Foster of Chicago.

Members are asked to bring a potluck dish. For further information call CI 9-0975.

A recent function of the group was a mother-daughter tea at the home of Mrs. A. Richards of Arlington Heights. Each daughter was presented with a Delta Zeta necklace.

7 Students To Get Degrees

Those receiving bacheior of arts degrees are: Enid Anderson, Mouat Prospect; Esther Bannier and Carol Cory, Ariingtoa Heights; Ross Newberg, Palatine; Lucinda Pump and Mary Reed, Des Plaines.

This Week's Food Values

Retail food prices can be expected to rise in the weeks ahead based on three factors: higher consumer incomes, generating more active demand for closer balanced food inventories; rising marketing costs and inflationary pressures; and increased government purchases of food for welfare and school lunch programs.

According to Consumer Services market report for June 3, retail surveys indicate another week of meaty bargains especially for beef and pork. The supply situation for fresh caaned and frozen vegetables continues to improve. Volume and quality is up and costs dropping for new potatoes, onions, carrots, celery, sweetcorn, lettuce, tomatoes and cantaloupe.

CHICAGO-AREA FOOD VALUES

Meats: sirloin and porterhouse steaks, chuck roasts and steaks beef rib roasts, beef briskets, corned beef; bacon, pork loin roasts and chops, canned hams, ham slices, smoked butt roasts.

Poultry: fryer parts, whole fryers

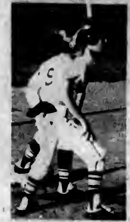
The Game of the Day

Sox De-stripe Tigers



Who's going to score the last run for the Sox? Coach Paul Fromm appears to be just as anxious to cross home as is Jaff Deering.

It was a thirsty day for the Tigers Wednesday as the Sox blanked them 10-0 on a two-hitter by Casey Frankiewicz and Jaff Dearing. John Neuman, who got one of the two Tiger hits, drained the water tank dry in the bottom of the last inning.

BY LINDA GAMMILL

Six doubles and 10 runs were combined by the Sox of the Prospect Haights Boys Baseball Major league with a stunning hill performance by Casey Frankiewicz And Jeff Deering to knock the Tigers for n 10-0 loop ... loss.

The two Sox moundsmen tossed a two-hit game at the Tigers, who want down without a whimper ns 12 Tigers whiffed and only one was able to get as far as third base. Billy Dever waited out Deering for a free pass to first, then stole second and scampered to third on a wild pitch.

SCOTT CAMPBELL drew a walk behind Dever and stole second also, but it was too late - the bottom of the sixth inning - and Mike Kamis became the second Sox hurler's third strikeout victim of the inning.

Campbell and John Neuman managed the only hits of the day for the Tigers, who perhaps hadn't had time for their Frosted Finkas before the game. Campbell was the most successful of the Tigers, gaining two walks, a single in the fourth, and a stolen base against the hard-throwing pair of Sox right-handers.

Kenny Meyer, Tiger tosser, went the distance in absorbing the stinging defeat, and up until the fourth frame had a good thing going for him. He whiffed four of the first five Sox to face him, allowed a single and a fielder's choice to Lee Blair and Jim Deal, and then struck out two more. Paul Fromm then singled and went to second on an error, but Ken Hahn fanned a second time to put the Sox in the field for the bottom of the third.

THZ FOURTH BEGAN with a walk to Mike Psaras that turned what had been a pitcher's duel into a Sox free-for-all. Psaras scored the first of the visitor's 10 runs a moment latar as Frnnkiewicz clouted n double.

Jeff Smith and Tom Hahn reversed the Psaras-Frankiewicz feat as Smith legged out a two-bagger and Hahn walked. After Deal flied out, Deering insured himself of the win with a three-run double.

Four runs in the fourth inning wasn't bad, but the Sox topped that in the fifth with six markers, five men in a row scoring nt one point. Fromm began the inning with an out, but Hahn slapped the fourth Sox double of the game, Gary Miller walked behind him, and Frankiewicz tapped his second hit in a row, scoring Hahn.

Smith punched out his second straight run-scoring double, Miller coming across. A free pass issued to Steve Cory loaded the bases for Deering's second double in as many innings, all three runners completing the circuit on Deering's blow. The relief hurler scored the Sox' last run as Fromm, batting for the second time in the inning, singled sharply.

Hahn ended the rally by popping out, but Dearing struck out the side in the Tiger sixth despite two walks that represented the biggest Tiger threat of the avening, end easily coasted to the shutout victory.

Knight Ballplayers Turn Cleanup Men

Baseball players from Prospect High School will turn car-washers Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

They'll charge $1 per wash, the money to benefit the summer baseball program which Prospect, along with 19 other northwest suburban high schools, will participate in beginning June 17.

The car wash will be held in the high school parking lot, according to Larry Pohlman, Prospect's coach.

The summer program is open to baseball players at Prospect who are not seniors, and has the sanction of the Illinois High School Association. The league, including the Glenbrook schools, the Niles schools, the New Trier teams, Evanston, Conant, Barrington, Deerfield, and Maine East, is a forerunner of a state-sponsored summer program to be ended with a summer state tournament.

Participation in the program will be treated as a summer school class with tuition being paid to the school, and high school coaches being used to run the program.

THE COST WILL be high for the players involved, (at one time Pohlman had figured that it would cost each boy about $40) and the car wash will help to bring the fee down.

Glenview Socks Lions Legion Team, 8-4

A hard-hitting Glenview team exploded for five runs in the fifth inning to hand an 8-4 defeat to the Logan Square American Legion baseball club Wednesday. The loss left the Lions with an 0-2 slate for the season

Aside from the disastrous fifth frame, the Lions' defense played respectable ball, while the offense was able to produce only two earned runs.

THE POTENT Glenview contingent wasted no time in getting down to business, taliying twice in the first inning, on a single and n home run. After this somewhat shaky beginning, starter Mike Abinanti settled down and kept things under control until he was lifted in the third inning.

The local crew, mostly St. Viator and Arlington athletes, bouncad back with three tallies in the fourth inning to take the lead. Dow Woodard, Brian Rooney and Jim Kenney rapped consecutive singles to load the bases and bring Al Feldman to the plate. Feldman laid down n neat squeeze bunt that sent Woodard scampering home with the first Lion run. Kenny and Rooney scored moments later on a throwing error on Mike O'Donnel's easy grounder.

ROONEY REPLACED Abinanti on the mound in the third inning and faced only seven batters in the first two frames he toiled. However, Glenview got to him for four safeties and n walk in the fifth inning to score five times.

It lookad as if Logan Square was going to come back with a big inning of its own as Brian Rooney led off the sixth frame with a two-bagger. Rooney was held at first as Pat Donahue grounded to the shortstop, but was driven home by a double off the bat of George Ciaccio. The rally was then crushed, though, as the Glanviaw hurler fanned the next two Lions to get out of the inning.

The Logan Squre club will be back in action tonight, facing Skokie at 6 p.m. at St. Viator High School.

Artemenko Wins Day Athlete Award

Elk Grove's calm Bob Artemenko, the reluctant dragon of Mid-Suburban League pitching ranks, has earned this week's Day Athlete of the Week award.

ARTEMENKO, WHO Tuesday pitched the Grenadiers to their first MSL championship in anything by stopping Prospect 7-1, says he prefers playing shortstop to pitching, "because when you're pitching you have to concentrate on that all the time and can't worry about the rest of the game."

Batsman from the other teams probably would have been only too glad to let Artemenko stay at least 40 feet from the pitching mound.

He was the league's winningest pitcher, with six victories (plus n save) against two losses, and recorded n 2.10 earned run average with 68 strikeouts in 50 innings. The 50 innings tied him with Conant's John Furio nnd Fremd's Steve Bahn for the most innings pitched in 1968 league play.

Artemenko also helped Elk Grove and himself with his bat, hitting just 227 but driving in 10 runs with his 10 hits, and scoring five times himself. He also struck out only five times in 44 at-bats.

SINCE ELK GROVE finished fifth in the MSL in both team batting average and team pitching, it had to have something to give it the winning edge. That something, Artemenko says, was desire.

"We had to get the most efficiency we could out of our hits by coming up with them when we needed them, and we did," he says.

And what helped the Grens come up with the big plays and big hits, and encouraged them to show up en masse or voluntary practice sessions, was the coaching of Larry Peddy, Artemenko contends.

"MR. PEDDY sort of lit a fire under a lot of us," he says. "You can't make the jump in the standings that we did without a good coach."

Artemenko, who's doing his playing—and, like it or not, pitching—for the Des Plaines American Legion team this summer, was also a basketball standout at Elk Grove, finishing 10th among MSL scorers last season with 181 points and a 13.9 point per game average.

But he prefers baseball, "because I've been playing it for a longer time."

Next year, Artemenko hopes, he'll be performing in n Northern Illinois University uniform. And he says he has the promise of NIU baseball coach Tom Meyer that any playing he does will be nt shortstop.

If Artemenko wants to help Meyer keep his promise, however, he might be well advised to not test temptation by not throwing the fastballs and knucklers he used to such advantage this season within eyeshot of his new coach.

Artamanko's competition for this week's Day award was supplied by a mound opponent. The other nominee:

JIM [illegible], Wheeling's hard-working left-hander, who lost n 1-0 battle to Conant on n misjudged fly ball as the Wildcats missed n chance to tie Elk Grove for the MSL championship on the final.

All area athletes are elibible for The Day Athlete of the [illegible] which can be anonymous— should be mnde nt The Prospect Day, 117 S. Main, Mount Prospect, or by calling [illegible]-7200, ext 54.

Nominations should be made before midnight Monday.

Hahn Fans 16 as Astros Down Cougars 5-0

Kip Hahn fanned 16 while yielding only three hits as the Astros downed the Cougars 5-0 in a Minor division contest of the Prospect Heights baseball League last night.

Hahn received support at the plate from Mark Hirt and Dave Lace, who rapped two-baggers to lead the Astro attack.

In another Minor division game, the Pirates pounded out 15 hits as they rolled past the Greyhounds 19-4. Mnrk Knuttel led the Pirate attack, going four-for-four at the plate including two doubles.

In n Senior division clash last night the Colts dealt a 9-4 loss to the Vikings in a game that saw a total of only twelve hits. Terry Smith was credited with the win and Jey Gange [illegible] the loss.

Golf Mill Outdoor Show

Golf Mill Shopping Center in Niles will open its malls to a display of sports, recreation and outdoor living equipment Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, June 6, 7, and 8.

The sports and outdoor show will feature boats, campers, camping and fishing equipment, and many additional exhibits to assist those planning a summer outdoors. There will be casting and weight lifting demonstrations and an exhibit from the American Indian Center has been tentatively scheduled.

Standard Raps Bankers, 4-3

Mike Brown struck out six and Scott Hammond fanned seven in sharing the Standard pitching duties. Mark Theobald had three hits for the Bankers.

In weekend competition, City Barber Shops nudged Clark's Mobil, 5-2, with Rod Kolbassa knocking in three runs with three hits, and Kenny Holan driving in two with a single and home run.

South Blue Jr.

Joe Ward limited the Tornadoes to one hit as the Oaks registered a 6-4 victory in South Blue Junior play last week.

The Spartans retained the league lead by shutting out the Beavers 3-0 in a game called after four innings because of darkness.

The Oilers came up with 17 runs in the fifth inning an route to a 20-8 victory over the Chicks, but dropped a 12-11 decision to the Beavers by allowing three runs in the bottom of the final inning.

National League

The Cardinals bounced back with two wins in National League play last week after having dropped their first two decisions of the season.

The hot Cards began the week by dealing the Braves a 5-2 loss, and squeaked past the Pirates the next day to even their season record at 2-2.

The Giants came up with two runs in the final frame to down the Astros 5-3. Jim Wilson was credited with the win, while Brian Nelson absorbed the loss.

Bastable Makes 3rd MSL All- Star Team; Fremd Four on Squad

With his selection as one of the two catchers on the Mid-Suburban League all-star baseball team, Wheeling's Jack Bastable became the only MSL athlete to make the conference team in three sports during the 1967-68 school year. Bastable, a junior, was also a choice on the conference football and basketball squads. He played guard for the Wildcat basketball squad and halfback, quarterback, and fullback for the football team.

Rugged Wheeling junior Jack Bastable earned a spot on the Mid-Suburban League all-star baseball team announced Tuesday to become the only MSL athlete named to all-conference teams in three sports for the 1967-68 school year.

BASTABLE, ALSO an MSL all-star in basketball and football, was one of two catchers on the 20-man coaches' baseball honor squad, joining Gerry Grybash of Fremd, which led the league's eight teams by placing four players.

Viking shortstop Wed Dixon, who led the league in hitting with a .410 average and in runs batted in with 12, center fielder Don Wikersham, runner - up in hitting at .350 and co-leader in runs scored with 12, and pitcher Steve Bahn, 5-3 with a 1.26 earned run average, joined Dixon.

MSL champion Elk Grove, Palatine, and Prospect all landed three players on the team, Forest View and Conant placed two apiece, and Arlington had one. The only sophomore to make the team was Palatine pitcher-outfielder Dave Hasbach, who hit .256 and was a 2-3 with a 1.17 ERA.

FURIO, ELK Grove pitcher Bob Artemenko, and Prospect shortstop Joel Theiss, a .340 hitter who trailed only Dixon and Wickersham among MSL regulars were all repeaters from last year's all-star team.

Artemenko, with a 6-2 record and 2.10 ERA plus a .227 batting average and 10 RBIs, and Pleickhardt, a .273 hitter who scored nine runs, were joined by plucky Grenadier teammate Jim "Jock" DiVito, who hit .302 as Elk Grove's regular second baseman.

Lefty Jim Muelhausen, the league's strikeout leader with 84 in 45 innings while racking up a 3-3 record and two saves, was Wheeling's other all-star.

THEISS WAS accompanied by Knight first baseman Jim Gumz, who tied Wickersham for the runs-scored leadership, and center fielder Marc Schillinger, who scored 10 runs and drove in nine on a .277 average. Gumz, a football all-star and Grybash, who made the MSL baskatball squad, were the only baseball players other than Bastable who placed on other teams.

Second baseman Bob Esmail, a .283 hitter, was Palatine's third representative, while pitcher-first baseman John Moffat, a .295 hitter and 3-1, 0.75 pitcher, joined Furio in filling Conant's two spots.

Forest View Senior Wins Award

Kris D. Knudsen, a Forest View High School senior, who will enter Northwestern University in September, was named the first recipient of the Wymen-Hibbs Northwestern Speech School Scholarship last week at the honors convocation at the Northwestern School of speech.

Requirements for the award are that the recipient shall have a good academic record and have participated actively and successfully in high school debate.

Knudsen lives at 932 Tower Dr., Mount Prospect. He participated in debate during all four years at Forest View High School, where he won the top debater Trophy in 1966 and 1967, and was president of the National Forensic League, the National Honor Society and the Explorers post.

Flag Week

National Flag Week will be observed in Mount Prospect June 9 through June 15.

Meyor Deniel Congreve seid Tuesday evening thet June 14 has been designated as National Flag Day in observance of the 191st anniversary of the Americen flag.

'Twelve Angry Jurors'

Scene from "Twelve Angry Jurors," in which Juror No. 3 (Chuck Smith at the right) lunges at Juror No. 8 (Bill Alpers at the left) and is restrained by Juror No. 12 (Ike Smith, standing). Caught in the crossfire is Juror No. 9 the only woman (Celeste Boarini).

The St. James Theater Group will present its spring pley, "Twelve Angry Jurors" in the Prospect High School Little Theater Friday and Saturday evenings both this week and next.

Organized six years ago by members of the St. James parish of Arlington Heights, the group is now made up of community theater performers in the northwest suburbs. The group presents two plays a year, one in the fall and one in the spring. The fall pley was "Tom Jones."

Included in the cast of the spring pley are Celeste and Ed Boarini of Arlington Heights who have been in community plays 22 years. They are members of The Playmakers of Park Ridge, one of the first community groups in the northwest suburbs.

Also in the cast is Bill Alpers, president of the St. James Group and winner of the Hammy Award in "Tom Jones". The award is given after each play to the member of the cast who is judged by the group to have given the outstanding performance.

"Twelve Angry Jurors" is being directed by James Hall of Palatine, member of the School District 25 administrative staff.

FOR FRIDAY

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) -- Employ whatever aptitude you may have for design and organization and you should know an exceptionally gainful day.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) -- A day when you must gear your words to your listener. Don't think you can say the same thing in the same way to everyone.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23) -- Make sure you are not advocating a plan of action which you would rather not be connected with. Investigate thoroughly.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) -- Avoid jumping from one thing to another in your mind. The Virgo with a grasshopper brain can know only minute success.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) -- Don't be surprised if others are not as careful of observing the social niceties as you are. Make allowances for circumstances.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) -- Advancement is in the air. Make sure you receive your share of the glory when the prizes are handed out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) -- If your way equates with the "modern" way, you can rest assured that success is in the offing. Otherwise, change your approach.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) -- A time for change. Don't panic as it becomes clear that you must make way for the new. Relinquish the old gracefully.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) -- A day which should end well for the Aquarius who makes a genuine effort to fit in with modern times and modern ways.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 21) -- Make every effort to remove excess baggage from the present project. Anything that won't clear the way for success should go.

ARIES (Mar. 22 - Apr. 20) -- The Aries who fails to stick to the rules for acceptable behavior at this time may find himself out in the cold by evening.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21) -- Difficulty in communication should not be allowed to stand in the way of your progress. Actions tell what you cannot say.

In Assault on Woman

Order Lifting Company's Sales Permit Rescinded

Village President John G. Woods announced today that he has rescinded the revocation of the business license of Freeze-Bank Inc. because of the firm's co-operation in capturing an aggravated battery suspect.

The license of the company was revoked Tuesday after an employe of Freeze-Bank was accused of forcefully entering a home and assaulting a housewife.

The complaint against the employe, Le Roy Watts of Chicago, has been signed by Mrs. Patricia Farmer of 1129 S. Walnut.

Watts also has been charged with auto theft by Phillip Pedi of Forest Park.

"I am taking this action in view of the demonstrated co-operation of your company in assisting in the apprehension of the suspect involved in the events of June 3, 1968, and your assurances that the company will carefully screen all personnel who may be called upon to enter the homes or other premises in the village," Woods wrote in a letter to Freeze-Bank.

He said that the company co-operated with the Arlington Heights Police Department.

"I WAS pretty strongly persuaded by (L. W.) Calderwood, the chief of police," said Woods.

The company has said, according to information released by the village manager's office, that on the date of the assault the suspect was not actually working for the company and was driving a private automobile not owned by the company.

According to police reports, Watts was driving an automobile that reportedly belongs to Pedi when the suspect was arrested in Chicago Tuesday.

Mrs. Farmer reportedly helped police trace down the automobile after she copied the license number of the car in which her assailant reportedly fled from her house Monday morning.

She told police that a man presenting himself as an agent for Freeze-Bank asked her to sign a card indicating her satisfaction with the frozen foods she bought from the company.

She trusted him, she said, because he was the same man who had made a delivery on May 24.

She said she took the card in the house, but let the deliveryman wait outside.

When Mrs. Framer returned with the card, according to police records, the man tried to force his way into the house. She said she pushed him and screamed for help, but the man drew a gun and threatened to kill her. She kept screaming.

He then ran to his car and drove away, she said.

Arlington Police Monday contacted James Mc Mahon, vice president of Freeze-Bank, and Vincent Tortorice, company manager, who asked their employes to report to work early Tuesday morning.

MRS. FARMER did not identify any of the employes present. The company said that the man who had made the May 24 delivery was absent. He then was identified as Louis Donaldson, alias Le Roy Watts.

The license number copied by Mrs. Farmer reportedly matched that of an automobile reported stolen from a Forest Park resident.

Chicago Police picked up Watts and turned him over to Forest Park Police. That department notified Arlington Heights Police who brought the suspect here.

Watts is being held at the Cook County jail on a $5,000 bond for the aggravated battery charge and a $3,500 bond for the auto theft charge.

Woods, in his announcement that he is cancelling the license revocation, said the village will continue to be vigilant in protecting its citizens in their dealings with commercial firms.

Woods Praises Police

Arlington Heights, Forest Park and Chicago police drew praise from Village President John G. Woods yesterday.

A word of commendation is in order for the police departments as well as Freeze-Bank, Inc., for the co-operation shown in the hunt and arrest of a suspect in the Farmer case, the village president said.

The police departments, in co-operation with the company, located and arrested the suspect Tuesday, less than 48 hours after the alleged assault on an Arlington Heights woman was reported.

Man with Golden Gun Robs Store

A robber with a gold-colored pistol reportedly helped himself to $15 from the cash register of the Doretti pharmacy 210 W. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights, yesterday.

"The more I think about it, the madder I get," said sales clerk Barbara Kline, "Maybe the gun was a toy."

She said the "gunman" came into the store and asked for cigarettes.

"This is a stick up," he told Miss Kline. Then he pointed a gold gun at her, but she just laughed.

"You gotta be kidding ... please go away. It's hot," she said.

"The register was open because I was dealing with another customer. He just reached over and helped himself to three $5 bills."

IN A DEEP, but quiet, voice, the gunman said, "give me the money, all of it."

But Miss Kline refused.

"He was so nervous just standing there," she said.

When he saw another employe approaching, he left the store and got into a car parked at the side of the lot, Miss Kline said.

"I became frightened only after it happened," she said.

Richard Dorretti, owner of the store, said the store was burglarized in Febrerary, 1967.

Churches Set Memorial Services for Kennedy

Memorial observances are scheduled in Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect this Sunday for the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Gov. Samuel Shapiro has designated Sunday as the official day of mourning in Illinois and has directed flags to be flown at half mast.

While no special services are scheduled at this time, most church pastors said some mention of the slain New York senator would be made at all Sunday services.

The 9 p.m. service today at Beth Tikvah Congregation in Hoffman Estates will be in memory of Sen. Kennedy.

"We will speak of him and of the problem that our nation faces," said Rabbi Hillel Gamoran.

"It is a terrible condition when people feel the problem can be solved by violence. I will try to instill in the members of the congregation that there is another way to solve problems and try to instill in them hope for the nation," he said.

Pastor William Robertson of the Arlington Heights Christian Church, 333 W. Thomas, said part of the 9 a.m. Sunday service would be a memorial to Mr. Kennedy.

"PERHAPS WE will devote the entire service to him," he said.

Pastors of Roman Catholic churches said the senator's name would be included in the Mass of the Faithful and would be mentioned in the prayers for the dead at all masses.

Pastor Edward Hughes of St. James Catholic Church, Arlington Heights, said that a special prayer service would be held tonight, Saturday morning and at the regular masses on Sunday. Saturday 9 a.m. mass will be a requiem service for Kennedy.

"The Way Out of Our Woes" will be the theme of the message delivered by Pastor Elmer Fischer at the Cumberland Baptist Church, 1500 E. Central Rd., Mount Prospect.

"THERE will be no special memorial service but the message will be geared toward the tragedy," Pastor Fischer said. The service will begin at 10:45 a.m.

Graduation exercises will be held Sunday at St. John Lutheran Church School, 1100 Linneman Rd., Mount Prospect and Pastor Waldemar Streufert said the death of Kennedy would be mentioned at the 8 and 10:30 a.m. services.

Churchmen indicated that they would lead their congregations in prayer for the late senator.

Man Held In Theft Of Mower

Frank A. Zizzo, 28, of Des Plaines, was arrested by Arlington Heights police Wednesday after Even Wehunt of 144 W. Golf, Arlington Heights, signed a complaint against him for theft.

Wehunt said the incident occurred when his car was parked at the Rheingold Inn, 104 W. Algonquin, Arlington Heights.

He told police that a friend allegedly saw Zizzo try to remove a power lawn mower from the rear of his car.

The friend told Arlington Heights police that Zizzo had a truck backed up to the rear of the car.

Wehunt said the mower was valued at $250.

Zizzo is scheduled to appear in Arlington Heights Branch of Circuit Court June 28. Bond has been set at $500.

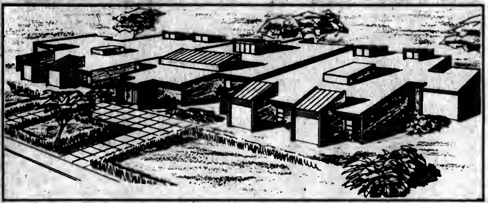
Annual Picnic

The Airy Trees Community Assn. of Arlington Heights will hold its second annual picnic at Grove No. 5, Busse Woods, on Saturday, June 8.

The event is scheduled to begin at 11:15 a.m.



This is how the John Cardinal Cody Center for the Blind Mentally Retarded is to appear when it is completed later this year at Little City on Algonquin Rd. west of Arlington Heights. His Eminence John Cardinal Cody of Chicago will take part at ground-breaking ceremonies on Monday.

Letter Taken

Center for Handicapped Ground-Breaking Monday

BY RICHARD CRABB

Ceremonies marking the beginning of construction of the John Cardinal Cody Center for the Blind Mentally Retarded will take place Monday at Little City on Algonquin Rd. west of Arlington Heights.

His Eminence John Cardinal Cody of the Chicago Archdiocese, will take part in the ceremonies and turn the first shovel of earth. Ceremonies will begin at 4 p.m.

Dr. Donald Becker, superintendent of Little City, said today, "The new unit at Little City, to be named the John Cardinal Cody Training Center for the Blind Mentally Retarded, will be the first such facility of this type to be developed in the entire Chicago area. The new unit will include facilities for training, treatment and research of the blind mentally handicapped."

BECKER SAID the research to be done at the new Cody Center is important. "The construction of Chicagoland's first unit for research in the treatment of the blind mentally retarded will fill a gaping void now present in the care of those with the multiple handicaps of blindness and mental retardation."

The new Cody Center will be developed at Little City, Becker said, because of the unusual services for the handicapped already available there and because of the emphasis placed upon research at the Algonquin Rd. institution. Recent studies indicate that 3 per cent of American children are born mentally retarded. In addition, there are 200 diseases that can cause the problem after birth.

"Actually this is a new field," Becker explained. "We are deeply interested in learning more about the treatment and rehabilitation of those with multiple handicaps. We will regard the operation of this new facility as a pilot undertaking that hopefully will lead to better methods for the treatment of the blind retarded."

Three Hospitalized After Auto Crashes

Curt Carlson, 10, of 307 N. Yale, Arlington Heights, was admitted and is in "fair" condition after he was hit by a car while riding a bicycle on Yale and Miner. The driver of the car was Frank Willard, 77, of 1605 W. Fremont, Arlington Heights.

Barbara Bowers, 18, of Palatine was treated and released from the hospital for injuries sustained in an auto accident on Golf Rd., near Algonquin. A car driven by John Fender, 37, of Elgin collided with Miss Bower's car, police said.

Fandar was ticketed for following too closely.

Alexander Hway, 43, of Hoffman Estates was treated at the hospital after an auto accident at Algonquin near Arlington Heights Rd. Police said a car driven by Tony Adochio, 47, of Skokie collided with Hway's car. Adochio was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions.

Bill Curbs Door-To-Door Sales

By Charles Mouratides

Rep. Eugene Schlickman (R–Arlington Heights) said he is planning to introduce a new bill in the State Legislature January to regulate door-to-door soliciting.

In the wake of an alleged assault on an Arlington Heights mother of two boys that resulted in the temporary revocation of a business license, Schlickman said municipalities are frustrated because there is not much they can do to improve the situation.

Several intimidation of residents by solicitors have been reported, Arlington Heights Mayor John G. woods said.

"Legislation is needed. I feel very strongly about it," said Woods, who revoked the license of a frozen meats and vegetable company for three days this week.

"We are concerned about people who have criminal records," Woods added. "We would like some way to screen them from entering houses. Door-to-door contact is totally different from entering stores."

WOODS SAID he is asking for some reasonable regulations.

A bill restricting solicitatation was introduced in the State Legislature last year, but died in a committee.

That bill, according to Schlickman, who sponsored it, was drafted by an area attorney and would have given municipalities authority to regulate, prohibit, license and tax solicitors.

But the bill ran into opposition. "We got almost as many letters against it as we got against the gun legislation," Schlickman said.

Because of its "prohibit" and "tax" features, opponents said that the bill would interfere with the solicitors' livelihood.

Then Schlickman amended the bill, eliminating the two controversial restrictions, but giving specific statutory authority to municipalities to regulate and control door-to-door soliciting.

According to the amendment, Schlickman said, a municipality could require by ordinance that all solicitors register at the village hall for a permit.

The village would have three days to investigate the applicant's background.

A permit would be denied if the man were found to have been convicted of felony or had been a patient in a mental institution within five years.

The ordinance also would regulate the hours a solicitor could operate in the village.

Because of the original opposition, even the amended bill was unsuccessful, the legislator said.

NOW SCHLICKMAN has drafted a new bill that reflects the 1967 amendment. But until now, he said, there has been a favorable response from village attorneys as well as officials of solicitation companies.

"I expect we will have a solicitor control bill passed in 1969", he said.

Mount Prospect was sued by Colliers Encyclopedia about two years ago for having arrested two of its salesmen who were operating in the village late in the evening, but no further action has been taken.

That village now has an ordinance that restricts door-to-door solicitation from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

The lawsuit claims that the ordinance is not constitutional because the state has not empowered municipalities to regulate solicitors.

Old Town Dist. Planning Another Referendum

BY LARRY WILLS

Three months after a narrow defeat, officials of the Old Town Sanitary District announced yesterday that they again will present a referendum on construction of sanitary sewers to the Prospect Heights, voters June 29.

Richard Schuld, president of the district, said "We want to take advantage of the $2 million sewer being built for us by the Metropolitan Sanitary District." Metro district officials have agreed to construct a sewer through the Old Town District to serve Arlington Heights and Prospect Heights.

The time to construct the sewers, Schuld said, is now, before the construction costs go any higher.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS voters defeated a bond issue proposal by 59 voters on March 23. The earlier plan would have included a less extensive sewer system, provided by the Metropolitan District, since the proposed line from Wolf Rd. would have reached only to the edge of Old Town. The new approved Metropolitan line will run through the Old Town District to Arlington Heights.

Total cost of the project will be no more than $900,000. The proposal will include tributary lines running along the streets in Prospect Heights and the homeowners will have to pay for the installation of the line from their houses to the street.

The March 23 referendum became the point of debate among residents when, at the last minute, a small group worked actively to have the proposal defeated. The dissident faction, headed by Densil Brown, director of the Prospect Clinical Laboratory, took issue with the extent of contamination in Prospect Heights woewells.

Old Town officials said that, according to Brown's survey, 30 per cent of the wells in Prospect Heights were found to have coli (bacteria), but Brown later said that only 20 per cent are contaminated.

Regner to Serve on GOP State Platform Committee

REP. DAVID J. REGNER

Rep. David J. Regner (R-Mount Prospect) will serve on the Republican State Platform Committee.

The announcement was made today in Springfield after a meeting of Illinois Republican leaders to complete plans for the June Republican state convention.

The platform committee prepares and approves all resolutions to be placed before the Illinois Republican convention when it convenes June 28 in Springfield for its two-day session. The platform committee also writes the "position paper" to be presented to the state convention. This report will summarize the achievements and goals not attained by the Republican party in Illinois during the past two years.

THE MOST important job of the Regner state committee will be the writing of the Illinois Republican platform on which GOP state candidates will campaign during the general election in November. The platform will be presented to the state convention for possible amendment and approval.

Regnar, a 3d district representative to the Illinois General Assembly, served on the Republican State Platform Committee in 1966. On the platform drafted by that committee, the GOP won the largest number of Illinois House seats ever won when representatives were elected by districts. Regner served as secretary of the platform committee in 1966.

Regarding the appointment Rep. Regner said today, "It is indeed a great honor to serve our party in this capacity. I hope I will be able to contribute to another Republican victory this November. With the many problems facing our State today, we are in need of a change to responsible leadership. I am sure that our party is ready, willing and able to provide that kind of leadership to the people of Illinois."

Takes 2 Firsts in First Photo Contest

CARL WYSOCKI, a student at Thomas Junior High School in Arlington Heights, won a first place award for this entry in the 1968 Scholastic Photography Awards conducted by Scholastic Magazine. Sponsored by Eastman Kodak Co.

BY MAXINE TYMA

The eighth grader is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Wysocki of 1340 N. Vail, Arlington Heights.

The boy said this is the first time he entered a photo contest and the first time he won any prizes for his photos.

He said he plans to use the prize money to buy equipment so he can set up his own darkroom at home.

"Last year, I took a lot of basketball pictures at school and some shots of the teams," he said.

"I don't know if I would like to be a professional photographer. I think so, but it is kind of early to tell," he said.

The youth said his 23-year-old brother, Alan, interested him in photography. Alan now lives in California.

That was about three years ago and young Wysocki said he learned some techniques from his older brother and then "read some books."

He said his homeroom teacher, William Cooper, got the entry blanks for him and he submitted his work for the contest.

Through the contest a total of $6,255 in cash prizes were awarded to top teen photographers in all parts of the country.

The panel of judges for the contest included: Jacob Deschin, photo editor of the New York Times; Irving Desfor, syndicated columnist for the Associated Press; Julia Scully, editor of Modern Photography; Stewart Comfort, photographic illustrations division of the Eastman Kodak Co.; David M. Gulick, photographer of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and Charles A. Potts, head of the photography department, Art Center College of Design, Los Angeles.

Candidates Pause in Campaigns

BY RICHARD CRABB

All pre-primary campaigning in the northwest suburbs and throughout Illinois was suspended Thursday by candidates of both parties out of respect to the late Sen. Robert Kennedy.

There will be a complete cessation of campaign activity until Monday, the last day before the June 11 primary.

Observers in both parties in the northwest suburbs tended to agree with Elk Grove Township Republican Carl Haneen who said "Curtailment of campaigning four out of the last five days before the June primary will greatly reduce the candidates communication with the voters and that certainly will not help in getting out a large primary vote."

Most of the state candidates of both parties were on the campaign trails when the news of the Kennedy assassination came. They generally kept their breakfast appointments yesterday, then cancelled engagements for the remainder of the day. When the services for Sen. Kennedy were set for Saturday and President Johnson declared Sunday as a day of mourning, Illinois candidates generally announced a cessation of campaign activities until Monday.

RICHARD B. Ogilvie, Republican candidate for governorn, was in Urbana when the news of Sen. Kennedy's death reached him. He held his breakfast meeting, but cancelled immediately his campaign engagements for the remainder of the day. At noon he halted all campaigning until Monday.

John H. Altorfer, also a Republican candidate for governor, was not as sharply effected by the curtailment as many other candidates since he had not scheduled Thursday evening engagments so he could attend graduation exercises at Richwoods High School in Peoria where his daughter, Carol, was a member of the graduating class. Altorfer had been scheduled to be in southern Illinois on Friday.

Ogilvie and Altorfer have planned intensive campaigning for Monday. Ogilvie at 5 a.m. Monday in a private plane from Chicago to Marion in southern Illinois. He will appear in Champaign, Decatur, Springfield, Quincy where there will be a motorcade through the business district. He then will fly to Peoria, Moline and Rockford. Ogilvie will complete his primary campaign with a 4 p.m. press conference at his Chicago headquarters.

Altorfer will spend part of Monday both in the Chicago area and downstate. He will end his pre-primary campaign in Peoria.

5 River Trails PTAs Sponsor Vision Check

Registration for a free preschool vision testing program, sponsored by the five PTA's in River Trails School District 26, will be held from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. Monday, June 10.

Registration will take place in the River Trails Junior High School, 1000 Wolf Rd.

The program will be conducted in co-operation with the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness and the Illinois Department of Public Health. All preschoolers, 3½ to 5 years old are eligible for the screening.

Pre-registration is necessary so that a time for the testing can be arranged. The testing will be held Monday and Tuesday, June 17 and 18 at the Junior High School.

At registration, each parent will be given a "readiness game" to play with the child at home to familiarize him with what will be expected during the test.

Library Reports Problems: Pranks, Rowdies

BY LINDA GAMMILL

Philip Carlsen is an eighth grader about to graduate from Miner Junior High School, and he has a complaint about the new Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

Said the young Carlsen, who lives at 1003 S. Euclid, of his first trip to the new library:

"When I started to browse around, I was amazed at all the high school-aged teenagers that were walking around and smoking cigarettes. I think it is just disgraceful. I hope something is done about it."

PHILIP'S grandmother, who lives with the family, said that the experience for Philip was "annoying because the teen-agers were just showing off, trying to prove that they could smoke."

Mrs. Mary Lee Ewalt, head librarian, explained Wednesday that the library policy on smoking was the same as that of the schools: no one of high school age is allowed to smoke, but the staff had been overwhelmed by an unexpected surge of patrons during the first few days.

More than 3,100 volumes had been checked out Monday afternoon, the opening day. This, added Mrs. Josephine Running, secretary, was more than three times the number of books normally checked out at the old library even on busy days.

IN ADDITION to the readers checking out books, curiosity seekers invaded the building in force, and people who were looking for special sections of the library couldn't find them.

Mrs. Ewalt said that youngsters were running through the building. When she questioned one girl, the child said she didn't go to the Children's Room because she "couldn't find it."

Of the persons entering the building in the first few days, Mrs. Ewalt said, "I think 25 per cent of them were just rowdy, and the other 75 per cent were confused."

Pranks added to the staff's troubles. The elevator stopped between floors and had to be locked; the fire alarm was pulled; and books were switched to the wrong shelves.

Police responded to the librarian's call for help, sending both uniformed and plain-clothed officers, according to Mrs. Ewalt. A detective has been on duty at the library every day this week, she said.

As soon as things quiet down a bit, the staff would be able to attend the smoking problem better, Mrs. Ewalt said.

She added:

"There are no ashtrays in the Young Adults section."

Two Chicago Men Held In Apartment Burglary

Two Chicago men have been arrested and charged with the May 16 burglary of an apartment in Arlington Heights.

The pair were arrested Thursday by the Skokie police for theft. Skokie police found a telephone dial apparently linking the men to the burglary of the apartment of Myles MacCormack, 2218 Goebbert.

One of the items MacCormack reported missing to police was a French telephone. At the time of the burglary, MacCormack said $255 in cash and merchandise was taken from his apartment.

Flynn is free on $2,500 bond and is scheduled to appear in Arlington Heights branch of Circuit Court June 21.

O'Connor was being held by Skokie Police.

"I know how important it is that we abide by the law and that violence and rioting and lawlessness cannot be tolerated in the United States."

Victory, then violence . . . This Sunday, Viewpoint brings you the story of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

With these words, during a live national television debate in Los Angeles, Senator Kennedy seemed to prophesy the tragedy that would befall him 72 hours later.

The flush of victory was still on his cheeks. The young New York senator was celebrating his triumph in the California presidential primary. Then he was struck down by a crazed gunman. In that instant, as so often in the past, a dark cloud again engulfed the storied Kennedy silver lining.

This Sunday, Viewpoint makes an in-depth study of Robert F. Kennedy . . . the man . . . the father . . . the politician. It traces the remarkable career that carried him from government prosecutor to presidential hopeful. Examines his triumphs and disappointments. Looks at his hopes and fears. Suggests what effect the tragic death of Senator Kennedy may have on the presidential race, on world opinion, on the nation's future.

Dialogue

... with George Hamilton

"For a moment I thought I was seeing double. But you are actually wearing two hats, A. Constant Reader. Why?"

"Father's Day is almost on us."

"That's a nice clear answer. What does that have to do with the two-layer headgear?"

"Well, in common with many others, I am not only a father, but also am the patriarch of the tribe."

"You mean you're a grandfather. What does that have to do with donning the duplex dome insulation, as if you had a severe cold in your brainpan?"

"The two hats are, I pride myself, a neat bit of symbolism. Two hats is an adroit way of stating that I'm filling two jobs simultaneously."

"You mean it wouldn't do to carry one hat in your hand, switching lids as the occasion demanded?"

"No. The two functions are often called into play at the same time. For instance, restraining your own son from beating the daylights out of his offspring who has just used his pet iron to hammer nails, and at the same time instructing your grandson in the proper way to grip the club."

"I suppose the folks who dreamed up Father's Day never went one step further and reckoned on Gramps invading the picture?"

"Even though they didn't, the greeting card devisers have found it a joy forever. You'd be surprised how many lavish French-fold and Poster size concoctions make a dent in the family budget on the sensual paternity commemoration."

"And some go far afield, with inscriptions to my favorite aunt on my father's day, or to a third cousin who has always been like a father to me. How do you feel about this trend?"

"Violently. It's bad enough the way the father's authority has been side-tracked in many families, and the grandfather's status as a senior Solomon has been downgraded to that of a super-square."

"You seem happy in your double role. Have you evolved a formula we can pass on to our eager readers?"

"No formula. But there's nothing mysterious about spanning the generation gap which is claimed to cause so much of a communications breakdown these days."

"If you've figured that out, then you really have a magic formula. More, please."

"Well, men should stop thinking of themselves as grandfathers and, drawing on their veteran experience in the usual domestic hassles, and remembering how they hated to get any advice from their own father, treat their sons no longer as a child but as the head of his own family."

"No advice at all?"

"I didn't say that. If you work at it, you'll find ways of suggesting the proper course so subtly that he'll feel it's his own idea."

"If you can do that, you belong in the United Nations as a top manipulator, Anon. What about the small fry?"

"We all know that it's a common assumption that Gramps is a Santa for all seasons, and is aided and abetted by Grandma in spoiling the kids, championing their causes, permitting their pranks and condoning their mischief-making, and always good for a handout, from a stick of bubble gum to chunks of cold cash."

"I also seem to remember he had a talent for tall tales, simple card tricks, a stream of Stengelese chit-chat which took heavy thinking to unravel, and all the time in the world to listen to a youngster's man-to-man discussion of the world about him or the littlest mini-skirter's early tries at practice of womanly wiles. I hope your formula will not change the image of this Gramps?"

"On the contrary. But the spoiling part is to be used judiciously. Not just to portray the old boy as a dear lovable type, full of charm and groovy as all get out."

"How can Gramps work this clever stunt?"

"Actually, many a parent does not mind if the senior tribal chieftain is playing the part of the jolly Green Giant in certain areas, normally taboo. All the more authority is gained by the parents when they are seen to have enough influence with Gramps to get him to tactfully end the clowning.

"Kids are smart enough to value having a help super-daddy. Their own father adds to his own stature by having been so shrewd as to have arranged for such a male parent for himself."

"Sort of a chain reaction, isn't it?"

"And one that's been around a long time before any nuclear scientist came up with a phrase. It's been on the tip of my tongue to tell you a yarn about the time my own father's father showed us kids how to go fishing in a rain barrel, -- which sort of proves the point."

"How do you go fishing in a rain barrel?"

"Well, it's a bit complicated. First you have to catch some fish to put in the barrel. This means going on a hike to a spot where the fish are biting. This leaves the parents with some leisure time for their own selves, with Gramps taking the youngsters out of sight and sound, a rare event for most pas and mas.

"In fact, while Grandma is the perfect built-in, de luxe model of a babysitter, Gramps is the same thing in reverse, allowing the restless small natives to get away on jaunts and other adventures."

"I can see you've got something up your sleeve for the coming Father's Day celebration at your house, eh?"

"Nothing much. Maybe a turtle race or a frog jumping contest or balloon blowing."

"No fishing in rainbarrels?"

"Pretty hard to find one these days. Maybe by next year...."

"How come you're now carrying one hat, as you leave, and wearing the other?"

"Look, it's alright for me to be groovy, but who wants a grandpa who's weird enough to wear two hats? Two wigs, yes. But not hats.

"And another reason for not going abroad is that they will make you feel PERSONALLY responsible for the war in Vietnam!"

Vote 'Yes' on Jail Improvement Issues

We urge voters in the Northwest suburbs to approve the two County Jail improvement bond issues up for decision in Tuesday's primary. Both issues have been endorsed by Democratic and Republican organizations as well as by every civic, business, labor and other group of consequence in the county.

Critics of the County Jail in the past have almost unanimously blamed its problems on inadequate facilities. The jail was built in 1929 to house 1,200 prisoners. It has consistantly been overcrowded -- disgracefully so.

The two proposals up for approval Tuesday are: a $5 million bond issue for improvements of the existing jail and a $4 million bond issue for construction of a "work release" jail.

INCLUDED in the improvements would be the building of a diagnostic and classification area capable of housing 100 inmates; an addition to the present receiving unit so that separate ingress and egress routes can be provided, a 130-bed dispensary for treatment of all inmates in the institutionn except those requiring major surgery which will be provided by County Hospital; recreational facilities so prisoners will be afforded exercise on a regularly scheduled basis; a central dining room to eliminate the necessity for inmates to eat in their cells and to provide warm meals in a dignified atmosphere, and the renovation and installation of individual water closets in each cell and the installation of water and sewer facilities to reduce the demands on the present system.

The second proposition would provide for the acquisition of real estate and the installation of a dormitory for implementation of the work release program. In this program, authorized by the 75th General Assembly, about one half of the 200 sentenced prisoners at the County Jail would be allowed to hold jobs in private industry during the day and return to the jail each night.

THE POPULATION of Cook County has increased by 50 per cent since the present jail was built. The average number of prisoners now in the jail is 1,900. At times the population has been as high as 2,300. Obviously the jail is woefully inadequate to meet the demands made upon it.

In these days of unrest, law and order are major issues. One of the first steps toward creating a climate of respect for authority is the provision of proper facilities for the housing and rehabilitation of prisoners. For this reason we urge our readers to vote "Yes" on both bond propositions.

DOCTOR SAYS

Periodic Checkups Help

W. G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q -- In the last three years, my husband has suffered with asthma. As a result of allergy tests, his doctor told him to avoid a long list of foods. I am going crazy trying to find things for him to eat. How effective is the operation in which the carotid body in the neck is removed? The pills he is taking help some, but he still has a bad cough. What do you recommend?

A -- The operation mentioned was at first greeted with enthusiasm. Some patients were apparently benefitted, but most surgeons have had such poor results with the operation that they no longer recommend it. More recently, good results have been reported with a special apparatus for intermittent positive pressure breathing. A new device for the inhalation of negative ions, also experimental, shows some promise.

Q - Is there any truth in the common belief that a Chihuahua dog with help asthma?

A - Since the inhalation of animal dander is a common cause of asthma, I would be more inclined to believe that a Chihuahua would help you to get asthma.

Q - I have been taking Decadron for asthma. Will it cause any bad side effects?

A - This drug is closely related to cortisone. When used for prolonged periods, it may cause peptic ulcer, moonface, decalcification and collapse of the spine, insomnia and bleeding in the skin. Anyone taking this drug should have periodic checkups.

Q - Could a bad reaction to the Salk vaccine cause an allergy to eggs?

A - Anything that irritates the mucous membrane of the nose will cause sneezing. Other causes include allergy, head colds and, in some persons, sitting in a draft. The best control is to remove the cause, if possible. Sometimes a sneeze can be suppressed by hard pressure on the skin below your nose.

Two State Scholarships Awarded

State Rep. Eugenia S. Chapman (D) of Arlington Heights has awarded two General Assembly scholarships to District 214 seniors.

Selected by a panel of high school guidance counselors, Victoria Kanellis of Mount Prospect and David Wheeler of Elk Grove Village will receive four-year all-tuition scholarships to any Illinois State school.

Miss Kanellis, a student at Wheeling High School, plans to attend Western Illinois University after graduation. Ranking No. 1 in her class, Victoria is a vice-president of the National Honor Society at Wheeling, a member of the National Forensics League and teaches Sunday school. She hopes to further prepare for teaching career at Western.

Wheeler is third in his graduating class at Elk Grove High School, and plans to attend the University of Illinois at Urbana. As president of his class, he also won letters in football and wrestling and was a member of National Honor Society. Wheeler hopes to attend law school after his four years at Urbana.

A committee of high school counselors, headed by W. David Whiteside of High School Dist. 214, made the initial contacts to schools, reviewed the applications, and selected the winners.

Serving with Whiteside on the committee were Keith Shelton, High School District 211, Palatine; Merlin Schultz, Maine Township High School, Park Ridge; and Father Farrelly of St. Viator High School, Arlington Heights.

To Be Shown At Randhurst

Area residents will be able to view Carson Pirie Scott and Company's Illinois Sesquicentennial miniature rooms from June 10 to June 18 at Randhurst.

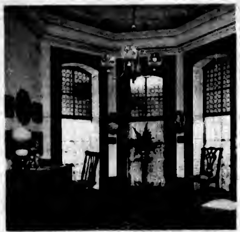
The 15 rooms created by artisan Eugene Kupjack of Park Ridge depict rooms of famous Illinois personages and other characteristics throughout the 150 years of the state.

Kupjack also created the Americana rooms in the permanent exhibit at the Art Institute of Chicago, the famous Thorne Miniature Rooms.

The Carson rooms are scaled one inch to one foot and are created to the minutest of details. They include the country school room of 1900, Rutlege Tavern of New Salem, the farm kitchen of 1850, nickelodeon of 1910 and corner drug store of 1885.

Commerce of the times from 1854, rooms of personalities including those of Lincoln, Frank Lloyd Wright, Jane Addams and Carl Sandburg are also incorporated.

The exhibit will continue on its statewide exhibitions through November. The collection will later be donated to a museum for permanent exhibit.



Jane Addam's Study in Hull House - 1890 will be among the 15 miniature rooms to be exhibited at Carson Pirie Scott and Company's Randhurst Store June 10 to 18.

Bank Accounts For Newlyweds

BY LOU ANN BLAIR

In a recent interview with Wayne Walter, vice president of the First Arlington National Bank about the type of bank accounts ba thinks newlyweds should have, we discussed whether the young couple should have a joint checking account or separate ones.

Walter seemed amused, and said this usually was not the problem with newlyweds - that their real money problem seemed to be that they hava seven installmant payments coming due on one pay check too small to go around.

YOUNG PEOPLE find themsalves in raal trouble when this happens. Walter advises young marrieds to sit down and make a list of the major things they will need and try to buy or borrow in such a way that they will have no more than one or two obligations to meet instead of seven or eight. They should carefully budget and get the necessities first.

He urges them to establish a good credit rating early in their married life. The time will come when they will want to buy a house, borrow money in an emergency or get a new job. A good credit rating is a valuable asset and once established, must be protected. A poor credit rating can quickly dash hopes and dreams.

The "dollar down and a dollar a week" sales pitch can lead to impulsive buying. Walter says impulsive buying is the biggest danger facing young couples who are attempting to manage thair money.

HE SUGGESTS that they slow down and learn to shop for the monay thay naad. Shopping for money is just as important as shopping for the right chair or the best refrigerator at the iowest price.

Suppose a young coupie needs $1,000 to buy furniture for their new apartment. Is it wise to buy aach piece separately from a different store using charge accounts, buy all of the furniture from one store paying carrying charges and interest on the unpaid balance, or borrow the $1,000 outright from a lending institution or credit union and pay cash for the furniture?

These questions point to the need for young people to consider carefully the matter of money managament and demonstrate intelligent use of credit.

GETTING BACK to the question of joint checking accounts versus separate ones, the family budget is easier to maintain if a joint checking account is used. There will probably be less extravagant spending when it is obvious from tha balance in ona chackbook just how much money is available.

Working wives will be less likely to think in terms of "my money" when she pools it with her husband's. The bank account becomas "our" money and together the young couple plan the best ways to spend and use it.

There is another advantage, too. There is only one bank statement to reconcile!

3 Get Nurses Scholarships

Three Arlington Heights girls were recipients of scholarships awarded by the Arlington Heights Nurses Club at their spring luncheon Wednesday at Plentywood Farm.

The girls, all prospective nursing students are Kathleen Landwehr, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Waltar Landwebr, Catbarine Dimuzio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dimuzio and Mary Yochem, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Yochem and the late Raymond Yochem.

Miss Landwehr, a graduate of Arlington High School will receive the $600 Martha Jackson Scholarship, which is given annually by the Nurses Club. She will attend Texas Women's University in Denton, Tex., a four year program beginning in Sept. and plans to specialize in pediatrics. Until fall Kathleen will be working as a nurse's assistant at Northwest Community Hospital.

A $300 scholarship was awarded Catherine Dimuzio. She has been accepted by the James Ward Thorne School of Nursing at Passavant Hospital in Chicago. One of seven children, Catherine will be following in the footsteps of an older sister who recently completed nurses training. Cathy is a graduate of Sacred Heart of Mary High School in Rolling Meadows and is presently working the dietary department of Northwest Community Hospital.

Mary Yochem will receive the Lora Milburn Memorial Fund of $125. This scholarship was created in memory of long-time Nurses Club member Mrs. Oscar Milburn, from money contributed by her friends and family. Mary, a graduate of St. Patrick's in Des Plaines, is a 2d year student at Harper Junior College. She attended Mary Crest College in Davenport, Ia, for 3 years and upon completion of her nurse's training will complete work for her degree. She is working part-time at St. Alexius Hospital.

ALL THREE scholarship winners and their mothers were guests of honor at the luncheon as was Mrs. Charles Bloecker, a charter member of the organization.

'Backyard Bash' Benefit

At the Oak Brook Polo Club, 2900 York Rd., Oak Brook, Ill., the North Suburban Auxiliary of the Illinois Children's Home and Aid Society will hold "A Backyard Bash" benefit. The event will be beld Saturday, Juna 22 beginning with cocktails at 5:30 p.m. and dinner served at 7:30, followed by dancing at 9 p.m.

The benefit is one of many fund raising projects held each year by auxiliaries of the Society.

The Society gives its protection and care to more than 1,500 children and families each year. Services include: foster family care, residential traatment for disturbed children and adolascents, therapeutic traatment and counseling for families and individuals, service to unmarried mothers and adoptive placement.

Auxiliary members provide a variety of volunteer services including help in the medical clinic, work in a re-sale shop, provide transportation for the Sociaty's children betwaan agency, foster homas, hospitals and other points, aid in Society-wide fund-raising projects, speak to organized groups about the Society and its work.

Since 1883, the agency has given halp to mora than 175,000 children.

Pastoral Care Study Program

The first summer quarter of clinical pastoral education will be offered by the Pastoral Care Department at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge, from June 17 to August 30. The program, for five selected seminary students, is designed to train them to function in a hospital setting and increase their effectiveness in every aspect of their ministry.

Students who will take the course are Terrence Baeder of Concordia Seminary in St. Louis; Jon Fogleman, of the Lutheran School of Theology in Chicago; Rodney Michel of Seabury-Westarn Theology Seminary in Evanston; and David Nelson of Luther Seminary in St. Paul. A fifth student will be selected.

Homemakers Notebook

The next time you pack a suitcase for your husband PLACE HIS NECKTIES over the center page of a magazine. Close the magazine and pack it flat at the bottom of the case to prevent creased ties. He will appreciate your using a current issue of one of his favorite magazines.

Start saving those littia margarina tubs. Fill tham with water and make LARGE CUBES OF ICE to put in your picnic jugs. Trays can be stacked to save space in the freezer. Thase sama soft margarine tubs make excellent individual SALAD CONTAINERS for a picnic lunch.

Here is a tip for making traveling with a small baby easier: Pack a variety of dry cereal in baby food jars, adding a small amount of sugar. At feeding time, all you need to do is add a little formula and mix to the right consistency.

PERSPIRATION STAINS in clothing are difficult to remove. Try holding the stain over ammonia in a bowl or cup so tbat tba fumas penetrate the fabric. Do not place the item in the ammonia. If article is badly stainad, you may have to repeat the process. Hang article outside to air and dry. SPONGING WITH WHITE VINEGAR is sometimes recommeneed if the above does not work. Follow with washing and rinsing.

Want to know how to grow an AVOCADO TREE? Stick three round toothpicks in the side of the avocado pit and suspend the flat end over a glass of water.

Tba bottom of the pit should always be in the water. It will take several weeks but eventually a root will sprout and the top of the pit will split and a stem will grow. After a coupla of leaves are formed, carefully plant the pit in rich soil in a very large pot with good drainage. Keep the plant moist and in a sunny place.

Meet June 20

The Des Plaines Vallay Geological Society will hold its June meeting in the West Park Field House, 651 Wolf Rd., Des Plaines, on Thursday, June 20 at 8 p.m.

Sociaty membar Frank Willis will present a lecture and slide presentation on rock collecting in Arizona. Show tables will be ready for viewing at 7:45 p.m.

FATHER McGINLEY

Father McGinley, New Chaplain

The Rev. Hugh M. McGinley, O.P., a Roman Catholic priest, has been appointed as chaplain and staff counselor in the alcoholism treatment program at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

Father McGinley, a native of Pennsylvania, was ordained in 1937 as a Dominican priest. He received specialized clinical pastoral education in alcoholism at the Rutgers Summer School of Alcohol Studies, the Fairfield County Council on Alcoholism in Westport, Conn., and Hazelden in Center City, Minn.

At Lutheran General, he will counsel with alcoholics and their spouses, working in groups and helping in the educational programs.

Christian Scientists Hear Appeal for Builders

Over 7,000 Christian Scientists gathered from around the world for the Annual Meeting of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass. June 2.

Arthur P. Wuth, new chairman of The Christian Science Board of Directors, read an appeal from the board for man to be spiritual builders. The message stressed individual effort as the first step in any attempt to help solve the world's ills.

SINGLING OUT war and racial conflict as two of the major problems which the Church must confront, Wuth said, "The Church must fulfill the requirements of peace by teaching the practicality of the great commandments -- love for God and love for one's neighbor...harmony, order, and peace know no color line. They belong to the spiritual heritage of each individual; and it is the responsibility of Church to assert, demonstrate and maintain this standard."

Gordon V. Comer, newly-elected president for the coming year, said that whatever the turmoil of the present times, spiritual values and all the blessings they bring to humanity will survive.

THE CHRISTIAN Scientists visiting Boston this year observed work beginning on the construction of a new Administration Building, a new Sunday school building and a large multi-purpose building.

At present the activities at the headquarters of the denomination are carried out in eight different buildings. Centralization of facilities and personnel will be possible in the new Church Center in about two and one half years.

'Cause and Creator'

"God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

Services will be held at 11 a.m., First Church of Christ Scientist, 401 S. Evergreen, and is open to the public.

Services at First Church of Christ Scientist, Laurel at Marion, Des Plaines, begin at 11 a.m. Sunday school for students to age 20 is conducted at the same time. A nursery is also provided.

Bethel Choir At Meadows Baptist

The Bethel College Choir of St. Paul, Minn., will appear in a concert at 7 p.m., Sunday in the Meadows Baptist Church, Rolling Meadows.

The 65-voice choir is on its annual concert tour in the midwest. June 10 the choir will be leaving for a five-week tour of 12 European countries including Scandinavia, the British Isles, and the Continent.

C. EDWARD Thomas, associate professor of music and instructor in piano, will perform with the choir. Director is Robert Berglund, professor of music, who earned his doctorate at Colorado State College and three degrees from the University of Minnesota.

The concert program includes a Bach double choir motet, "Komm Jesus Komm," four motets by 20th century composer Francis Poulenc, and selections by choral composers Paul Christiansen and Leland B. Sateren, in addition to several European composers. The choir also includes in its tour repertoire hymn arrangements and spirituals.

At Mission Night

The Rev. and Mrs. Richard Drummond, missionaries from Vietnam, will be guest speakers at "Missionary Night" Sunday, at 7 p.m. at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 382 South Mount Prospect Rd., Des Plaines.

The Drummonds had only been in Vietnam about a year when Mrs. Drummond's father, the Rev. Robert Ziemer, was killed by the Viet Cong in the Tet Offensive.

MRS. ROBERT ZIEMER, wife of the slain missionary, will also take part in the service. Her son, Tim, will be graduating from Wheaton College this week. He taught a Sunday School class in the Alliance church during his college work at Wheaton.

The Rev. Drummond will show colored slides of the work in Vietnam and also some slides of the "Banmethout Tragedy" in which is father-in-law was slain.

Sacred Concert

The 30-voice choir of the Cumberland Baptist Church, 1500 E. Central Rd., Mount Prospect, will present a concert of sacred music at 7 p.m., Sunday. The choir under the direction of Mel Kasen and accompanied by Mrs. Richard Edblom will feature soloists, instrumental numbers and quartet arrangements. The public is invited.

St. Mark Picnic

St. Mark Lutheran Church of Mount Prospect will hold its 21st annual congregational picnic Sunday at the Village Park in Carpentersville.

Regular church services, with reception of new members at the 11 a.m. service, will be held. The picnic will begin at noon.

Families are to bring their own dinner and utensils. Pop and ice cream will be provided free.

Youth Choir Presents Program at 1st Methodist

A choir of third, fourth and fifth graders from the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights will present a program "Through the Year with the Wesley Choir" at 10 a.m., tomorrow in Fellowship Hall of the church. The public is invited.

The 42-voice choir, under the direction of Mrs. Gerald Robinson, will sing a varied program including melodies from Wales, Liberia, Spain, Moravia, Germany and the Dakota Indians and by such outstanding choral composers as Johann S. Bach, Joachim Neander, Camille Saint-Saens and Austin Lovelace.

An octet of adults from the Chancel Choir will be featured, including Janice Nichelson, Betty McConnell, Jean Nelson, Lorraine Yonkers, Charles Jenks, Frank Palmatier, Henry Dahl and John Johannesen.

Break Ground

Sunday, June 2 marked the occasion of the groundbreaking ceremony for the new Arlington Countryside Chapel at Hintz and Elm Rds. The congregation, presently known as Northwest Bible Chapel, has been holding services in Sullivan School in Prospect Heights for over two years.

Among those participating in the ceremony were Clifford Gaasrud, chairman of the building committee, Howard Morgan, Neil Glass, Robert Owen, Kenneth Ashton and Dr. Walter Liefeld.

but then, this isn't a very serene world. Unitarian Universalists are concerned people. They work for the cause of brotherhood six days a week, and worry on Sunday. People say our church services are stimulating, provocative, controversial ... and beautiful, too. But never serene, never sleepy. If you've had about all the serenity you can take, perhaps you'd like to try our kind of worship. Why not come by next Sunday?

'Tarzan' Stars in 'Picnic'

BY RICHARD CRABB

Ron Ely, the newest Tarzan who is this week and next starring in "Picnic" at the Pheasant Run Playhouse at St. Charles, has done it the hard way.

"From the time I was in high school in Amarillo, Tex.," Ely confided after a Pheasant Run performance earlier this week, "I knew that I wanted to become an actor. I had the good fortune to win a scholarship to the University of Texas.

"I took all the television and radio courses I could get. Finally I decided that I might just as well try it in the big leagues and I want to Hollywood.

"I WORKED at any kind of a job I could get in order to get the money to attend acting classes. My break came when I was selected for a role in the movie, "South Pacific." I think no matter what you do, you have to work hard for the people who show interest in you.

"In my case it was Josh Logan at 20th Century Fox. After "South Pacific" I got a chance for my first television part. It was in "Father Knows Best."

Ely had enlisted earlier in the Air National Guard. His unit was called to duty during the Berlin crisis. After he returned to Hollywood fresh opportunities came quickly. He starred in "Malibu Run", "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypaker" and later in several Tarzan movies.

Ely was quick to sense the opportunity in the Tarzan movies. He was selected as a replacement for the actor who had been doing the parts for years. The filming was being done in the Amazon Valley in Brazil.

Ely had only five hours to catch the plane after he learned he had been selected to carry on for Tarzan. He did so well that he has become Tarzan. He has been before the movie camera as Tarzan every week since he got the part. He is the 15th person to play the Tarzan role and the first to play it on television.

"PICNIC" DEALS with the ageless problem of a summer romance and is just as appealing now as it was a decade ago when William Inge's play was awarded the Pulitzer prize and ran up a 477 performance on Broadway. The play ran an entire season at the Erlanger Theater in Chicago before being made into a motion picture. William Holden, Kim Novak and Rosalind Russell starred in the film version.

Lynn Anderson, currently attending Northwestern University, deserves special mention. She last appeared in Pheasant Run's "Time Out For Ginger" and gave a memorable performance with Gary Merrill. She is no less competent in the much more difficult role of Millie in "Picnic."

RON ELY

"Picnic will be presented at St. Charles through June 16.

BOB Production

'The King and I' for Entire Family

Looking for some good clean entertainment for your children this summer? The Best Off Broadway Players is pleased to be able to fill the bill during the month of June. The forth-coming production of "The King and I" is sure to please any seriously minded family in it's pursuit of culture.

Many hours of planning and rehearsal have gone into this play in order that families may experience "live theatre" together.

THE PLOT of this Rodgers and Hammerstein musical centers around a battle between the barbaric oriental traditions and the modern Western ways. This arises when the King of Siam hires an English governess to tutor his 67 children. Anna Leonowans, portrayed by Lynn Jessan of Arlington Heights, finds herself in constant conflict with a man she can not help but love and admire.

On the other hand, The King - as played by Hank Vandenboom of Wheeling - struggles constantly with is "puzzlement" as to whether be should advance into the new ways of the world while still remaining a strong leader to his people.

Paralleling this central theme is an ill-fated love affair between Lun Tha, played by Carl Gustafson of Crystal Lake, and his younger lover Tuptim - portrayed by Lornell Wagrzyn of Arlington Heights. This comical yet heart - rending action is melodiously tied together by such familiar songs as "Something Wonderful" and "Hello Young Lovers."

THE CAST is comprised of about 25 children and young people as the King's children or as royal dancers. Carl Wagner of Arlington Heights will be in the role of Louis – the young son of Anna, the English governess.

Louis is quick to become friends with Crown Prince Chululongkorn who will be played alternately by Chris Monti of Arlington Heights and Jim Palmer of Rolling Meadows.

Needless to say, there is not enough room to list all 25 of the youthful cast members, but it might be of special interest that a sister team may be seen in "The Ballet of Uncle Thomas." Lorria Pedersen of Arlington Heights will dance the part of Topsy and her sister Bonnie will be Little Eva.

ALL OF THESE youthful cast members have had to fore-go other activities in order to present to the northwest suburbs a well-rounded and complete production of this outstanding play. These children still face many long hours of rehearsal and performance time.

BOB has added a special matinee on Sunday June 23 at 2:30. All children under 12 years of age will be admitted for half-price.

Of additional interest to the adult audience will be the evening performances on June 14-15 and June 22 and 29 – all at Elk Grove Village High School.

"Getting to Know You" is the central theme as a Prince (John Miller) and Princess (Lisa Dopkins) exchange greetings with Louis (Carl Wagner) and Mrs. Anna (Lynn Jensen), Lady Thiang (Ann Daro) looks admiringly on.

Gun Laws ...

By Catherine O'Donnell

In the wake of the past week's tragedy more and more people are saying that guns should be controlled. In their fear of the present day trend to violence more and more people are buying guns and paradoxically becoming potentially violent themselves.

The ideal situation is not easy to find. The new Illinois state law aimed at controlling the sale and possession of a gun requires the person owning a gun to register. The person can own one to any amount of guns and be legal if he is registered.

The City of Chicago has a separate gun law that requires each gun owner to register each gun. In New York State, the Sullivan Law requires registration of each gun and charges such a high fee that the law becomes prohibitive to gun collectors or hunters.

LIEUTENANT Maurice English points out that while Arlington Heights does not have a local gun registration law, they do have a courtesy service. A gun owner can if he wishes register his gun with the Village Police Department.

"Then," Lieutenant English said, "if the gun is lost or stolen we will have the serial number recorded. Sometimes an owner cannot remember where he has filed his gun serial number."

"The new state law not only requires a gun owner to register," Lieutenant English said, "but it requires a 72-hour period of time between purchase and delivery. It also bans all mail orders.

"All owners of guns should be registered by July first. It is a step toward control but there is no possible way for it to control people who want to murder. There are illegal guns as well as other weapons.

"It will be interesting to see if this will help control the problem. Anyone who is buying a gun for the first time or who wants to buy ammunition will have to have a card registering him as an owner before he can make the purchase."

SO FAR THERE is no record of the number of persons from Arlington Heights who have registered their guns. The forms are sent to the Director of Public Safety in Springfield. They can be obtained from the police department or from the currency exchange. Lieutenant English points out that it will be difficult to enforce the state law because they can do nothing until the person with an illegal gun is found.

Usually this is as elusive a task as the proverbial needle in a haystack. "We'll just have to wait and see if the new law solves the problem," Lt. English said.

CANCELLATION

William Alpers, who is chairman of the St. James Players, wants all ticket holders for this weekend's performance of "Twelve Angry Jurors" to know that the play has been cancelled. The action was taken at the Wednesday night rehearsal out of respect to Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

The tickets will be honored at next weekend's performances on Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15. It will be held in the auditorium of Prospect High School. If any ticket holders would prefer a refund they can call Chairman Alpers at 392-8693. Director of the play is Jim Hall.

ANNOUNCEMENT

On the bulletin board for teachers at a nearby school there is the following announcement. "Due to a shortage of trained trumpeters the end of the world will be postponed for 90 days. (signed) God. So turn in your missing film strips." Who said God can't be mentioned in the public schools?

TABLE TURNER

A local group of teen boys who gather like flies in a bowl of honey to play baseball in one of the neighborhood parks, turned the tables on the establishment the other day and called the police on the Little Leaguers. It seems the boys were near the end of their game when the little ballplayers led by their managers appeared.

One of the latter told the big kids to get lost and enforced his demand by tossing their home plate to one side. The angry boy from the big team raced for his telephone and asked the police if that was proper. The policeman gave the neighborhood ballplayers some sound advice which they are treasuring until the next confrontation.

Jerry Bishop Appearance Postponed

Jerry G. Bishop, WCFL radio personality, was supposed to have been at the Jewel-Osco stores at Arlington Heights and Golf Rds. and at 122 N. Vail, Arlington Heights yesterday morning, but due to the death of Sen. Robert Kennedy, postponed the visit.

Bishop had planned to give away four bottles of Coca-Cola to customers who knew a secret work broadcast on Bishop's show that morning, but regular programming was interrupted by Sen. Kennedy's death.

Several shoppers awaiting Bishop's arrival at the Golf Rd. store were disappointed, but Bishop's secretary said that the visit from the entertainer would be rescheduled, probably for June 17.

FOR SATURDAY

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21) -- Refuse to go ahead with a project until you are in possession of the materials you need. Otherwise, you will soon bog down.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23) -- Accept aid from those whose judgment experience has shown you are able to trust. Otherwise, go it alone.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23) -- Those forces which seem about to overwhelm you can be fought against easily if you employ intelligence rather than emotion.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23) -- Bear in mind achievements of the past; they will help you to determine the value of your present goal.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22) -- You can increase your popularity with the younger generation simply by taking an interest in their activities.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22) -- The virtuous Sagittarius is the successful Sagittarius today. Remember, however, that not all success is material.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) -- Make no effort to get your point across by implication or inuendo. Speak your piece outright, as plainly as possible.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19) -- You can change both your private and public image with a few quick strokes of the imagination. A "new you" is in order.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar. 21) -- Keep to the main issue in discussing your future with others. Even related topics should be avoided for the time being.

ARIES (Mar. 22 - Apr. 20) -- Consider the present problem thoroughly. You will not find a solution unless you employ all your thought processes.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21) -- You can increase your powers of persuasion if you gain another's interest at the outset. Don't depend on jokes to do the work for you.

Paint in the Shade, But Not into a Corner; Jack Up Floors Now to Save Jack Later

So you've painted before and managed to get through the job. And you have your paint, brushes, ladders and some old clothes. What's so hard -- anyone can do it?

Sure -- anyone can. But for some it's easier than for others. Use a few tricks of the trade and the job will be easier and turn out better.

PAINT in the shade. The sun moves around your house and so should you -- in the other direction. Especially in late spring and during the summer, you will find this will avoid a great deal of discomfort.

Aside from the comfort factor, you will end up with a better painted surface. The sun is a villain in paint failures, often causing it to blister before it is thoroughly dry.

Paint on a dry surface. Sure, modern latex paints will go on safely over a surface that is not thoroughly dry, but that's no reason to tempt your luck and rush right out and paint after a heavy rain. And if you are using oil-based paints, play safe and wait a few days.

Get enough paint so that you go right through the job without stopping to run to the store. Paint labels will help you estimate your needs but a good rule of thumb is 400 square feet to the gallon for the average older house.

Avoid paint bargains. It's a poor way to save money. It takes just as much effort to put on cheap paint (sometimes more) than it does good paint and you will have to do it more often.

THERE ARE obvious exceptions. Good brands that you have tried before will sometimes be offered on sale. Sometimes certain colors in a good line of paint will be discontinued. (But make certain you can get enough to finish the job). Buy paints from a reputable dealer, especially if they are on sale.

There is a difference between turpentine and mineral spirits. You are better off thinning with the latter. Turpentine is a pretty caustic substance. Use it to thin only during colder days in the autumn when paint may not dry as fast.

If you are painting your house white, do not use plain white paint. Put a little lamp black in it; about a teaspoon per gallon. The resulting slightly off-white color will be more pleasing to the eye and will not show the dirt quite so much.

Check your surfaces before you paint. Don't paint over a surface that is dirty or chalking. Clean it first. A wire brush is the handiest thing to carry around for the purpose.

CAULK before you paint, not after. Caulk around doors and windows, in corners, between siding. Caulking will preserve the paint job by keeping out moisture. Caulking first will speed up the job since you can paint right over the caulking rather than touching up later.

Use drop cloths. You will save yourself a lot of time cleaning up sidewalks and drives later on. Use them to protect shrubbery around the house.

Keep a rag handy. Drops of paint where they are not wanted can be wiped up easily if done immediately.

Keep a putty knife in your pocket, too. Use it to scrape away blistered or peeling paint. When painting windows, wrap the rag around the putty knife to wipe paint smears. You can get right up to the putty line this way.

SEE ANY exposed nail heads? Give them a dab of aluminum paint before applying the finish coat. This will keep them from rusting through.

After you have painted an area, pause before you come down off the ladder. Look carefully for spots you may have skipped. It's easier to touch them up now than to climb all the way back up.

Sagging floors seems to be a problem common to most old houses. Floors sag when the girders beneath them are weakened and sagging. This may come about because the supporting posts were not placed properly or because either posts or girders (or both) have begun to rot.

You'll know when trouble is developing. Cracked plaster that keeps craking; doors that won't open and close properly and which would have to be planed out of square to make them work; floors that slope so that round objects roll across a table--there are all kinds of signs.

If you suspect trouble, give girders in the basement a close inspection. Use a straight edge or a level to determine where sagging has occurred. A point at which girders have been spliced together, a corner where girders meet--these points are suspect.

A very simple, inexpensive and fairly foolproff device has been created to solve the problem. This is an adjustable post, called a jack post. It consists of two steel tubes, one inside the other. The height can be set easily. The inside tube has a series of holes. A steel pin slips through this and rests on the outer tube, thus setting the desired height.

THIS adjustment can be made only every few inches. For closer adjustment and for slowly raising the floor there is a metal plate at the top of the post. This rests on a heavy-duty adjusting screw.

There also is a base plate for the whole affair to rest on. This can be set right on the ordinary basement floor in good condition. For thin floors (less than four inches of concrete) or for floors that are cracking you may need more support. This calls for breaking a hole in the floor and making a new base of about a foot or so of concrete. Allow this to dry thoroughly before trying out the post.

The post is set under the girder and raised to the nearest proper height. Then the screw is adjusted until the top plate is firm against the girder. From here on the post works like an auto jack, only much more slowly.

REPAIR floors that sag.

With Housing, Scrape Off Frosting, Price the Cake

BY CARLTON SMITH AND RICHARD PUTNAM

It's almost impossible for the average pair of househunters to look at a sheaf of blueprints and try to visualize what the place will look like when it's built. Builders came to appreciate this some years ago, and that's how the model house was born.

But even a model house had its drawbacks. It looked barren without a stick of furniture in it and it had a tendency to echo like a haunted castle. So, the next step was to fill the model home with model furniture.

AND THAT'S about as far as most builders have gotten -- except in California. There, the model home with the model furniture is only the barest beginning. Builders faced with merchandising hundreds of houses in massive developments have now taken to using the wildest of interior decorating coupled with the most lush landscaping in an attempt to overwhelm potential buyers.

And it works, like a $40 watch. As a result, the California concept is bound to have a lot of imitators. This means you potential househunters in the rest of the country will soon have to cope with a similar brand of visual fireworks.

Now as the husband-hunting girl will testify, there's nothing wrong with a little paint and pretense in any sales campaign. The approach being used on the West Coast is so overwhelming, however, that it is bound to obscure some of the more practical facts about the property.

"Models are decorated in blazing colors and furnished with a wild variety of furniture and accessories; they show a degree of decorating sophistication far beyond the experiences of most of the housing industry ... It's not unusual for a $25,000 model to have $10,000 worth of decorating inside and $10,000 worth of landscaping outside ... The decorating doesn't have to be entirely believable -- the idea is to excite people so they remember the house."

Faced with such an overpowering display, how many househunters are going to remember -- or even dare -- to ask whether the plumbing is brass or plastic, whether the roof is covered with 20-year shingles or tarpaper, and how much the road and sewer assessment will cost?

NOT TOO many, probably, and that's the rub. Because it's just such crude facts that make or break a house when you finally move in. Bad plumbing, costly improvements and a leaky roof will still be there when that psychedelic model is nothing but a dim memory..

The best way to break the spell of this kind of salesmanship is to set up a counteroffensive. As you contemplate a sample living room that's loaded with crisp furniture and a crescendo of color, close your eyes for just a moment. Then visualize how the same room will look when it's full of your nine-year-old couch and chairs resting on the carpet that still displays the coffee stain the cleaner couldn't remove.

Then step right up and ask about the piping and the sewer assessment. You'll find it's a lot easier.

Hoffman Estates and Others

Builder Ranked Largest in State

Hoffman Rosner Corp. of Hoffman Estates is the largest Illinois-based home builder, according to a survey by Automation in Housing, a building trade magazine.

During 1967, the company had a sales volume of $15.5 million, more than any other local building firm.

"WHILE A few other national builders who do business in the Chicago area had larger volumes than we did, their figures include sales made in other states; ours are all in Illinois," explained Jack Hoffman, chairman of the board.

The company ranks 29th on the national list of 50 industry leaders determined by the editors of Automation in Housing.

Hoffman sees continued good results ahead for 1968.

"Our sales and construction for the first four months are well ahead of last year, and indicate that 1968 will be another record year," he said.

He also revealed that the firm has plans for apartment complexes and two new residential areas to be announced in the near future.

Last year was one of the most active for Hoffman Rosner since it began operations in Chicago in 1955.

The company opened two new developments, continued work on two others, and completed a fifth. In the last 13 years, the company has built 6,500 homes worth $135 million in the Chicago area.

First of the new developments is Churchill, a community of 145 homes in the village of Schaumburg 29 miles northwest of Chicago. Homes are priced from $31,500 to $37,500.

THE SECOND new developments if Foxcroft in the Glen Ellyn residential area, to consist of 258 homes. Current prices range from $28,500 to $35,950.

Nearing completion is the Lincoln Hill community, also in the Glen Ellyn area, with 117 homes. Prices range from $39,900 to $44,500.

The company's largest development is the village of Hoffman Estates itself, begun in 1955.

Now an incorporated village of 18,500 people, the community has 4,500 homes, 130 duplex homes, and 76 rental apartments.

Chicago Company Takes Over Colorado's High Country Inn

The High Country Inn, located at Winter Park, Colo., has reached an agreement with the Branigar Organization, Chicago-based operator of resorts, hotels, motels, country clubs, and golf courses, to manage the resort on a long-term basis.

In its expansion from ski resort to year-round resort, High Country Inn has completed construction of a heated swimming pool.

Located on Colorado Route 40, about 75 minutes from Denver, High Country Inn has 60 rooms, all with private baths.

Vacuum's Useful Outdoors As Well

For maximum efficiency, take your vacuum outdoors. And be sure to have on hand your whole bag of tricks, the various attachments which so seldom get a fair share of the cleaning chores.

The upholstery brush is just the attachment to dust upholstered patio furniture and get rid of that tell-tale gray look. It's understood that you're sure to use your vacuum on these pieces of outdoor furniture when you first bring them out in the spring and again when you put them away for the winter.

Canvas awnings take a tough beating from winter weather in the northwest suburban area, and most folks simply store them away, first removing dirt and dust with that old reliable, the upholstery brush.

Your Home? Sun's Shining

Apart from variations in the entries depicting interior layout of rooms, or how the community looked from the child's home, one recurrent theme showed up in most of the art:

The sun was shining.

Bankers: Fewer Deadbeats

Encouraged by the increasing value of their home investments and aided by high levels of employment and income, fewer borrowers were delinquent on their home mortgages at the end of March.

Whether viewed by type of loan, length of the period overdue or geographical region, the percentage of home loans that were delinquent on March 31 showed declines from levels of a year ago and at the close of 1967.

THESE are the principal findings of the quarterly survey of delinquent home loans conducted by the Mortgage Bankers Association of America (MBA) on March 31, 1968.

At 2.84 per cent, the March, 1968, rate was the lowest over-all March rate — loans past due 30 days or more — since 1962 and was in striking contrast to the series high of 3.47 per cent posted at the close of 1967.

The serious delinquencies — loans past due 60 days or more but not yet in process of foreclosure — reached 0.73 per cent, down sharply from the 0.87 per cent of March 31, 1967 and down more than seasonally from the 0.81 per cent of December 31, 1967.

ON MARCH 31, the rate was 0.32 per cent which marks the third consecutive quarter that this low rate has prevailed. This is a significant reduction from the 0.36 per cent to 0.41 per cent range that prevailed from March 1964 through March 1967.

MBA's National Delinquency Survey analyzed over 3.9 million mortgage loans on one-to-four-family residential properties that were held or serviced by more than 400 member respondents, including mortgage bankers, commercial banks, and savings banks.

Scrub Before And After You Paint

Scrub down before you paint. Not yourself — that you can do when the whole messy job is behind you.

Scrub down the area you're about to attack with paint roller or brush. Use a household detergent and get rid of grease or soap that's caked into the woodwork and walls.

Use a patching compound to fill cracks and holes. When the filled spots have dried, sand them smooth. Give glossy surfaces a light sanding.

Lay on the enamel with a generously filled brush, especially if you're doing the bathroom.

Use long, smooth strokes, cross-stroke, and then go over the area once more with an almost dry brush and more long, smooth strokes to attain a smooth, uniform finish.

Now you can scrub down again — this time yourself, maestro.

Trend Shows Schaumburg May Nose Out Arlington Heights for Home Building Lead

BY RICHARD CRABB

Arlington Heights, Schaumburg and Mount Prospect lead new home construction in the northwest suburbs during the first months of 1968.

However, in May new home building in Arlington Heights showed signs of leveling off, while Schaumburg moved into a position from which the village could take over area leadership in new homes by the end of the year.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS has led all towns in Illinois in new home building for five years, out-building cities such as Rockford, Peoria, Springfield and East St. Louis.

New home building in other northwest suburban towns including Palatine and Elk Grove Village, is down from a year ago. New home permits in the first quarter in Palatine totaled 66, compared with 83 for the same period last year.

In Arlington Heights, there were only half as many new home permits issued in May 1968 as in May last year.

May of 1967 was the all-time record month for new home permits in Arlington Heights, the total for the month being 123.

There were 64 new home permits issued in Arlington Heights last month. For the first five months of 1968, the village issued 320 new home permits, compared with 340 in 1967.

FOUR YEARS OF HOME BUILDING IN NORTHWEST SUBURBS

Two apartment buildings at the intersection of Wilke and Central were begun. They will provide 78 apartments and will be erected at a cost of $840,000 in addition to the land price.

The addition to the St. James school on N. Arlington Heights Rd. also was begun during May. It will cost $600,000.

The building permit for the new Arlington Countryside Chapel, the village's newest church, was issued during May. The building will cost $150,000.

A structure for Air Moving and Conditioning Co. was begun in the north side industrial park of Arlington Heights during May. It will be an office and research building, and will cost $185,000.

ADVICE ON TREE CARE

Tree owners throughout Illinois are beginning to see the effects of winter and spring frost injury, said Dr. E. B. Himelick, plant pathologist with the Illinois Natural History Survey.

Himelick explained that winter injury is divided into two types: winter drying, which affects narrow and broadleaf evergreens, and low temperature injury, which affects all kinds of trees.

"THE MORE common winter injury," he said "that has recently become apparent is low temperature injury that occurred both last fall and in January.

"Some trees and shrubs were not sufficiently hardened to withstand freezing temperatures last fall and the buds and twigs were killed by a sudden drop in temperature.

"During the winter the less hardy plants were affected by a sub-zero temperatures and some plants that are considered to be hardy for most parts of Illinois."

Azaleas, forsythia, ginkgo, Japanese holly, juniper, Japanese maple, some pine species, privet, rose, sourwood, magnolia, spruce and yews are among the plants that show the most damage.

The extent of kill caused by low temperature injury, which appears as "dieback," cannot be determined until affected plants have leafed out. All dead branch material should be pruned.

Himelick warned tree owners that winter injury often kills plants. However, sometime only the flower buds are killed, causing flowering on certain plants to be quite sparce.

He recommended fertilizing and watering wakened plants immediately and mulching where possible this summer and fall. However, severely damaged plants may not recover.

MORE RECENTLY, plants have been affected by spring frost injury that occurred in early May throughout the state and has killed new growth on many plants.

In most cases this damage is slight and such plants will not be seriously affected, Himelick said.

Do you enjoy the landscaping beauty of your home, but don't have the time to maintain it properly? We understand.

WHAT IS A REAL ESTATE BROKER?

"APPRAISED VALUATION — the present worth of all the rights to future benefits." — American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers.

A Real Estate broker is an independent businessman. He sells real estate and may employ salesmen to work for him.

Brokers advertise properties, check listings, and contact prospective clients. They keep records and arrange appointments to show real estate.

Both brokers and real estate agents must be skillful at bargaining. They are anxious to make the best possible deal for their clients. They often arrange loans and title searches. Frequently, they go with the new owner to take possession of the property.

In most states, a license is required for Real Estate agents. This usually involves written examinations.

Licenses are required in every state for brokers. Varying amounts of experience as salesmen are usually required, also.

Robert L. Nelson, Realtors is exclusive renting agents for the stunning new "Oakton House," the area's most modern, convenient office and professional building, due for completion in early September of this year.

For additional information call Mr. Jack Whisler in the Robert L. Nelson Palatine office ... 358-5900.
WATCH NEXT WEEK FOR "WHAT IS YOUR BEST SOCIAL SECURITY NUMBER?"

Handywoman's Rig: Cake Mix, Nylons

Ask any local hardware merchant in the northwest suburban area and he'll tell you that the word "handyman" should be changed to "handywoman."

Not only in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Palatine and adjoining communities, but across the nation, it's the woman of the house who are turning their talents and their attention to the task of trimming the high cost of home repairs by tackling the jobs themselves.

SOME JOBS are of course "just too much" and the wielders of the distaff are the first to admit that in certain areas, they prefer to pick up the phone and whistle in a professional.

Plumbing, electrical wiring, and the heavier carpentry operations fall in this category. And there is a big segment of the mini-skirted population who confine their manual work to the kitchen and caring for the children.

But facing the fact that the cost of repair service in the home has soared beyond sight, women handymen have moved to the fore in the battle on the bulging budget, often with startling results.

ONE RECENT survey reported that it quizzed 1,000 homemakers.

About 900 of these plumped for the idea that young women still at school should be taught a do-it-yourself course.

The question always comes up why the man of the house excuses himself from repair jobs.

Two-thirds of the women reported that the reason given was "lack of time" which probably has been held as a valid "out" since the first cave-woman referred friend mate to the leak in their rock shelter.

An interesting list could be compiled of the short-cuts and substitutions invented by harried handywomen.

Included would have to be sawing off a broom handle to take the place of a broken closet clothes bar; a twisted skein of discarded nylon stockings applied to hold erect a sapling that was imitating the Leaning Tower of Pisa; pancake mix of the right consistency used in place of plaster coumpound to fill gouges in hardboard panels; and, of course, the lesser makeshifts, such as a twined cluster of the old reliable bobby-pins to act as keyholder.

Plaster Work Has 3 Rules

Follow the rule of three when patching plaster. There are three important things to remember and to do.

First, wet down the opening to be filled.

Second step is to wet it down after it has set.

The third is to prime the spot with a sealer, primer or a dab of paint before you either repaint the entire wall or try to patch with the surrounding surface.

If you neglect to do either of the first two steps, the patch will dry out too quickly.

And if you omit the third step, the repaired spot will lend a surrealist effect to your wall, without benefit of a Picasso label.

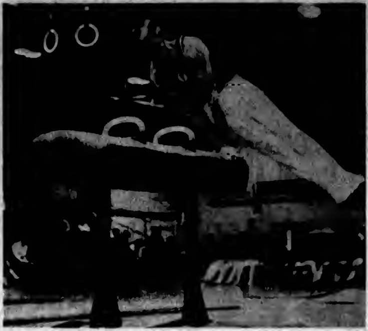
Illini Sign Barr, 18 Others



Prospect's Ken Barr, 1968 Illinois high school side horse champion, is one of the reasons University of Illinois gymnastics coach Charles Pond is saying that "without question we will have the finest freshman team in the nation next season." Barr and Knight teammate Bruce Benard are two of 19 gymnasts who have said they'll enroll at Illinois next fall, according to the Illini athletic publicity office. Barr is scheduled to compete on his specialty while Benard is listed as a free exercise, long horse, and trampoline competitor. Among the other future Illinois frosh are Maine East all-around man Gene Kalin, Evanston trampolinist Mark Yedor, and Jeff Levin, Niles East parallel bar performer. The list also includes two Pennsylvania state champions, Dennis Rofalawski of West Mifflin, state parallel bar titlist, and John Roemer of McDowell of Erie, who won the free exercise crown.

Two Homers, Lead First National By Optimists

Dave Raymond rapped two home runs, including one with the bases loaded, to lead the First National Bank of Des Plaines to e 15-5 victory over Optimist's Club in a Junior division clash of the Waycinden Boys' Besehell League Thursday.

Alex Howanski also carried e hot bat for the winners, collecting three safeties and driving in three runs.

In another Junior division clesh Sportsmen's Berber Shop blanked Clark's Mobil 5-0 behind a fine mound effort by Pete Semple, Ray Meinsen and Don Stevens. Stevens also contributed to the win with his bat, as he went three-for-three at the plate, including a two-run home run.

DesPlaines Legion Catches Logan Square, Earns 3-3 Baseball Tie

BY RICK PRICE

The Logen Squere American Legion Lions were forced to settle for e 3-3 tie with Des Plaines Thursday after jumping off to e 3-0 lead in the first inning.

After their initial outburst, the Lions never threatened again, as they watched Des Plaines whittle eway their early lead. The game was halted after six innings because of darkness.

ONE BRIGHT spot for Logan Square in last night's clesh wes the pitching performance turned in by Al Feldman. The Arlington High School athlete, who worked the last two frames on the mound, faced only six batters without yielding a hit.

Boh Betehelor end Jim Hynes got things started for Lions in the first inning by drawing consecutive walks from e shaky Gary Kelly, Des Pleines starter. They each stole e base and both scored on e hard single to right field off the bat of Dow Woodard. The lanky rightfielder then stole second and scored all the way from there moments later when Pat Donahue laid down e perfect bunt in front of the plate.

Kelly was then replaced by Frank May, who worked his way out of the inning without suffering further demege. May was never in serious trouble for the remainder of the contest, allowing only three hits while fanning six Lions.

DES PLAINES crew came back with two runs of its own in the second frame when Lion shortstop Jimmy Hymes couldn't quite come up with Kent Korntopp's herd grounder after Des Plaines had gotten to Logan Square hurler Steve Snyder for two singles and a walk to load the bases. Koentopp's hit drove in two runs.

Des Plaines came up with the typing tally in the third inning as the result of some sloppy play in the Lion infield.

TOM BARTLETT opened the frame by drawing e walk from Snyder. Elk Grove ace Bob Artemenko then rapped e sharp grounder the left of second base. Hymes' toss for an attempted force at second was too late, end Artemenko managed to beat the relay to first. Bartlett then scored on an infield grounder.

Logan Square did manage to move e man into scoring position in the final frame, but an attempted bunt failed and the Lions were forced to accept e tie.

The Lion Legionaires will go after their first win of the season again tonight against Dundee at 6 p.m. at the St. Viator High School diamond.

South Red Int.

Brian Cohen tossed a no-hitter against the previously-unbeaten Chargers as his Tartans registered a 3-1 win over the South Red Intermediate League-leaders. The only Charger run was unearned, coming as a result of two fielding miscues.

The Chargers managed to register two wins in other action, downing the Royals 9-4 after edging the Rangers by a 6-5 margin. Trent Taylor rapped a triple and was credited with the win in the victory over the Royals.

In other action last week the Rangers clipped the Tartans 3-1, the Rangers dumped the Seals 5-1 and the Tartans romped over the Buffalos 13-1.

South White Int.

Brad Wille tossed a two-hitter as the Solons routed the Barons 11-2 to retain a slim one-half game lead in the South White Intermediate standings. Dar Townsend was the big gun at the plate for the Solons, collecting a triple and a home run.

The Ramblers climbed into second place by downing the Barons 8-4 and edging the Bearcats by a 4-3 margin. Dick Blocki collected the win over the Bearcats, yielding only one hit in the six frames he toiled.

The Terriers fell twice in last week's action, bowing to the Bearcats 12-5 after falling by a 5-4 score to the Huskies.

North Green Jr.

Paul Olson tossed a no-hitter as the Sioux routed the Steers 18-0 to retain sole possession of the North Green Junior top spot. Earlier in the week the Sioux dealt a 6-4 loss to the Bombers to mainatin their unblemished 3-0 season slate.

The only other North Green Junior action last week saw the Gophers edge the Steers by a 4-3 margin behind the three-hit pitching of Scott Curtis.

North White Jr.

The Bees blasted the Wolves 23-2 after downing the Redskins 17-7 earlier in the week to retain a one-game lead over the Owls in the North White Junior standings. Tom Brennan was credited with the win over the Wolves. At one point Brennan fanned seven batters in a row, besides collecting a double and a triple at the plate.

Glen Eisenhuth whiffed fifteen men in leading the Owls to a 12-3 victory over the Aztecs. Danny Frase and Billy Garcia rapped doubles to lead the Owls seven-hit attack.

In other action last week the Aztecs rolled past the Wolves 17-0 behind the one-hit pitching of Dan Frase. Frase went the distance on the mound, collecting 13 strikeouts in six innings.

The Cyclones split a pair last week, pinning a 9-4 loss on the Redskins after bowing to the Wolves by a 12-8 margin.

North Green Int.

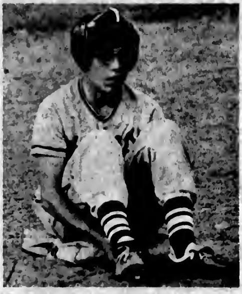
The Flyers came up with a run in the final inning to salvage a 4-4 tie with the Saints in North Green Intermediate play. The tie toppled the Flyers from first place as the Triplets remained undefeated by downing the Hawkeyes 7-3.

The only other league contest saw the Twins edge the Saints 6-5.

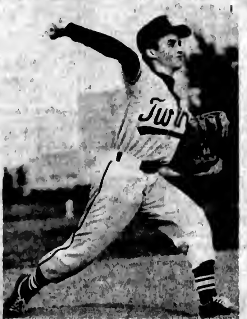
The Game of the Day

Rolling Meadows Indians Wallop Twins

Jeff Walter fires to a Twin hitter during the inning he worked Thursday as the Indians clubbed their way to an 11-9 win in the Pony Division of the Rolling Meadows Boys Baseball League. Walter struck out two and allowed one run in his stint, with Randy Raven and Terry Gallagher finishing up in relief to preserve the victory.



This unidentified Twins player took advantage of a lull in the action to get some rest Thursday. Both the Twins and the Indians needed a rest after doing a lot of base-running in an 11-9 Indian win.



Twin right-hander Mike Valentino struck out four Indians in a two-inning stint Thursday, but also gave up two runs on five hits and a walk. Valentino was one of three Twin pitchers who tried with little success to stifle the Indian bats.

Baserunner Randy Raven of the Indians and third baseman Dan Pirron of the Twins take off in opposite directions as a pitch is thrown, Raven heading up the line toward home and Pirron moving into position at third. The unidentified third base coach maintains a stoic, middle-of-the-road posture.

Indian catcher Bill Ventura looks for what he momentarily thought was a wild pitch but what turned out to be a foul ball off the bat of a Twin hitter Thursday.

BY CURT WILSON

Darkness descended on the fifth inning of the Indians-Tigers clash last night in the Pony League division of the Rolling Meadows Little League, but the score showed a 12-9 victory for the Indians.

Indian starter Jeff Walter, along with relief ptichers Randy Raven and Tarry Gallagher, held the Twins to five hits, although they gave up eleven walks among them in the four long innings. Gallagher pulled the game out of the fire in the fourth inning as he made up for some control troubles on the part of his teammates.

THE INDIANS BEGAN their barrage in the first inning as their first six batters came home safely. Raven and Walter singling and Dan McCool blasting a triple to spark the rally.

Walter struck out two Twin batters in the bottom of the first inning and the other out was made when Mike Bode was tagged at first. The only scoring action for the Twins in the first came when Mike Valentino drew a walk from Walter and stole his way to third. A pitch then hit Dan Stieber with the bases loaded, advancing him to first and sending Valentino home.

Indian lead-off man Tom Kurtz grounded to the third baseman in the top of the second inning, and was thrown out at first. Mike McCafferty, second-baseman, hit a single, and advanced to third when Raven banged a double. Rob Caltagirone came up next and went down swinging.

Walter and Dan McCool drew walks, but the side was retired when Terry Klemp was thrown out on a bunt that dribbled down the first-base line.

Raven gave up another walk, this time to Mike Meyer, and an error on a play at first base left Greg Zenaty safe and the bases loaded. Dan Pirron came up with a single, advancing the first of five runs of the inning.

An error on the part of Indian catcher Bill Venture allowed Boke to travel to first, putting across another run. Raven walked the following four batters before fanning Retzer to retire the side.

The third inning opened with Gallagher tagging a single, and moving on to second on a sacrifice bunt by catcher Ventura. Kurtz and Steve Tyke each watched three strikes go by to end their half of the inning.

MIKE MEYER popped up to pitcher Gallagher, who threw him out at first. Zenaty followed with a fly to shallow center, which was nabbed by Walter, and though Pirron hit a single, Bode wentdown swinging to conclude the inning.

The final inning began with a single on the part of Raven, followed by the only home run of the game, whacked by Caltagirone. Walter was hit with a pitch and went to first, and then traveled to third when McCool blasted a double.

Phillies Choose Luzinski No. 1

Luzinski, 17, never hit less than .500 in four years catching and playing first base for Notre Dame of Niles.

Hitters Rule Day in Five Rolling Meadows Games

The Stars of the Instructional league rolled to a 16-6 win over the Astros in Rolling Meadows Little League action Thursday night. Jim Runbeaugh sparked the powerful Star offense with a three-run home run.

In a Minor National contest the Phillies edged the Dodgers 8-7. Chuck Wiebe was credited with the win while Matt Klent was tagged with the defeat. John Kalanowski And Mike Donahue both rapped three hits for the Dodgers.

Gary Haynes connected for a four-bagger that drove in the decisive runs as the Twins upended the Yankees 8-5 in a Minor American clash.

Todd Kaczor cracked a grand slam home run as the Major National division Braves rolled past the Cubs by a 13-8 score. Don Smalley took care of the mound duties for the winning Braves.

Bill Duffy and Mike Jensen led a powerful Tiger offense to a 15-7 win over the Sox in a Major American division game last night. Duffy rapped a two-run homerun and Jensen collected a double and a triple.

Orioles Flatten Giants, 15-8

The Orioles flattened the Giants Thursday in a 15-8 skirmish in the Minor division of the Prospect Heights Little League.

Ron Jump was the winning pitcher, and John Plough hit a double with a man on to bring home a run. The game was called in the sixth on account of darkness.

In other Minor division games, the Giants subdued the Phillies, 4-2, all of the scoring action coming in the sixth inning. Tom Harkins was the victorious pitcher, and Kim Grosse slammed a double for the Giants.

THE Continental GETAWAY CAR

...the official O'Hare ground transportation car.

Keep your eyes open for a streamlined, air conditioned, green limousine. Driven by skilled and experienced chauffeurs, it was last seen heading back and forth from O'Hare to the northwest suburbs.

Enjoy special services and more convenience at O'Hare. Continental stops in front of each airline terminal. And, our cheerful hostesses and efficient agents are available to provide personal assistance and information. Children under 12, when accompanied by an adult, are accommodated free.
